Open Talks To Decide Oil Policy

May Block Move

British Government Is Understood Opposed to Plan

Washington, April 9 (AP)—The United States and Britain open today a series of talks designed to produce a common Anglo-American policy for meeting the Iranian oil crisis.

Assistant Secretary of State George McGhee is expected to urge the British government, through Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks, to accept the nationalization of Iranian oil and concentrate on working out a plan for operating the industry under Iranian control.

Britain, however, is understood to oppose the nationalization move approved by the Iranian Majlis (Parliament) and reportedy is anxious to block it.

This apparent division of views will be the major issue in the talks at the State Department.

500,000 Barrels of Oil

The Iranian fields produce about 500,000 barrels of refined oil a day through the world's largest refinery at Abadan, and an additional 150,000 barrels of crude oil. The fields are controlled by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. This company is dominated by the British government and is a vital source of oil for Britain's Navy.

The Iranian wells together with those in nearby Arab countries also supply most of the oil for western Europe.

Because of the constant Russian pressure against Iran, western diplomats are concerned that nationalization of Irian oil might result in a diversion of the fuel from western industry and defense.

There also is the possibility that the Iranians may not be able to operate the industry and will have to call for foreign help.

Since the U. S. is vitally interested in keeping the oil flowing toward the west, and because American companies control some of the Arab fields, this country has followed a political policy of trying to keep Iran stabilized and thus minimize opportunities which might permit the Russians to move in.

Protest Is Rejected

Tehran, Iran, April 9 (AP)—The Iranian government rejected Britain's protest against nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company yesterday, but Premier Hussein Ala cautiously made no commitment to Parliament on the explosive question.

The new premier made public, after his first appearance before the lower house, a carefully worded note in which he said the British government has no right to intervene in dealings between Iran and a business concern.

The premier, a former United Nations delegate with pro-western leanings, told the British a special commission is studying means of carrying out the nationalization authorized in principle by Parliament and that his government "has no other duty except to wait for the result of the commission's study."

Ala echoed this view in his only statement to the Parliament (Majlis) on the oil issue, saying that he would refrain from any action until the Nationalization Commission reports.

Soviet Plan GivenAidby Atom Spies

Work Is Advanced 18 Months as Result of Help Given by Four, Says Committee

Arrests Are Due

Saypol Declares Office Will Take Others Into Custody

Washington, April 9 (AP)—Russia's atomic weapons program was shoved ahead at least 18 months by a trio of confessed spies—one an American — and an H-bomb scientist who reportedly fled to the Soviet Union.

That is the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee's evaluation of espionage damage by the four.

To one of them, convicted British atomic spy Klaus Fuchs, the committee assigned the kingpin role of deadliest betrayer in all history.

A committee report issued last night said, however, that this country's atomic espionage defenses apparently have not been pierced since mid-1946. British security has been breached since then as well as before, the committee added.

In New York, U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol said last night his office is starting a whole series of arrests for espionage. Appearing on a radio program, Saypol said "we have gotten now sufficient information so that we are embarking on a series of prosecutions to stamp out this vice."

It was learned, meanwhile, that F.B.I. chief J. Edgar Hoover has suggested to Congress that his agency not be called upon to investigate persons in the atomic field who have "no access to really restricted materials as such."

Calls It Big Problem

At a recent meeting behind closed doors with a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee, Hoover called the Atomic Energy Commission one of the F.B.I.'s "greatest problems." He said the F.B.I. is making 57,750 investigations for the commission this year, and added that the total undoubtedly will increase next year.

"They will ask us to investigate a Coca-Cola vendor, a concessionaire and laborers at various plants before the plants are completed and before any top-secret or restricted data has been moved into the plant," Hoover told the subcommittee.

Hoover said that once the plant is constructed, then key personnel should be investigated.

Deals With Case

In its espionage report, the Atomic Energy Committee dealt at length with the case of Fuchs, German-born British scientist who now is serving a 14-year jail term in England for confessed passing of atom secrets to Russia.

"It is hardly an exaggeration," the report declared, "to say that Fuchs has influenced the safety of more people and accomplished more damage than any other spy not only in the history of the United States but in the history of nations."

Behind Fuchs as the No. 1 atomic spy, the committte rated native Italian Bruno Pontecorvo, who last fall disappeared behind Russia's iron curtain. At the time he was on vacation in Europe from his key post at a top secret British atomic research station.

"His more recent studies," the committee said, "included work upon tritium, a substance intimately related to the hydrogen bomb."

The other two who helped advance Russia's atomic program 18 months or more were listed by the committee as Dr. Allan Nunn May, British scientist who was convicted in the Canadian spy expose of 1946, and American-born David Greenglass, sentenced in New York last Friday to 15 years in jail.

Got 15 Years

Greenglass confessed passing atomic data to the Reds while he was a World War 2 army sergeant assigned to the atomic bomb project at Los Alamos, N. M.

He got only 15 years because he helped convict his sister, Mrs. Ethel Rosenberg, and her husband, Julius. The Rosenbergs last week were sentenced to die. Saypol, who prosecuted the Rosenbergs, said the new case he mentioned involved persons connected with them.

However, the Joint Committee plainly regarded Greenglass' espionage as much more damaging than the spying of the Rosenbergs. It ranked Greenglass among the big four, but dealt with the Rosenbergs in a lesser category of couriers in this country who aided Russia.

All of the big four—Fuchs, Pontecorvo, May and Greenglass had access to atomic secrets at one time or another in the United States. All but Greenglass also had access in Great Britain or Canada.

Chinese Open Big Dam, Try Unsuccessfully to Trap Advancing Allies

Two Possible Reasons for Releasing Water Are Cited—No Real Strain

Tokyo, April 9 (AP) — Chinese Communists opened the floodgates of the massive Hwachon reservoir dam in Central Korea today and sent thousands of tons of water rushing down on Allied-held ground.

But the Pukhan river rose no more than four and one-half feet.

By Monday night the water level was receding and there was no danger to United Nations forces.

Nearly all Allied elements had moved above the expected high-water mark.

A U. S. Eighth Army engineer said:

"There will be no real strain. They can't do any worse without blowing the dam and that's a dam that will take a hell of a lot of blowing."

The Hwachon Reservoir, about seven miles north of the 38th Parallel, is the main point of the stoutest Red resistance in North Korea in several weeks. In bitter fighting south of the reservoir Monday the Reds slowed or stopped Allied advances at several points.

The dam is 1,000 feet high. The Reds opened 10 of its 18 floodgates. Six gates were reported inoperable.

Two Purposes Possible

The Reds may have had two purposes in loosing their man-made flood:

First, to cut the Chunchon-Hwachon highway, a main Allied supply artery.

Second, to pave the way for a Chunchton-Wonju highway.

Although fighting near the reservoir has been severe, AP Correspondent Leif Erickson at U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters said there was no indication the Reds had started a mass drive.

An estimated Communist regiment was sighted Sunday afternoon between the river and advancing Allied soldiers. Aerial photographs clearly showed the floodgates closed them.

The Chinese apparently opened the floodgates and pulled out sometime after dark.

U. N. Troops of four nations are deployed around Chunchon. Some forward elements might be temporarily cut off by the rising water. The high water may extend as far down the Pukham river as Seoul, some 55 air miles southwest.

Is Inverted 'T'

Tht reservoir is shaped like an inverted "T" with a base and stem each 15 miles long. The city of Hwachon is on its western tip.

Chorwon, an important Red base 17 miles north of 38 on the western front, was brought under American artillery fire Monday. Only light to moderate ground contact was reported from this sector.

There was little fighting on

Woman's Body Found Under Catskill Bridge

Catskill, N. Y., April 9 (AP)—State police sought today to identify a woman found dead on the bank of the Hudson river under the Rip Van Winkle bridge.

Police said the woman was about 50 years old and had been dead "several months."

Dr. Mahlon H. Atkinson, Greene county coroner, said there was no evidence of foul play.

The nude body was found yesterday by Francis Lyons, 56, of Catskill, while he was fishing near the bridge.

Ridgway Declares Reds Won't Call Off This Campaign

Eighth Army Commander Says This Becomes Life and Death Struggle

A Central Front Headquarters, Korea, April 9 (AP)—The Communists "won't call this thing off" because it is their firm determination "to destroy us completely," Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway warned yesterday.

Speaking earnestly to correspondents, the U. S. Eighth Army commander declared there was no end of the Korean war in sight, barring a political settlement—and he knew of no negotiations towards one.

"The danger with our people," he said, "is their impatience, their natural characteristic of impatience.

"We went into this thing with a 'let's get the damned thing over with' attitude.

"That's at the bottom of rotation in a way—a feeling 'six months is enough; after six months we can all go home.'

"It's not in the Communist timetable—you don't go home. They won't call this thing off."

The rotation he mentioned was the newly-announced Washington policy of sending home troops who have been long in combat.

"As far as the Communist leaders are concerned, this is an all-out life-and-death struggle," Ridgway cautioned.

Objectives Are Same

"They have not varied their objectives. They may vary their tactics, their timing, their strategy—yes—but their objectives, never!"

(As if in support of Ridgway's warning, the Peiping Red radio Sunday broadcast a violent statement from the official People's Daily, vowing that "the Chinese people will yet make the enemy

President MightAct on MacArthur

Would Oust Aide

Knowland Would Keep MacArthur, Release Acheson

Washington, April 9 (AP)—President Truman was caught today in a squeeze between home front supporters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, mostly Republicans, and U. S. Allies who want him to discipline the outspoken general for his latest policy statement.

Capitol Hill friends thought that after a week-end of studying the situation, Mr. Truman might act quickly to make known his views on recent MacArthur statements which have run counter to military and State Department policies.

It was certain that any move to shear MacArthur of any authority as Supreme Commander in Korea would touch off a storm in Congress.

Most lawmakers carefully avoided predicting the course of Mr. Truman's action, although some speculated privately that a presidential reprimand to the five-star general would be forthcoming.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif), a persistent critic of administration foreign policy in the Pacific, foresaw even more drastic action.

"It now appears that the hatchet men of the administration have been turned loose to undermine the position of General MacArthur and to force a reprimand or recall," he said.

Would Oust Acheson

Knowland said it would be wiser to keep MacArthur and get rid of Secretary of State Acheson. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) advocated the dispatch of a 12-man Congressional committee — six Democrats and six Republicans — to consult MacArthur and learn his views on the Korean War and Far Eastern policy generally.

MacArthur stirred the world's capitals when he said last week the critical fight against communism is in Asia. He called also for use of Shiang Kai-Shek's National troops on Formosa to open a second front against the Chinese Reds.

He added more fuel to the fire by ascribing to "basic political decisons beyond my control" the release of 120,000 South Korean Reservists for farm and other work.

There were reports that Great Britain may move directly for steps to curb the United Nations commander. Informed sources in London said strong British objections to the proposal to put Chinese Nationalist troops into the fight will be forcefully but informally presented in Washington.

Opposes Action

British opinion has been strongly against any action which might spread the Korean fighting. After MacArthur's latest statement was made public, Minister of State Kenneth Younger warned Red China against being "misled by irresponsible statements."

MacArthur's views on the Chinese second front issue have some vocal supporters in Congress. But there has been no indication of a change in the present policy of neutralizing Formosa and holding Chiang's army in reserve for a possible Red attempt to invade the island.

Given the general's spectacular personality and gift for words, such a controversy as might be stirred up by disciplinary action might go a long way toward splitting the country into two camps at a critical period.

Partly because of this, Mr. Truman might have difficulty in finding any large number of Congressional supporters for any drastic action against MacArthur — such as his removal from command.

Rayburn Repeats Warning Soviets Are Building Strength

Says Information Had on 'Best' Authority on Matter

Washington, April 9 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn said today "we are in terrible danger" because the Russians are building up concentrations "here and there and everywhere."

Rayburn, Texas Democrat, told White House reporters following a conference with President Truman, that Russians are building up troop concentrations "in lots of places."

He added: "Just where this is being done is a little beyond my field, but I have it on good authority, the best authority."

Last week, Rayburn came out of a White House conference and said not all the troops gathering in Manchuria were Chinese Communists.

Rayburn also said then that the United States was threatened by "a terrible danger" which might bring on another world war.

Last week's statements were made on the House floor as it began debate on the controversial draft-universal military training bill.

Rayburn's remarks created something of a stir at the time because the inference was widely drawn that he meant the Russians were concentrating troops in Manchuria with an apparent intention of intervening directly in the Korean fighting.

'Mighty Low Estimate'

At the White House today, a reporter told Rayburn that some people seemed to think he made last week's statement in an effort simply to pass the draft-UMT bill.

Rayburn replied: "That's a mighty low estimate to put on something I said. That statement was meant in the best interest of the United States."

He continued:

"I know we are in terrible danger because the Russians are con-

Zelnick, Miller Deny Extortion

Two Are Arraigned Before Federal Judge; Bail of $2,500 Set

New York, April 9 (AP) (Special)—Both Ernest Zelnick, 30, of 129 Downs street, Kingston, and H. Harold Miller, 42, of 335 Main street, Catskill, pleaded innocent in Federal Court here this morning before Judge Sidney Sugarman.

An extortion indictment was handed up last week by a federal grand jury against Zelnick, a U. S. internal revenue agent and Miller, an accountant.

The two-count indictment charges Zelnick and Miller with extorting $2,000 from Vincent Di Stefani, supermarket owner, of Cairo and $1,000 from his brother, Sam Di Stefani, last January 24.

The case today was set down to April 30 on which date a definite trial date will be fixed.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Louis I. Kaplan sought today to have the bail of the two men increased. He asked $10,000 for Miller and $5,000 for Zelnick instead of $2,500 bail previously fixed by the U. S. Commissioner in Albany for them.

Kaplan noted that the two men had gone further than necessary to appear before a U. S. Commissioner in Albany when they could have appeared in Poughkeepsie.

No Prior Record

He said that Zelnick, an internal revenue agent, had no prior record but added that he saw fit to visit various people who were served by Miller as an accountant. He said Miller steered Zelnick to these people.

In asking higher bail for Miller, Kaplan explained that he did so because Miller has a record of arrests dating back to 1932 and that he has generally succeeded in having prior cases against him discontinued through offers of restitution.

Lives in Catskill

Miller's attorney, Herbert Zelenko of New York, pointed out to the court that Miller owns his own home in Catskill and that his relatives also live there.

Zelnick's attorney, Michael Kern, argued also for lower bail by saying that there is no likelihood that his client would leave the jurisdiction of the court.

The court finally continued both in $2,500 bail each but denied Miller permission to go to Florida to take his five-year-old son there. His 10-year-old daughter already has been taken out of school in Catskill and is now in Florida.

Appeal Set Thursday

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn was notified today that the Edward H. Kelly appeal had been placed on the calendar of the Court of Appeals for argument Thursday at 2 p. m. Kelly, 51, former real estate broker, was convicted in county court September 29, last, of murder, first degree, for the shooting of Mrs. Eloise McHugh, 44, as she was walking along Main street last May 22. He has been at Sing Sing prison since being sentenced to death in the electric chair. A stay of execution was granted pending argument of the appeal before the Court of Appeals.

President to Talk Of Control System With Top Leaders

Truman and New Board to Meet at White House; Seeks Agreement

Washington, April 9 (AP)—President Truman called top industry, labor and farm leaders to the White House today to help map out a more effective inflation control system.

This is understood to be the main point Mr. Truman wants to discuss at his first meeting with the newly-named Mobilization Board.

The 17-member board was selected by the president last Friday. Headed by Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson, it has four other members each from labor, industry, agriculture and the public.

Mr. Truman is reportedly seeking to get the group agreed, or as nearly agreed as possible, on changes needed in the defense production act to do a better job in smother inflation.

That present controls have fallen short, so far anyway, was officially pronounced last week by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, who said in a radio address, there is "no slightest evidence anywhere that inflation is in general retreat." On the other hand, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said last night that there have been "very definite signs of a leveling off" of prices.

Is Favoring Limit

In order to forestall further economic jockeying by business, labor and agriculture, Johnston reportedly is favoring a limit on profits by stricter price curbs, an end by next June 30 of new cost-of-living pay boosts for labor, and a freeze on farm parity at last Jan. 15 levels.

Any freeze on parity would face tough sledding in Congress.

Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.), whose Senate Banking Committee would handle production act changes, served notice over the week-end that he will fight any parity freeze proposal.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) called such a proposal "a ridiculous idea." He told a reporter yesterday prices would be "at least 10 per cent lower today" if price-wage controls had not been imposed and talked about in advance. He said the administration ought to remove them.

Narcotics Probe Begins

New York, April 9 (AP)—New York state's most extensive investigation of the narcotics problem began today. Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein will direct it with an appropriation of $50,000 under a state law signed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey last Thursday. Goldstein announced last night he had named Assistant Attorney General Sidney Tartikoff, 44, to head the inquiry's legal staff. Public hearings will be held, with witnesses under subpoena. The staff will have a suite of offices in the state building here.

Hoover Blames Hypocrisy For Basketball Situation

Washington, April 9 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover blames the "hypocrisy and sham" of college athletic codes for inspiring basketball game fixing.

He thinks laxity by college officials has contributed to some "very atrocious crimes" committed by students.

He wants something done about gangs of 17 and 18 year old boys and girls who run wild "like a pack of animals" committing "sadistic assaults" on citizens of New York, Los Angeles and other areas.

These were views Hoover disclosed to a Senate appropriations subcommittee in a series of closed meetings last month. His testimony was made available to the Associated Press.

The Senate Crime Investigating Committee, headed by Senator Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), now is writing a report expected to deal in part with organized gambling's invasion of the field of betting on basketball games, particularly those in Madison Square Garden.

The two Republican members of the committee, Senators Tobey (N.H.) and Wiley (Wisc.), renewed demands over the weekend that the group's life be extended until next Jan. 15 so it can continue its dramatic hearings.

Sidney Brodson, of Milwaukee, self-styled professional bettor, told the Kefauver committee he knew there was something wrong with results long before college players were arrested for "fixing" games.

Hoover said he had "great condemnation" of the players involved, but that the blame can't be put entirely upon them.

"I think they should be condemned but blame also rests on others," the FBI chieftain said. "Here comes a criminal group that offers $1,000 to players to lose a game or to arrange certain points in the game.

"The university, at the same time, is under a so-called ethical control code not to pay players to play on teams. Yet it is well known that there are all kinds of ways of getting around that alleged code.

"They give the students automobiles. They get them positions but they do not have to do any work to draw their salary. Many of them work in the summer allegedly as bus boys and porters in

19 Plane Occupants Killed In West Virgina Accident

Charleston, W. Va., April 9 (AP)—The funeral mission of an air force plane ended in a fiery crash on a mountaintop. Nineteen of its 21 occupants, headed for the funeral of a fellow airman, perished.

The twin engine C-47 was just eight miles north of Charleston, its destination, when it struck a tall locust tree and plunged to earth in a burst of flame.

Aboard were nine enlisted men and 12 officers, an honor guard from the Godman Air Force Base in Kentucky to the funeral of Maj. Woodford W. Sutherland. The 34-year-old major from nearby St. Albans, W. Va., lost his life Thursday in a ground collision of two planes at Elgin Field, Fla.

Like Sutherland, most of the 19 victims of yesterday's crash were members of the 167th Fighter Squadron. Before being called into federal service recently, the squadron was a West Virginia Air National Guard unit.

In a Charleston hospital, doctors gave a 50-50 chance of recovery to the only crash survivors—Maj. Isaac E. Bonifas of Portland, Ind., and Capt. Harry K. Blackhurst of Charleston.

They were found dazed and wandering near the burning wreckage by Mrs. Goldie Seabolt, a farm wife living nearby, and another resident, Jack Copen.

"The first thing they said was 'where's the airport?'" Copen recalled. "They said they were blind and couldn't see."

Mrs. Seabolt said the men, badly burned about the head and body, repeatedly mumbled through scorched lips that a priest must be sent to the wreckage.

The communications tower at Kanawaha Airport reported contacting the plane's pilot, Capt. Keating Whittington of Charleston, at 11:53 a. m. A thin mist hung over the area as the ship neared the field.

Five minutes later Copen heard an explosion, looked out his window, and saw "a string of fire across the top of the hill, and motors rolling."

When he arrived he found smashed, burning parts of the plane scattered hundreds of yards around.

In a pile of ashes which had been the forward section of the craft lay a dozen or so of the grotesquely charred bodies.

Three hours later, a few miles away, the Sutherland funeral took place.

Trial Is Postponed

New York, April 9 (AP)—Trial of James J. Moran, former commissioner of the city board of water supply, on a charge that he lied in testimony before the Kefauver Crime Committee was postponed today until April 19. Federal Judge Sidney Sugarman gave the defense until next Monday to file motions.

Nearly all Allied elements had moved above the expected high-water mark.

A U. S. Eighth Army engineer said:

"There will be no real strain. They can't do any worse without blowing the dam and that's a dam that will take a hell of a lot of blowing."

The Hwachon Reservoir, about seven miles north of the 38th Parallel, is the main point of the stoutest Red resistance in North Korea in several weeks. In bitter fighting south of the reservoir Monday the Reds slowed or stopped Allied advances at several points.

The dam is 1,000 feet high. The Reds opened 10 of its 18 floodgates. Six gates were reported inoperable.

Two Purposes Possible

The Reds may have had two purposes in loosing their man-made flood:

First, to cut the Chunchon-Hwachon highway, a main Allied supply artery.

Second, to pave the way for a Chunchton-Wonju highway.

Although fighting near the reservoir has been severe, AP Correspondent Leif Erickson at U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters said there was no indication the Reds had started a mass drive.

An estimated Communist regiment was sighted Sunday afternoon between the river and advancing Allied soldiers. Aerial photographs clearly showed the floodgates closed them.

The Chinese apparently opened the floodgates and pulled out sometime after dark.

U. N. Troops of four nations are deployed around Chunchon. Some forward elements might be temporarily cut off by the rising water. The high water may extend as far down the Pukham river as Seoul, some 55 air miles southwest.

Is Inverted 'T'

Tht reservoir is shaped like an inverted "T" with a base and stem each 15 miles long. The city of Hwachon is on its western tip.

Chorwon, an important Red base 17 miles north of 38 on the western front, was brought under American artillery fire Monday. Only light to moderate ground contact was reported from this sector.

There was little fighting on

Woman's Body Found Under Catskill Bridge

Catskill, N. Y., April 9 (AP)—State police sought today to identify a woman found dead on the bank of the Hudson river under the Rip Van Winkle bridge.

Police said the woman was about 50 years old and had been dead "several months."

Dr. Mahlon H. Atkinson, Greene county coroner, said there was no evidence of foul play.

The nude body was found yesterday by Francis Lyons, 56, of Catskill, while he was fishing near the bridge.

Ridgway Declares Reds Won't Call Off This Campaign

Eighth Army Commander Says This Becomes Life and Death Struggle

A Central Front Headquarters, Korea, April 9 (AP)—The Communists "won't call this thing off" because it is their firm determination "to destroy us completely," Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway warned yesterday.

Speaking earnestly to correspondents, the U. S. Eighth Army commander declared there was no end of the Korean war in sight, barring a political settlement—and he knew of no negotiations towards one.

"The danger with our people," he said, "is their impatience, their natural characteristic of impatience.

"We went into this thing with a 'let's get the damned thing over with' attitude.

"That's at the bottom of rotation in a way—a feeling 'six months is enough; after six months we can all go home.'

"It's not in the Communist timetable—you don't go home. They won't call this thing off."

The rotation he mentioned was the newly-announced Washington policy of sending home troops who have been long in combat.

"As far as the Communist leaders are concerned, this is an all-out life-and-death struggle," Ridgway cautioned.

Objectives Are Same

"They have not varied their objectives. They may vary their tactics, their timing, their strategy—yes—but their objectives, never!"

(As if in support of Ridgway's warning, the Peiping Red radio Sunday broadcast a violent statement from the official People's Daily, vowing that "the Chinese people will yet make the enemy

President MightAct on MacArthur

Would Oust Aide

Knowland Would Keep MacArthur, Release Acheson

Washington, April 9 (AP)—President Truman was caught today in a squeeze between home front supporters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, mostly Republicans, and U. S. Allies who want him to discipline the outspoken general for his latest policy statement.

Capitol Hill friends thought that after a week-end of studying the situation, Mr. Truman might act quickly to make known his views on recent MacArthur statements which have run counter to military and State Department policies.

It was certain that any move to shear MacArthur of any authority as Supreme Commander in Korea would touch off a storm in Congress.

Most lawmakers carefully avoided predicting the course of Mr. Truman's action, although some speculated privately that a presidential reprimand to the five-star general would be forthcoming.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif), a persistent critic of administration foreign policy in the Pacific, foresaw even more drastic action.

"It now appears that the hatchet men of the administration have been turned loose to undermine the position of General MacArthur and to force a reprimand or recall," he said.

Would Oust Acheson

Knowland said it would be wiser to keep MacArthur and get rid of Secretary of State Acheson. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) advocated the dispatch of a 12-man Congressional committee — six Democrats and six Republicans — to consult MacArthur and learn his views on the Korean War and Far Eastern policy generally.

MacArthur stirred the world's capitals when he said last week the critical fight against communism is in Asia. He called also for use of Shiang Kai-Shek's National troops on Formosa to open a second front against the Chinese Reds.

He added more fuel to the fire by ascribing to "basic political decisons beyond my control" the release of 120,000 South Korean Reservists for farm and other work.

There were reports that Great Britain may move directly for steps to curb the United Nations commander. Informed sources in London said strong British objections to the proposal to put Chinese Nationalist troops into the fight will be forcefully but informally presented in Washington.

Opposes Action

British opinion has been strongly against any action which might spread the Korean fighting. After MacArthur's latest statement was made public, Minister of State Kenneth Younger warned Red China against being "misled by irresponsible statements."

MacArthur's views on the Chinese second front issue have some vocal supporters in Congress. But there has been no indication of a change in the present policy of neutralizing Formosa and holding Chiang's army in reserve for a possible Red attempt to invade the island.

Given the general's spectacular personality and gift for words, such a controversy as might be stirred up by disciplinary action might go a long way toward splitting the country into two camps at a critical period.

Partly because of this, Mr. Truman might have difficulty in finding any large number of Congressional supporters for any drastic action against MacArthur — such as his removal from command.

Zelnick, Miller Deny Extortion

Two Are Arraigned Before Federal Judge; Bail of $2,500 Set

New York, April 9 (AP) (Special)—Both Ernest Zelnick, 30, of 129 Downs street, Kingston, and H. Harold Miller, 42, of 335 Main street, Catskill, pleaded innocent in Federal Court here this morning before Judge Sidney Sugarman.

An extortion indictment was handed up last week by a federal grand jury against Zelnick, a U. S. internal revenue agent and Miller, an accountant.

The two-count indictment charges Zelnick and Miller with extorting $2,000 from Vincent Di Stefani, supermarket owner, of Cairo and $1,000 from his brother, Sam Di Stefani, last January 24.

The case today was set down to April 30 on which date a definite trial date will be fixed.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Louis I. Kaplan sought today to have the bail of the two men increased. He asked $10,000 for Miller and $5,000 for Zelnick instead of $2,500 bail previously fixed by the U. S. Commissioner in Albany for them.

Kaplan noted that the two men had gone further than necessary to appear before a U. S. Commissioner in Albany when they could have appeared in Poughkeepsie.

No Prior Record

He said that Zelnick, an internal revenue agent, had no prior record but added that he saw fit to visit various people who were served by Miller as an accountant. He said Miller steered Zelnick to these people.

In asking higher bail for Miller, Kaplan explained that he did so because Miller has a record of arrests dating back to 1932 and that he has generally succeeded in having prior cases against him discontinued through offers of restitution.

Lives in Catskill

Miller's attorney, Herbert Zelenko of New York, pointed out to the court that Miller owns his own home in Catskill and that his relatives also live there.

Zelnick's attorney, Michael Kern, argued also for lower bail by saying that there is no likelihood that his client would leave the jurisdiction of the court.

The court finally continued both in $2,500 bail each but denied Miller permission to go to Florida to take his five-year-old son there. His 10-year-old daughter already has been taken out of school in Catskill and is now in Florida.

Appeal Set Thursday

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn was notified today that the Edward H. Kelly appeal had been placed on the calendar of the Court of Appeals for argument Thursday at 2 p. m. Kelly, 51, former real estate broker, was convicted in county court September 29, last, of murder, first degree, for the shooting of Mrs. Eloise McHugh, 44, as she was walking along Main street last May 22. He has been at Sing Sing prison since being sentenced to death in the electric chair. A stay of execution was granted pending argument of the appeal before the Court of Appeals.

Says Information Had on 'Best' Authority on Matter

Washington, April 9 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn said today "we are in terrible danger" because the Russians are building up concentrations "here and there and everywhere."

Rayburn, Texas Democrat, told White House reporters following a conference with President Truman, that Russians are building up troop concentrations "in lots of places."

He added: "Just where this is being done is a little beyond my field, but I have it on good authority, the best authority."

Last week, Rayburn came out of a White House conference and said not all the troops gathering in Manchuria were Chinese Communists.

Rayburn also said then that the United States was threatened by "a terrible danger" which might bring on another world war.

Last week's statements were made on the House floor as it began debate on the controversial draft-universal military training bill.

Rayburn's remarks created something of a stir at the time because the inference was widely drawn that he meant the Russians were concentrating troops in Manchuria with an apparent intention of intervening directly in the Korean fighting.

'Mighty Low Estimate'

At the White House today, a reporter told Rayburn that some people seemed to think he made last week's statement in an effort simply to pass the draft-UMT bill.

Rayburn replied: "That's a mighty low estimate to put on something I said. That statement was meant in the best interest of the United States."

He continued:

"I know we are in terrible danger because the Russians are con-

President to Talk Of Control System With Top Leaders

Truman and New Board to Meet at White House; Seeks Agreement

Washington, April 9 (AP)—President Truman called top industry, labor and farm leaders to the White House today to help map out a more effective inflation control system.

This is understood to be the main point Mr. Truman wants to discuss at his first meeting with the newly-named Mobilization Board.

The 17-member board was selected by the president last Friday. Headed by Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson, it has four other members each from labor, industry, agriculture and the public.

Mr. Truman is reportedly seeking to get the group agreed, or as nearly agreed as possible, on changes needed in the defense production act to do a better job in smother inflation.

That present controls have fallen short, so far anyway, was officially pronounced last week by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, who said in a radio address, there is "no slightest evidence anywhere that inflation is in general retreat." On the other hand, Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said last night that there have been "very definite signs of a leveling off" of prices.

Is Favoring Limit

In order to forestall further economic jockeying by business, labor and agriculture, Johnston reportedly is favoring a limit on profits by stricter price curbs, an end by next June 30 of new cost-of-living pay boosts for labor, and a freeze on farm parity at last Jan. 15 levels.

Any freeze on parity would face tough sledding in Congress.

Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.), whose Senate Banking Committee would handle production act changes, served notice over the week-end that he will fight any parity freeze proposal.

Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) called such a proposal "a ridiculous idea." He told a reporter yesterday prices would be "at least 10 per cent lower today" if price-wage controls had not been imposed and talked about in advance. He said the administration ought to remove them.

Hoover Blames Hypocrisy For Basketball Situation

Washington, April 9 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover blames the "hypocrisy and sham" of college athletic codes for inspiring basketball game fixing.

He thinks laxity by college officials has contributed to some "very atrocious crimes" committed by students.

He wants something done about gangs of 17 and 18 year old boys and girls who run wild "like a pack of animals" committing "sadistic assaults" on citizens of New York, Los Angeles and other areas.

These were views Hoover disclosed to a Senate appropriations subcommittee in a series of closed meetings last month. His testimony was made available to the Associated Press.

The Senate Crime Investigating Committee, headed by Senator Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), now is writing a report expected to deal in part with organized gambling's invasion of the field of betting on basketball games, particularly those in Madison Square Garden.

The two Republican members of the committee, Senators Tobey (N.H.) and Wiley (Wisc.), renewed demands over the week-end that the group's life be extended until next Jan. 15 so it can continue its dramatic hearings.

Sidney Brodson, of Milwaukee, self-styled professional bettor, told the Kefauver committee he knew there was something wrong with results long before college players were arrested for "fixing" games.

Hoover said he had "great condemnation" of the players involved, but that the blame can't be put entirely upon them.

"I think they should be condemned but blame also rests on others," the FBI chieftain said. "Here comes a criminal group that offers $1,000 to players to lose a game or to arrange certain points in the game.

"The university, at the same time, is under a so-called ethical control code not to pay players to play on teams. Yet it is well known that there are all kinds of ways of getting around that alleged code.

"They give the students automobiles. They get them positions but they do not have to do any work to draw their salary. Many of them work in the summer allegedly as bus boys and porters in

Narcotics Probe Begins

New York, April 9 (AP)—New York state's most extensive investigation of the narcotics problem began today. Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein will direct it with an appropriation of $50,000 under a state law signed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey last Thursday. Goldstein announced last night he had named Assistant Attorney General Sidney Tartikoff, 44, to head the inquiry's legal staff. Public hearings will be held, with witnesses under subpoena. The staff will have a suite of offices in the state building here.

19 Plane Occupants Killed In West Virgina Accident

Charleston, W. Va., April 9 (AP)—The funeral mission of an air force plane ended in a fiery crash on a mountaintop. Nineteen of its 21 occupants, headed for the funeral of a fellow airman, perished.

The twin engine C-47 was just eight miles north of Charleston, its destination, when it struck a tall locust tree and plunged to earth in a burst of flame.

Aboard were nine enlisted men and 12 officers, an honor guard from the Godman Air Force Base in Kentucky to the funeral of Maj. Woodford W. Sutherland. The 34-year-old major from nearby St. Albans, W. Va., lost his life Thursday in a ground collision of two planes at Elgin Field, Fla.

Like Sutherland, most of the 19 victims of yesterday's crash were members of the 167th Fighter Squadron. Before being called into federal service recently, the squadron was a West Virginia Air National Guard unit.

In a Charleston hospital, doctors gave a 50-50 chance of recovery to the only crash survivors —Maj. Isaac E. Bonifas of Portland, Ind., and Capt. Harry K. Blackhurst of Charleston.

They were found dazed and wandering near the burning wreckage by Mrs. Goldie Seabolt, a farm wife living nearby, and another resident, Jack Copen.

"The first thing they said was 'where's the airport?'" Copen recalled. "They said they were blind and couldn't see."

Mrs. Seabolt said the men, badly burned about the head and body, repeatedly mumbled through scorched lips that a priest must be sent to the wreckage.

The communications tower at Kanawaha Airport reported contacting the plane's pilot, Capt. Keating Whittington of Charleston, at 11:53 a. m. A thin mist hung over the area as the ship neared the field.

Five minutes later Copen heard an explosion, looked out his window, and saw "a string of fire across the top of the hill, and motors rolling."

When he arrived he found smashed, burning parts of the plane scattered hundreds of yards around.

In a pile of ashes which had been the forward section of the craft lay a dozen or so of the grotesquely charred bodies.

Three hours later, a few miles away, the Sutherland funeral took place.

Trial Is Postponed

New York, April 9 (AP)—Trial of James J. Moran, former commissioner of the city board of water supply, on a charge that he lied in testimony before the Kefauver Crime Committee was postponed today until April 19. Federal Judge Sidney Sugarman gave the defense until next Monday to file motions.

Zelnick, Miller Deny Extortion

Two Are Arraigned Before Federal Judge; Bail of $2,500 Set

New York, April 9 (AP) (Special)—Both Ernest Zelnick, 30, of 129 Downs street, Kingston, and H. Harold Miller, 42, of 335 Main street, Catskill, pleaded innocent in Federal Court here this morning before Judge Sidney Sugarman.

An extortion indictment was handed up last week by a federal grand jury against Zelnick, a U. S. internal revenue agent and Miller, an accountant.

The two-count indictment charges Zelnick and Miller with extorting $2,000 from Vincent Di Stefani, supermarket owner, of Cairo and $1,000 from his brother, Sam Di Stefani, last January 24.

The case today was set down to April 30 on which date a definite trial date will be fixed.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Louis I. Kaplan sought today to have the bail of the two men increased. He asked $10,000 for Miller and $5,000 for Zelnick instead of $2,500 bail previously fixed by the U. S. Commissioner in Albany for them.

Kaplan noted that the two men had gone further than necessary to appear before a U. S. Commissioner in Albany when they could have appeared in Poughkeepsie.

No Prior Record

He said that Zelnick, an internal revenue agent, had no prior record but added that he saw fit to visit various people who were served by Miller as an accountant. He said Miller steered Zelnick to these people.

In asking higher bail for Miller, Kaplan explained that he did so because Miller has a record of arrests dating back to 1932 and that he has generally succeeded in having prior cases against him discontinued through offers of restitution.

Zelnick's attorney, Michael Kern, argued also for lower bail by saying that there is no likelihood that his client would leave the jurisdiction of the court.

The court finally continued both in $2,500 bail each but denied Miller permission to go to Florida to take his five-year-old son there. His 10-year-old daughter already has been taken out of school in Catskill and is now in Florida.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn was notified today that the Edward H. Kelly appeal had been placed on the calendar of the Court of Appeals for argument Thursday at 2 p. m. Open Talks To Decide Oil Policy

U.S., Anglo Chiefs Hope to Produce Common Agreement to Meet Iranian Crisis

May Block Move

British Government Is Understood Opposed to Plan

Washington, April 9 (AP)—The United States and Britain open today a series of talks designed to produce a common Anglo-American policy for meeting the Iranian oil crisis.

Assistant Secretary of State George McGhee is expected to urge the British government, through Ambassador Sir Oliver Franks, to accept the nationalization of Iranian oil and concentrate on working out a plan for operating the industry under Iranian control.

Britain, however, is understood to oppose the nationalization move approved by the Iranian Majlis (Parliament) and reportedly is anxious to block it.

This apparent division of views will be the major issue in the talks at the State Department.

500,000 Barrels of Oil

The Iranian fields produce about 500,000 barrels of refined oil a day through the world's largest refinery at Abadan, and an additional 150,000 barrels of crude oil. The fields are controlled by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. This company is dominated by the British government and is a vital source of oil for Britain's Navy.

The Iranian wells together with those in nearby Arab countries also supply most of the oil for western Europe.

Because of the constant Russian pressure against Iran, western diplomats are concerned that nationalization of Irian oil might result in a diversion of the fuel from western industry and defense.

There also is the possibility that the Iranians may not be able to operate the industry and will have to call for foreign help.

Since the U. S. is vitally interested in keeping the oil flowing toward the west, and because American companies control some of the Arab fields, this country has followed a political policy of trying to keep Iran stabilized and thus minimize opportunities which might permit the Russians to move in.

Protest Is Rejected

Tehran, Iran, April 9 (AP)—The Iranian government rejected Britain's protest against nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company yesterday, but Premier Hussein Ala cautiously made no commitment to Parliament on the explosive question.

The new premier made public, after his first appearance before the lower house, a carefully worded note in which he said the British government has no right to intervene in dealings between Iran and a business concern.

The premier, a former United Nations delegate with pro-western leanings, told the British a special commission is studying means of carrying out the nationalization authorized in principle by Parliament and that his government "has no other duty except to wait for the result of the commission's study."

Ala echoed this view in his only statement to the Parliament (Majlis) on the oil issue, saying that he would refrain from any action until the Nationalization Commission reports.

Soviet Plan GivenAidby Atom Spies

Work Is Advanced 18 Months as Result of Help Given by Four, Says Committee

Arrests Are Due

Saypol Declares Office Will Take Others Into Custody

Washington, April 9 (AP)—Russia's atomic weapons program was shoved ahead at least 18 months by a trio of confessed spies—one an American — and an H-bomb scientist who reportedly fled to the Soviet Union.

That is the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee's evaluation of espionage damage by the four.

To one of them, convicted British atomic spy Klaus Fuchs, the committee assigned the kingpin role of deadliest betrayer in all history.

A committee report issued last night said, however, that this country's atomic espionage defenses apparently have not been pierced since mid-1946. British security has been breached since then as well as before, the committee added.

In New York, U. S. Attorney Irving Saypol said last night his office is starting a whole series of arrests for espionage. Appearing on a radio program, Saypol said "we have gotten now sufficient information so that we are embarking on a series of prosecutions to stamp out this vice."

It was learned, meanwhile, that F.B.I. chief J. Edgar Hoover has suggested to Congress that his agency not be called upon to investigate persons in the atomic field who have "no access to really restricted materials as such."

Calls It Big Problem

At a recent meeting behind closed doors with a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee, Hoover called the Atomic Energy Commission one of the F.B.I.'s "greatest problems." He said the F.B.I. is making 57,750 investigations for the commission this year, and added that the total undoubtedly will increase next year.

"They will ask us to investigate a Coca-Cola vendor, a concessionaire and laborers at various plants before the plants are completed and before any top-secret or restricted data has been moved into the plant," Hoover told the subcommittee.

Hoover said that once the plant is constructed, then key personnel should be investigated.

Deals With Case

In its espionage report, the Atomic Energy Committee dealt at length with the case of Fuchs, German-born British scientist who now is serving a 14-year jail term in England for confessed passing of atom secrets to Russia.

"It is hardly an exaggeration," the report declared, "to say that Fuchs has influenced the safety of more people and accomplished more damage than any other spy not only in the history of the United States but in the history of nations."

Behind Fuchs as the No. 1 atomic spy, the committte rated native Italian Bruno Pontecorvo, who last fall disappeared behind Russia's iron curtain. At the time he was on vacation in Europe from his key post at a top secret British atomic research station.

"His more recent studies," the committee said, "included work upon tritium, a substance intimately related to the hydrogen bomb."

The other two who helped advance Russia's atomic program 18 months or more were listed by the committee as Dr. Allan Nunn May, British scientist who was convicted in the Canadian spy expose of 1946, and American-born David Greenglass, sentenced in New York last Friday to 15 years in jail.

Got 15 Years

Greenglass confessed passing atomic data to the Reds while he was a World War 2 army sergeant assigned to the atomic bomb project at Los Alamos, N. M.

He got only 15 years because he helped convict his sister, Mrs. Ethel Rosenberg, and her husband, Julius. The Rosenbergs last week were sentenced to die. Saypol, who prosecuted the Rosenbergs, said the new case he mentioned involved persons connected with them.

However, the Joint Committee plainly regarded Greenglass' espionage as much more damaging than the spying of the Rosenbergs. It ranked Greenglass among the big four, but dealt with the Rosenbergs in a lesser category of couriers in this country who aided Russia.

All of the big four—Fuchs, Pontecorvo, May and Greenglass had access to atomic secrets at one time or another in the United States. All but Greenglass also had access in Great Britain or Canada.

Chinese Open Big Dam, Try Unsuccessfully to Trap Advancing Allies

Two Possible Reasons for Releasing Water Are Cited—No Real Strain

Tokyo, April 9 (AP) — Chinese Communists opened the floodgates of the massive Hwachon reservoir dam in Central Korea today and sent thousands of tons of water rushing down on Allied-held ground.

But the Pukhan river rose no more than four and one-half feet.

By Monday night the water level was receding and there was no danger to United Nations forces.

Nearly all Alled elements had moved above the expected high-water mark.

A U. S. Eighth Army engineer said:

"There will be no real strain. They can't do any worse without blowing the dam and that's a dam that will take a hell of a lot of blowing."

The Hwachon Reservoir, about seven miles north of the 38th Parallel, is the main point of the stoutest Red resistance in North Korea in several weeks. In bitter fighting south of the reservoir Monday the Reds slowed or stopped Allied advances at several points.

The dam is 1,000 feet high. The Reds opened 10 of its 18 floodgates. Six gates were reported inoperable.

Two Purposes Possible

The Reds may have had two purposes in loosing their man-made flood:

First, to cut the Chunchon-Hwachon highway, a main Allied supply artery.

Second, to pave the way for a Chunchton-Wonju highway.

Although fighting near the reservoir has been severe, AP Correspondent Leif Erickson at U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters said there was no indication the Reds had started a mass drive.

An estimated Communist regiment was sighted Sunday afternoon between the river and advancing Allied soldiers. Aerial photographs clearly showed the floodgates closed them.

The Chinese apparently opened the floodgates and pulled out sometime after dark.

U. N. Troops of four nations are deployed around Chunchon. Some forward elements might be temporarily cut off by the rising water. The high water may extend as far down the Pukham river as Seoul, some 55 air miles southwest.

Is Inverted 'T'

Tht reservoir is shaped like an inverted "T" with a base and stem each 15 miles long. The city of Hwachon is on its western tip.

Chorwon, an important Red base 17 miles north of 38 on the western front, was brought under American artillery fire Monday. Only light to moderate ground contact was reported from this sector.

There was little fighting on

Woman's Body Found Under Catskill Bridge

Catskill, N. Y., April 9 (AP)—State police sought today to identify a woman found dead on the bank of the Hudson river under the Rip Van Winkle bridge.

Police said the woman was about 50 years old and had been dead "several months."

Dr. Mahlon H. Atkinson, Greene county coroner, said there was no evidence of foul play.

The nude body was found yesterday by Francis Lyons, 56, of Catskill, while he was fishing near the bridge.

Ridgway Declares Reds Won't Call Off This Campaign

Eighth Army Commander Says This Becomes Life and Death Struggle

A Central Front Headquarters, Korea, April 9 (AP)—The Communists "won't call this thing off" because it is their firm determination "to destroy us completely," Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway warned yesterday.

Speaking earnestly to correspondents, the U. S. Eighth Army commander declared there was no end of the Korean war in sight, barring a political settlement—and he knew of no negotiations towards one.

"The danger with our people," he said, "is their impatience, their natural characteristic of impatience.

"We went into this thing with a 'let's get the damned thing over with' attitude.

"That's at the bottom of rotation in a way—a feeling 'six months is enough; after six months we can all go home.'

"It's not in the Communist timetable—you don't go home. They won't call this thing off."

The rotation he mentioned was the newly-announced Washington policy of sending home troops who have been long in combat.

"As far as the Communist leaders are concerned, this is an all-out life-and-death struggle," Ridgway cautioned.

Objectives Are Same

"They have not varied their objectives. They may vary their tactics, their timing, their strategy—yes—but their objectives, never!"

(As if in support of Ridgway's warning, the Peiping Red radio Sunday broadcast a violent statement from the official People's Daily, vowing that "the Chinese people will yet make the enemy

19 Plane Occupants Killed In West Virgina Accident

Charleston, W. Va., April 9 (AP)—The funeral mission of an air force plane ended in a fiery crash on a mountaintop. Nineteen of its 21 occupants, headed for the funeral of a fellow airman, perished.

The twin engine C-47 was just eight miles north of Charleston, its destination, when it struck a tall locust tree and plunged to earth in a burst of flame.

Aboard were nine enlisted men and 12 officers, an honor guard from the Godman Air Force Base in Kentucky to the funeral of Maj. Woodford W. Sutherland. The 34-year-old major from nearby St. Albans, W. Va., lost his life Thursday in a ground collision of two planes at Elgin Field, Fla.

Like Sutherland, most of the 19 victims of yesterday's crash were members of the 167th Fighter Squadron. Before being called into federal service recently, the squadron was a West Virginia Air National Guard unit.

In a Charleston hospital, doctors gave a 50-50 chance of recovery to the only crash survivors—Maj. Isaac E. Bonifas of Portland, Ind., and Capt. Harry K. Blackhurst of Charleston.

They were found dazed and wandering near the burning wreckage by Mrs. Goldie Seabolt, a farm wife living nearby, and another resident, Jack Copen.

"The first thing they said was 'where's the airport?'" Copen recalled. "They said they were blind and couldn't see."

Mrs. Seabolt said the men, badly burned about the head and body, repeatedly mumbled through scorched lips that a priest must be sent to the wreckage.

The communications tower at Kanawaha Airport reported contacting the plane's pilot, Capt. Keating Whittington of Charleston, at 11:53 a. m. A thin mist hung over the area as the ship neared the field.

Five minutes later Copen heard an explosion, looked out his window, and saw "a string of fire across the top of the hill, and motors rolling."

When he arrived he found smashed, burning parts of the plane scattered hundreds of yards around.

In a pile of ashes which had been the forward section of the craft lay a dozen or so of the grotesquely charred bodies.

Three hours later, a few miles away, the Sutherland funeral took place.

Would Oust Aide

Knowland Would Keep MacArthur, Release Acheson

Washington, April 9 (AP)—President Truman was caught today in a squeeze between home front supporters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, mostly Republicans, and U. S. Allies who want him to discipline the outspoken general for his latest policy statement.

Capitol Hill friends thought that after a week-end of studying the situation, Mr. Truman might act quickly to make known his views on recent MacArthur statements which have run counter to military and State Department policies.

It was certain that any move to shear MacArthur of any authority as Supreme Commander in Korea would touch off a storm in Congress.

Most lawmakers carefully avoided predicting the course of Mr. Truman's action, although some speculated privately that a presidential reprimand to the five-star general would be forthcoming.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif), a persistent critic of administration foreign policy in the Pacific, foresaw even more drastic action.

"It now appears that the hatchet men of the administration have been turned loose to undermine the position of General MacArthur and to force a reprimand or recall," he said.

Would Oust Acheson

Knowland said it would be wiser to keep MacArthur and get rid of Secretary of State Acheson. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) advocated the dispatch of a 12-man Congressional committee — six Democrats and six Republicans—to consult MacArthur and learn his views on the Korean War and Far Eastern policy generally.

MacArthur stirred the world's capitals when he said last week the critical fight against communism is in Asia. He called also for use of Shiang Kai-Shek's National troops on Formosa to open a second front against the Chinese Reds.

He added more fuel to the fire by ascribing to "basic political decisons beyond my control" the release of 120,000 South Korean Reservists for farm and other work.

There were reports that Great Britain may move directly for steps to curb the United Nations commander. Informed sources in London said strong British objections to the proposal to put Chinese Nationalist troops into the fight will be forcefully but informally presented in Washington.

Opposes Action

British opinion has been strongly against any action which might spread the Korean fighting. After MacArthur's latest statement was made public, Minister of State Kenneth Younger warned Red China against being "misled by irresponsible statements."

MacArthur's views on the Chinese second front issue have some vocal supporters in Congress. But there has been no indication of a change in the present policy of neutralizing Formosa and holding Chiang's army in reserve for a possible Red attempt to invade the island.

Given the general's spectacular personality and gift for words, such a controversy as might be stirred up by disciplinary action might go a long way toward splitting the country into two camps at a critical period.

Partly because of this, Mr. Truman might have difficulty in finding any large number of Congressional supporters for any drastic action against MacArthur — such as his removal from command.

Trial Is Postponed

New York, April 9 (AP)—Trial of James J. Moran, former commissioner of the city board of water supply, on a charge that he lied in testimony before the Kefauver Crime Committee was postponed today until April 19. Federal Judge Sidney Sugarman gave the defense until next Monday to file motions.

Siren Is on Trial Basis

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy announced today that a new fire siren installed at the engine house of Wicks Engine and Truck Company, will remain under test for several days. It was placed there on a trial basis.

Memoriam

In sad loving memory of Herman A. Woelfersheim, who departed from this life April 9, 1950.

You left behind some broken hearts,
That loved you so sincere,
That never did, nor never will
Forget you Daddy Dear.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Hidden tears so often flow,
Memory keeps our loved one near us,
Tho' he died one year ago.

Signed
WIFE, DAUGHTER and SON-IN-LAW

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Evelyn Risley Pierce, who entered into eternal rest April 9, 1943.

Deep in our hearts you are fondly remembered,
Sweet, happy memories cling,
'Round your name true hearts that loved you with deepest affection,
Always will love you in death just the same.

Several Persons Hurt In County Mishaps

Two accidents in which persons reportedly received minor injuries were reported to the sheriff's office during the week-end. Details were incomplete and further investigation was being conducted today.

At 12:10 a. m. Sunday, truck driven by George LaTour of 18 Chapel street became involved in an accident on Route 28A at West Hurley, according to one report. Four persons, whose names were not listed, were reportedly treated for minor cuts and bruises.

Another report at 1:45 a. m. Sunday stated that an automobile operated by Mary Agnes Brown of 84 Cedar street struck and severed an electric power and telephone pole on Albany avenue extension. One or more persons were taken to the hospital, but asked not to be treated there, so were taken home, the report stated.

Highest mountain in Soviet Russia is Stalin Peak, 24,590 feet.

Evening Verse

(For Your Scrapbook)
By DANIEL J. O'CONNOR

FRIDAY THE 13th

The 13th falls on Friday
Which shouldn't mean a thing
But on that date, the hand of fate
Is said to have its fling.

The folks at home all warn me
In no uncertain tones
Ill-fortune stalks, along the walks
"So skip the danger zones."

I'll wear the good-luck token
That Aunt Matilda sent
With fingers crossed, I think I've lost
My fear of this event.

I'll show the superstitious
That I am not afraid
With manly tread, I'll forge ahead
Of those who seem dismayed.

Discretion, though, will guide me
If I set out to roam
On second thought, perhaps I ought
To spend the day at home!

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 9 (AP)—Prices turned to the gaining side of the ledger today in a very slow stock market.

Most categories held a fair sprinkling of advances after an uncertain opening in which gains and losses were about even.

There were few price changes of as much as $1 a share, however, and most of the growing number of advances were in the small fraction category.

A number of railroad stocks rose, Northern Pacific as much as $1 at one time. Sante Fe, New York Central, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific all were on the up side, but Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio and Union Pacific remained losers.

Many an eye has turned toward rails in recent weeks since they began leading the market into higher and lower ground.

Dealers said they thought stocks were doing well considering the depressing foreign comment from House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Rayburn came out of a conference with President Truman, and spoke of "terrible danger" with Russians building up concentrations "everywhere."

Traders also kept a close watch on business inventories being piled up, but many discounted the full warehouses as more than a minor disturbing factor.

France Joins Britain In MacArthur Angle

(By The Associated Press)

France lined up today with Britain in opposing Gen. Douglas MacArthur's suggestion that Nationalist Chinese troops be used against Red China, while in Washington President Truman was reported weighing whether to discipline the outspoken general.

Speaker Rayburn, emerging from a White House conference among the President and Democratic congressional leaders, said the MacArthur controversy came up—but "only incidentally" at the conference. He threw no light on what was said or if anything was decided on the burning issue but added:

"Everywhere two people assemble they talk about MacArthur.

Fire Destroys Barn On Flatbush Road

A barn on the property of Joseph Colao on the Flatbush road just outside the city line was destroyed by fire Sunday morning, Chief Joseph Dyer of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 reported.

A call to fire headquarters in Kingston brought the A. H. Wicks Engine Company and Engine 1 from Central station to the fire at 9:05 a. m. to assist Ulster Hose. Approximately 650 feet of hose was laid by the Wicks company from a hydrant in the city, and water was also pumped from other sources.

The fire started when burning tar paper set fire to a haystack, and that in turn was blown by wind to the barn, firemen said.

Memoriam

In sad loving memory of Herman A. Woelfersheim, who departed from this life April 9, 1950.
You left behind some broken hearts,
That loved you so sincere,
That never did, nor never will
Forget you Daddy Dear.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Hidden tears so often flow,
Memory keeps our loved one near us,
Tho' he died one year ago.
Signed
WIFE, DAUGHTER and SON-IN-LAW

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Evelyn Risley Pierce, who entered into eternal rest April 9, 1943.
Deep in our hearts you are fondly remembered,
Sweet, happy memories cling,
'Round your name true hearts that loved you with deepest affection,
Always will love you in death just the same.

Evening Verse—
(For Your Scrapbook)
By DANIEL J. O'CONNOR

FRIDAY THE 13th

The 13th falls on Friday
Which shouldn't mean a thing
But on that date, the hand of fate
Is said to have its fling.
The folks at home all warn me
In no uncertain tones
Ill-fortune stalks, along the walks
"So skip the danger zones."
I'll wear the good-luck token
That Aunt Matilda sent
With fingers crossed, I think I've lost
My fear of this event.
I'll show the superstitious
That I am not afraid
With manly tread, I'll forge ahead
Of those who seem dismayed.
Discretion, though, will guide me
If I set out to roam
On second thought, perhaps I ought
To spend the day at home!

Imperial Gallon Larger

U. S. residents visiting Canada who order 10 gallons of gasoline get as much as if they bought 12 gallons in the United States, the gas being sold by the imperial gallon which is larger than the U. S. gallon.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 9 (AP)—Prices turned to the gaining side of the ledger today in a very slow stock market.

Most categories held a fair sprinkling of advances after an uncertain opening in which gains and losses were about even.

There were few price changes of as much as $1 a share, however, and most of the growing number of advances were in the small fraction category.

A number of railroad stocks rose, Northern Pacific as much as $1 at one time. Sante Fe, New York Central, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific all were on the up side, but Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio and Union Pacific remained losers.

Many an eye has turned toward rails in recent weeks since they began leading the market into higher and lower ground.

Dealers said they thought stocks were doing well considering the depressing foreign comment from House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Rayburn came out of a conference with President Truman, and spoke of "terrible danger" with Russians building up concentrations "everywhere."

Traders also kept a close watch on business inventories being piled up, but many discounted the full warehouses as more than a minor disturbing factor.

France Joins Britain In MacArthur Angle

(By The Associated Press)

France lined up today with Britain in opposing Gen. Douglas MacArthur's suggestion that Nationalist Chinese troops be used against Red China, while in Washington President Truman was reported weighing whether to discipline the outspoken general.

Speaker Rayburn, emerging from a White House conference among the President and Democratic congressional leaders, said the MacArthur controversy came up—but "only incidentally" at the conference. He threw no light on what was said or if anything was decided on the burning issue but added:

"Everywhere two people assemble they talk about MacArthur.

Fire Destroys Barn On Flatbush Road

A barn on the property of Joseph Colao on the Flatbush road just outside the city line was destroyed by fire Sunday morning, Chief Joseph Dyer of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 reported.

A call to fire headquarters in Kingston brought the A. H. Wicks Engine Company and Engine 1 from Central station to the fire at 9:05 a. m. to assist Ulster Hose. Approximately 650 feet of hose was laid by the Wicks company from a hydrant in the city, and water was also pumped from other sources.

The fire started when burning tar paper set fire to a haystack, and that in turn was blown by wind to the barn, firemen said.

Memoriam

In sad loving memory of Herman A. Woelfersheim, who departed from this life April 9, 1950.

You left behind some broken hearts,
That loved you so sincere,
That never did, nor never will
Forget you Daddy Dear.
Days of sadness still come o'er us,
Hidden tears so often flow,
Memory keeps our loved one near us,
Tho' he died one year ago.

Signed
WIFE, DAUGHTER and SON-IN-LAW

Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Evelyn Risley Pierce, who entered into eternal rest April 9, 1943.

Deep in our hearts you are fondly remembered,
Sweet, happy memories cling,
'Round your name true hearts that loved you with deepest affection,
Always will love you in death just the same.

Several Persons Hurt In County Mishaps

Two accidents in which persons reportedly received minor injuries were reported to the sheriff's office during the week-end. Details were incomplete and further investigation was being conducted today.

At 12:10 a. m. Sunday, truck driven by George LaTour of 18 Chapel street became involved in an accident on Route 28A at West Hurley, according to one report. Four persons, whose names were not listed, were reportedly treated for minor cuts and bruises.

Another report at 1:45 a. m. Sunday stated that an automobile operated by Mary Agnes Brown of 84 Cedar street struck and severed an electric power and telephone pole on Albany avenue extension. One or more persons were taken to the hospital, but asked not to be treated there, so were taken home, the report stated.

Highest mountain in Soviet Russia is Stalin Peak, 24,590 feet.

Evening Verse
(For Your Scrapbook)
By DANIEL J. O'CONNOR

FRIDAY THE 13th

The 13th falls on Friday
Which shouldn't mean a thing
But on that date, the hand of fate
Is said to have its fling.

The folks at home all warn me
In no uncertain tones
Ill-fortune stalks, along the walks
"So skip the danger zones."

That Aunt Matilda sent
With fingers crossed, I think I've lost
My fear of this event.

I'll show the superstitious
That I am not afraid
With manly tread, I'll forge ahead
Of those who seem dismayed.

Discretion, though, will guide me
If I set out to roam
On second thought, perhaps I ought
To spend the day at home!

Imperial Gallon Larger

U. S. residents visiting Canada who order 10 gallons of gasoline get as much as if they bought 12 gallons in the United States, the gas being sold by the imperial gallon which is larger than the U. S. gallon.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 9 (AP)—Prices turned to the gaining side of the ledger today in a very slow stock market.

Most categories held a fair sprinkling of advances after an uncertain opening in which gains and losses were about even.

There were few price changes of as much as $1 a share, however, and most of the growing number of advances were in the small fraction category.

A number of railroad stocks rose, Northern Pacific as much as $1 at one time. Sante Fe, New York Central, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific all were on the up side, but Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio and Union Pacific remained losers.

Many an eye has turned toward rails in recent weeks since they began leading the market into higher and lower ground.

Dealers said they thought stocks were doing well considering the depressing foreign comment from House Speaker Sam Rayburn.

Rayburn came out of a conference with President Truman, and spoke of "terrible danger" with Russians building up concentrations "everywhere."

Traders also kept a close watch on business inventories being piled up, but many discounted the full warehouses as more than a minor disturbing factor.

France Joins Britain In MacArthur Angle

(By The Associated Press)

France lined up today with Britain in opposing Gen. Douglas MacArthur's suggestion that Nationalist Chinese troops be used against Red China, while in Washington President Truman was reported weighing whether to discipline the outspoken general.

Speaker Rayburn, emerging from a White House conference among the President and Democratic congressional leaders, said the MacArthur controversy came up—but "only incidentally" at the conference. He threw no light on what was said or if anything was decided on the burning issue but added:

"Everywhere two people assemble they talk about MacArthur.

Fire Destroys Barn On Flatbush Road

A barn on the property of Joseph Colao on the Flatbush road just outside the city line was destroyed by fire Sunday morning, Chief Joseph Dyer of Ulster Hose Company No. 5 reported.

A call to fire headquarters in Kingston brought the A. H. Wicks Engine Company and Engine 1 from Central station to the fire at 9:05 a. m. to assist Ulster Hose. Approximately 650 feet of hose was laid by the Wicks company from a hydrant in the city, and water was also pumped from other sources.

The fire started when burning tar paper set fire to a haystack, and that in turn was blown by wind to the barn, firemen said.

More Eggs, Chickens Sold

Albany, N. Y., April 9 (AP)—Farmers in New York state sold more eggs and chickens last year than in 1949, but cash receipts declined. The 1950 sales produced a total of $123,963,000, a drop of eight per cent from the previous year, the State Agriculture Department said yesterday. It attributed the decline to lower prices. A total of 191,833,000 dozen eggs were sold last year, compared to 176,917,000 in 1949. Chicken sales of 26,000,000 were two per cent above the previous year.

Pygmy Baby's Crib Is Trimmed With Woodstock Dress

Woodstock, April 9 — Mr. and Mrs. William J. Eisner, who spend their summers and week-ends at their home on the Glasco Turnpike, have become in the last few years accustomed to the fabulous adventures of their daughter, Mrs. Anne Eisner Putnam who makes her home in the heart of the Belgian Congo. Since Anne's visit here early last summer a host of her Woodstock friends have been awaiting with equal interest the latest accounts of her life amidst the Pygmy tribes, where with her anthropologist husband, Patrick Putnam she runs a hotel, a small zoo, and in fact an entire community.

No one, not even her parents when they bid her farewell last July, could foresee the evidence of the native's faith and confidence in Anne. Some weeks ago a Pygmy came to Anne and Pat with a new-born baby whose mother had died in childbirth. The desperate father had been feeding the infant on banana water. Somewhere in the hotel storeroom, Anne unearthed a case of evaporated milk and from her husband's dispensary retrieved a couple of small medicine droppers with which she fed the undernourished baby.

For the past six weeks or so, Anne wrote her family, she has taken care of the child entirely. She found a small basket from which she fashioned a bassinet trimmed with the flouncing blue calico skirt of an original Woodstock dress which Mrs. Eisner had sent her some time ago.

That the infant has proved as disrupting to their jungle household as any new baby in an ordinary American home, was demonstrated recently when the American consul came to call. For such occasions Anne had saved a Christmas fruit cake sent to her by her mother. Under her new regime Anne found the traditional two a. m. feeding particularly strenuous and had taken to nibbling during the small hours on the fruit cake while giving the Pygmy baby his night-time feeding.

"When I opened the fruit cake," Anne wrote, "to give our distinguished visitor a piece with his tea, it looked as though the mice had been at it!"

The biggest surprise, however, to Anne's parents was her announcement that she had named the baby William J. for her father, as a prefix to the name of the Pygmy tribe to which the baby belongs. Eisner, who has had quite a few babies named for him remarked that "never in my wildest dreams did I ever think that I'd have a Pygmy baby named for me."

Anne, herself, who has had to tear up her curtains to make small diapers, didn't dream either that the expensive French talcum powder which she had purchased in Paris on her return trip would take its place in the jungle nursery.

As for Anne's husband, the new baby will provide an exciting opportunity for him as an anthropologist, to study the little fellow's growth and development.

Not only babies, and prowling tigers which infested the area some months ago, come to the Putman's primitive door. Recently the international automobile races set their course through the district. To attract their attention Anne and Pat brewed a large kettle of coffee by the roadside and stationed the Pygmies in the center of the road poised with bows and arrows performing tribal dances. The roadside show halted the races long enough for the participants to enjoy a steaming cup of coffee and a social hour with the unpredictable Putmans.

Agar Arrested Again

Los Angeles, April 9 (AP)—Actor John Agar, 30, ex-husband of Shirley Temple, has a date in court today, his third in a little more than a year on drunk driving arrests. The actor was booked on suspicion of drunk driving last night in San Fernando Valley and released on $150 bail pending his arraignment. Motorcycle Officer R. A. Walls said he arrested Agar after noticing his car weaving. Another drunk driving charge against Agar has been set for trial July 20. Last April a drunk driving charge against the actor was dismissed but he was fined and given a 30-day suspended sentence for reckless driving.

Indictments Reported

New York, April 9 (AP)—A New York county (Manhattan) grand jury is reported preparing indictments of several fire department members in an alleged $2,500,000 extortion racket. Newspaper reports today said the grand jury probe goes back to 1946. The reports said that builders, contractors and businessmen have testified before the grand jury that they were victims of shakedowns. The investigation started last December when District Attorney Frank S. Hogan seized two truckloads of fire department records, the reports said.

Hearings to Open

Jackson, Miss., April 9 (AP)—A Senate investigating committee opens public hearings today into charges that Mississippi pro-Truman Democrats peddled federal jobs for $300 each. Sen. Clyde Hoey (D.-N. C.), chairman of the Senate Expenditures Subcommittee, said that so far as he knew, this is the first congressional inquiry into statewide distribution of patronage. He said the hearings would be conducted "without regard to persons or political parties." Other committeemen are Sens. John McClellan (D.-Ark.) and Karl Mundt (R.-S. D.).

Central Falls, R. I., April 9 (AP)—Mrs. Olympe Morissette and her hundredth living descendant have the same birthday—90 years apart. Celebrating her 90th anniversary yesterday, Mrs. Morissette explained proudly in an interview that she had 10 surviving children, 42 grandchildren, 44 great-grandchildren and 3 great-great-grandchildren. At that moment a telephone call brought news of the birth of her 45th grandchild.

'Y' Seeks $20,000 In Annual Drive Opening April 26

A fund goal of $20,000 has been set by the Y.M.C.A. this year during the campaign dates of Thursday, April 26, through Monday, May 7, it was announced today by Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Y.

Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston has been named honorary chairman of the general committee while Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk is the honorary chairman of the initial gift committee.

"The $20,000 goal is the minimum amount needed to meet the expenses estimated by the board of directors for the 12 months starting May 1," Rowland said today in announcing plans for the annual financial drive.

Breaking down the drive for finances this year, Rowland pointed out that it has been estimated that more than 60 per cent of the budget may be met with income from regular activity, dormitory and membership features.

"However," he added, "the additional expense necessary for the boys, youth and young men's work can only be continued by contributions made during the last of April and the first part of May."

Others serving on the campaign this year are George H. DeKay, who is general chairman of solicitations, while Lloyd LeFever is in charge of the initial work with a special committee including many directors.

The steering committee for the drive is composed of the Y officers, Rowland, president; A. B. Shufeldt, vice president and Clifford C. Rose, secretary-treasurer.

The campaign will be conducted by the card system.

FLASH! Published Figures Show:

CAMEL'S LEAD IN POPULARITY GREATEST IN 25 YEARS!

America's Smokers Have Made Many Mildness Tests...and Camel Leads All Others by Billions!

After all the cigarette mildness testing by the smokers of America . . . quick tests, trick tests—and the sensible, thorough 30-day Camel mildness test . . . latest published figures reveal that Camel has increased its lead as America's most popular cigarette by billions of cigarettes!

According to these figures, Camel leads by its largest margin in 25 years! Camel is the cigarette that more Americans enjoy than any other!

How Thorough Can a Cigarette Test Be?

You can't find out how well a cigarette agrees with your throat by just one puff or one sniff. It takes steady smoking. Make the one thorough, conclusive test. Smoke only Camels for thirty days. Let your "T-Zone"—T for Throat and T for Taste—tell you how mild, how flavorful Camels are, week in and week out.

In Camels, more people find the two things they want most in their cigarette—flavor and mildness.

No other cigarette has Camel's rich, full flavor — pack after pack. It's a unique flavor of costly tobaccos properly aged and expertly blended.

And no other cigarette offers this conclusive proof of mildness, proof based on steady smoking:

In a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for thirty days, noted throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

It is not unusual to hear people say, "Once a Camel smoker, always a Camel smoker." Through the years, Camel smokers find continuing enjoyment in the mildness and the rich, full flavor of Camels.

MOST POPULAR MAN IN THE MOVIES! JOHN WAYNE was 1950's most popular actor at movie boxoffices. John Wayne's cigarette is America's most popular — Camel! "I've never come across a cigarette that tastes so good ...and Camels agree with my throat!"

America's most popular cigarette... by billions!

Marguerite Piazza's Rise to Fame

Two years ago, things began to happen to beautiful soprano Marguerite Piazza. She got the leading female role in a Broadway musical . . . became the leading singer of one of television's big weekly shows—then won a contract to sing in America's great opera house, the "Met."!

Two years ago was another turning point for Miss Piazza — as a cigarette smoker. She made the Camel 30-day test under the supervision of a noted throat specialist. For 30 days, Miss Piazza smoked only Camels. Each week the specialist examined her throat and reported no throat irritation due to smoking Camels! Miss Piazza has smoked Camels ever since.

WHAT CIGARETTE DO YOU SMOKE, DOCTOR?

Again a leading independent research organization has asked doctors all over the country, doctors in every branch of medicine, this question:

"What cigarette do you smoke, Doctor?"

Again the brand named most was Camel! Yes, according to this repeated nationwide survey, more doctors smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

Smoke the cigarette so many doctors smoke. Smoke Camels for flavor, for mildness, for continuous cigarette enjoyment.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Carey celebrated their 23rd wedding anniversary Sunday.

Mrs. Roland d'Albis will entertain eight guests for dinner Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler Jellinghouse spent the week-end at their Bearsville home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Seinsoth returned to Woodstock Friday night from New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mollenhauer spent last week-end in New York.

Miss Anne Marie Gerosa, of 45 Bogart Place, Yonkers, was married to Edward Howard Caroe of Annandale Friday. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace George J. Braendly at his home in Zena. Witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. John K. Taxor of Harrisburg, Pa.

School Nursery Meeting

Woodstock, April 9—Mrs. Donald Twine has announced that there will be a meeting of the Tinker Street Nursery School Friday, April 13, at 8:30 p. m. in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church. A general invitation has been extended to all parents to attend the meeting. The speaker will be Mrs. Eric Kaeyer, of the Riverdale Country Day School. The topic to be discussed by Mrs. Kaeyer, who is a pre-school teacher, will be announced.

Agar Arrested Again

Los Angeles, April 9 (AP)—Actor John Agar, 30, ex-husband of Shirley Temple, has a date in court today, his third in a little more than a year on drunk driving arrests. The actor was booked on suspicion of drunk driving last night in San Fernando Valley and released on $150 bail pending his arraignment. Motorcycle Officer R. A. Walls said he arrested Agar after noticing his car weaving. Another drunk driving charge against Agar has been set for trial July 20. Last April a drunk driving charge against the actor was dismissed but he was fined and given a 30-day suspended sentence for reckless driving.

Indictments Reported

New York, April 9 (AP)—A New York county (Manhattan) grand jury is reported preparing indictments of several fire department members in an alleged $2,500,000 extortion racket. Newspaper reports today said the grand jury probe goes back to 1946. The reports said that builders, contractors and businessmen have testified before the grand jury that they were victims of shakedowns. The investigation started last December when District Attorney Frank S. Hogan seized two truckloads of fire department records, the reports said.

Hearings to Open

Jackson, Miss., April 9 (AP)—A Senate investigating committee opens public hearings today into charges that Mississippi pro-Truman Democrats peddled federal jobs for $300 each. Sen. Clyde Hoey (D.-N. C.), chairman of the Senate Expenditures Subcommittee, said that so far as he knew, this is the first congressional inquiry into statewide distribution of patronage. He said the hearings would be conducted "without regard to persons or political parties." Other committeemen are Sens. John McClellan (D.-Ark.) and Karl Mundt (R.-S. D.).

Have Same Birthday

Central Falls, R. I., April 9 (AP)—Mrs. Olympe Morissette and her hundredth living descendant have the same birthday—90 years apart. Celebrating her 90th anniversary yesterday, Mrs. Morissette explained proudly in an interview that she had 10 surviving children, 42 grandchildren, 44 great-grandchildren and 3 great-great-grandchildren. At that moment a telephone call brought news of the birth of her 45th grandchild.

'Y' Seeks $20,000 In Annual Drive Opening April 26

A fund goal of $20,000 has been set by the Y.M.C.A. this year during the campaign dates of Thursday, April 26, through Monday, May 7, it was announced today by Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Y.

Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston has been named honorary chairman of the general committee while Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk is the honorary chairman of the initial gift committee.

"The $20,000 goal is the minimum amount needed to meet the expenses estimated by the board of directors for the 12 months starting May 1," Rowland said today in announcing plans for the annual financial drive.

Breaking down the drive for finances this year, Rowland pointed out that it has been estimated that more than 60 per cent of the budget may be met with income from regular activity, dormitory and membership features.

"However," he added, "the additional expense necessary for the boys, youth and young men's work can only be continued by contributions made during the last of April and the first part of May."

Others serving on the campaign this year are George H. DeKay, who is general chairman of solicitations, while Lloyd LeFever is in charge of the initial work with a special committee including many directors.

The steering committee for the drive is composed of the Y officers, Rowland, president; A. B. Shufeldt, vice president and Clifford C. Rose, secretary-treasurer.

The campaign will be conducted by the card system.

FLASH! Published Figures Show:

CAMEL'S LEAD IN POPULARITY GREATEST IN 25 YEARS!

America's Smokers Have Made Many Mildness Tests...and Camel Leads All Others by Billions!

After all the cigarette mildness testing by the smokers of America . . . quick tests, trick tests—and the sensible, thorough 30-day Camel mildness test . . . latest published figures reveal that Camel has increased its lead as America's most popular cigarette by billions of cigarettes!

According to these figures, Camel leads by its largest margin in 25 years! Camel is the cigarette that more Americans enjoy than any other!

How Thorough Can a Cigarette Test Be?

You can't find out how well a cigarette agrees with your throat by just one puff or one sniff. It takes steady smoking. Make the one thorough, conclusive test. Smoke only Camels for thirty days. Let your "T-Zone"—T for Throat and T for Taste—tell you how mild, how flavorful Camels are, week in and week out.

In Camels, more people find the two things they want most in their cigarette—flavor and mildness.

No other cigarette has Camel's rich, full flavor — pack after pack. It's a unique flavor of costly tobaccos properly aged and expertly blended.

And no other cigarette offers this conclusive proof of mildness, proof based on steady smoking:

In a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for thirty days, noted throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

It is not unusual to hear people say, "Once a Camel smoker, always a Camel smoker." Through the years, Camel smokers find continuing enjoyment in the mildness and the rich, full flavor of Camels.

America's most popular cigarette... by billions!

Marguerite Piazza's Rise to Fame

Two years ago, things began to happen to beautiful soprano Marguerite Piazza. She got the leading female role in a Broadway musical . . . became the leading singer of one of television's big weekly shows—then won a contract to sing in America's great opera house, the "Met."!

Two years ago was another turning point for Miss Piazza — as a cigarette smoker. She made the Camel 30-day test under the supervision of a noted throat specialist. For 30 days, Miss Piazza smoked only Camels. Each week the specialist examined her throat and reported no throat irritation due to smoking Camels! Miss Piazza has smoked Camels ever since.

WHAT CIGARETTE DO YOU SMOKE, DOCTOR?

Again a leading independent research organization has asked doctors all over the country, doctors in every branch of medicine, this question:

"What cigarette do you smoke, Doctor?"

Again the brand named most was Camel! Yes, according to this repeated nationwide survey, more doctors smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

More Eggs, Chickens Sold

Albany, N. Y., April 9 (AP)—Farmers in New York state sold more eggs and chickens last year than in 1949, but cash receipts declined. The 1950 sales produced a total of $123,963,000, a drop of eight per cent from the previous year, the State Agriculture Department said yesterday. It attributed the decline to lower prices. A total of 191,833,000 dozen eggs were sold last year, compared to 176,917,000 in 1949. Chicken sales of 26,000,000 were two per cent above the previous year.

Noise Abatement Week

Albany, N. Y., April 9 (AP)—April 15 to 21 will be "Noise Abatement Week" in New York state by proclamation of Governor Dewey.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Pygmy Baby's Crib Is Trimmed With Woodstock Dress

Woodstock, April 9 — Mr. and Mrs. William J. Eisner, who spend their summers and week-ends at their home on the Glasco Turnpike, have become in the last few years accustomed to the fabulous adventures of their daughter, Mrs. Anne Eisner Putnam who makes her home in the heart of the Belgian Congo. Since Anne's visit here early last summer a host of her Woodstock friends have been awaiting with equal interest the latest accounts of her life amidst the Pygmy tribes, where with her anthropologist husband, Patrick Putnam she runs a hotel, a small zoo, and in fact an entire community.

No one, not even her parents when they bid her farewell last July, could foresee the evidence of the native's faith and confidence in Anne. Some weeks ago a Pygmy came to Anne and Pat with a new-born baby whose mother had died in childbirth. The desperate father had been feeding the infant on banana water. Somewhere in the hotel storeroom, Anne unearthed a case of evaporated milk and from her husband's dispensary retrieved a couple of small medicine droppers with which she fed the undernourished baby.

For the past six weeks or so, Anne wrote her family, she has taken care of the child entirely. She found a small basket from which she fashioned a bassinet trimmed with the flouncing blue calico skirt of an original Woodstock dress which Mrs. Eisner had sent her some time ago.

That the infant has proved as disrupting to their jungle household as any new baby in an ordinary American home, was demonstrated recently when the American consul came to call. For such occasions Anne had saved a Christmas fruit cake sent to her by her mother. Under her new regime Anne found the traditional two a. m. feeding particularly strenuous and had taken to nibbling during the small hours on the fruit cake while giving the Pygmy baby his night-time feeding.

"When I opened the fruit cake," Anne wrote, "to give our distinguished visitor a piece with his tea, it looked as though the mice had been at it!"

The biggest surprise, however, to Anne's parents was her announcement that she had named the baby William J. for her father, as a prefix to the name of the Pygmy tribe to which the baby belongs. Eisner, who has had quite a few babies named for him remarked that "never in my wildest dreams did I ever think that I'd have a Pygmy baby named for me."

Anne, herself, who has had to tear up her curtains to make small diapers, didn't dream either that the expensive French talcum powder which she had purchased in Paris on her return trip would take its place in the jungle nursery.

As for Anne's husband, the new baby will provide an exciting opportunity for him as an anthropologist, to study the little fellow's growth and development.

Not only babies, and prowling tigers which infested the area some months ago, come to the Putman's primitive door. Recently the international automobile races set their course through the district. To attract their attention Anne and Pat brewed a large kettle of coffee by the roadside and stationed the Pygmies in the center of the road poised with bows and arrows performing tribal dances. The roadside show halted the races long enough for the participants to enjoy a steaming cup of coffee and a social hour with the unpredictable Putmans.

Agapaes Plan Birthday Party for Members

'BEFORE TIME RUNS OUT'

The United Jewish Appeal is engaged in a desperate race against time—a race that can spell the difference between life and death for hundreds of thousands.

The web of fear and uncertainty that engulfs the entire world is tightening like a hangman's noose around the Jewish populations of Eastern Europe and the Moslem countries.

The fear of oppression, of being cut off from the rest of the free world, of being forever doomed to a life that is no life—this is the fear that the United Jewish Appeal must eradicate this year by:

Rescuing a minimum of 200,000 Jewish men, women and children from danger zones by bringing them to the free, democratic land of Israel;

Constructing 120 new agricultural settlements in Israel and expanding 235 existing ones, for ten thousand newcomer families;

Providing for the needs of 15,000 youngsters under Youth Aliyah care and for 5,000 aged sick and disabled immigrants;

Helping 25,000 Jewish displaced persons from Europe reach the United States, Australia and other democratic havens;

Integrating the 20,000 Jewish immigrants expected to reach this country this year; and

Continuing the shipment of food, clothing and medical supplies to 400,000 impoverished and uprooted Jews in North Africa and European countries.

These herculean tasks confronting the United Jewish Appeal in 1951 are charged with a new element that makes unprecedented action the order of the day.

Since V-E Day, when the supporters of the United Jewish Appeal found themselves faced with the historic responsibility of breathing new life into 1,500,000 shattered, war-devastated Jews who survived the Nazi holocaust, they have worked wonders. They have given new life, new hope to hundreds of thousands . . . have snatched the orphaned, the aged, the ill from certain desolation and death . . . and have helped to bring about the miracle of Israel, to which they have transferred more than 500,000 Jewish men, women and children.

Now, in 1951, the United Jewish Appeal must meet the needs of the Jewish people in an atmosphere of deepening world tension, of deadlines on emigration that, at the whim of governments, may fall at any moment.

While there is still time for us to help, to save the stranded, to rescue the homeless, to rebuild the broken—we must bend every energy to this all-important task.

The city office worker can tell you—the reason he sometimes feels like walking home is because he's too tired to take the bus or subway.

FRUIT OF THE PROBE

The Kefauver Committee, special Senate crime investigation group, has left, in the wake of its travels around the country, flurries of local activity against illegitimate commercialized gambling and other racketeering. These may be as important as any fruits of the committee's work. Or they may have a deadly effect in stifling moves to find deeper remedies for the ailments of law and government which have been partially brought to light.

Some city governments and civic organizations have been stimulated toward cleaning their houses. This trend could grow and spread and have magnificent results if it is pressed vigorously and kept alive with determination. Or the immediate outburst of activity could satisfy the public demand that something be done, and lull the public back into its customary complacent supposition that something adequate has been done.

Which fruit shall the investigation bear? It depends on us, the people. We can voice our indignation and our demands for reform, and having done so can settle back into our easy chairs and wait for another federal investigation. Or we can keep on inquiring into our own local situations; we can relentlessly continue to press for any action that appears to be needed and to ask what has been done and what is being done to make community law enforcement better. If we follow the latter course, we can see to it that the Kefauver probe bears rich fruits.

A good talker may best be measured by his listening ability.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE NATIONAL POLICE FORCE

J. Edgar Hoover has an opportunity to extend his authority, to build his empire hugely, to obtain increased funds from Congress for the F.B.I. Astonishingly, he rejects the prospects. No one ever heard of a Washington bureaucrat refusing more power and more money.

Yet in face of a great demand that something should be done to rescue the country from racketeers, dope peddlers, fixers, crooked politicians and money-hungry middlemen, Hoover said this to the Kefauver committee:

"This nation has no need for a national police force. Cries frequently are heard that America, to meet 'the problems of the day,' must create a master, over-all law enforcement agency, whose authority would extend to every nook and cranny of the nation. I disagree with this attitude. My experience has demonstrated that the present system of law enforcement, national, state and local, is the best system. The peace officer must be the servant of the people—protecting their interests and responding to their will. The law enforcement agency must be an integral part of the community. Otherwise, the American system of democratic government would be defiled."

In all the excitement engendered by the Kefauver investigation, three facts stand out:

1. The law must be enforced, but no matter what the urgency, our civil liberties must not be imperiled and our structural relations between the federal, the state and municipal governments must not be altered.

For many years, many reformers have tried to abolish state governments. At one time, the New Dealers tried to cut the United States into regions which would override the states. These efforts failed, but we can destroy our structure by the careless use of our own enthusiasms. J. Edgar Hoover is to be praised for rejecting a trap which would put him at the head of a gestapo.

2. It is true that the mafia does operate in the United States as the Communist party operates in the United States. Neither of them could operate if the American people were alert and if our officials enforced the law. Hoover said:

"There can be no concealment of the fact that law enforcement has not always performed at peak expectations. The fault is not in the system but in the way it works. The American people, if they desire competent, efficient and effective administration of justice, must be willing to provide financial means; moral support; and a practical realization of the responsibilities of citizenship. A police department, understaffed, underpaid, and ill-equipped, cannot properly fulfill its duties. Lack of public interest may allow a small minority of peace officers, aided and abetted by corrupt politicians, crooked prosecutors and underworld 'fixers,' to bring shame upon the profession. Action is needed, not to revamp the fundamental structure of American law enforcement, but to strengthen, in technical skill, character and esprit de corps, the existing institutions."

In the shift from a rural to an urban population, a serious change took place in the attitude of the American people to civic responsibilities. Shifting populations add to that the characteristics of a rootless people. Public standards toboggan when the public lacks concern.

It is perhaps a pity that, in recent years, we have become so concerned with foreign affairs and wars and the fears of wars that interest in our own affairs has unfortunately shifted, particularly in metropolitan areas where little attention is paid to what is done by public officials.

In fact, in cities like New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, to mention three, elections often hinge on extraneous issues which are in no manner related to a candidate's fitness for the office for which he is running. As long as the people elect an official that way, we shall have poor officials.

3. We have a way of regarding any successful man as a celebrity—even a successful ex-bootlegger or a successful current fixer. J. Edgar Hoover said of this:

". . . Too frequently, when pressures mount in local communities by reason of dissatisfaction with conditions, leaders, either to escape the wrath of citizens or to conceal their own inability to cope with situations, have advanced the alibi that 'this is a job for the federal government.' The time has come to take stock. The federal government can never be a satisfactory substitute for local self-government in the enforcement field."

TREATMENT FOR CROSS-EYE

Eye specialists state that a cross-eyed child should be treated before the age of four, as loss of vision due to cross-eye can then be restored and the eye straightened. This does not mean that the condition cannot be helped after the age of four, but best results are obtained before that age and before starting school.

In Sight-Saving Review, a publication of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Dr. Clement C. Clarke of Yale University points out that the vision of a cross-eyed child is damaged when the child fails to make full use of one eye. With lack of use, vision in the eye is reduced, causing partial blindness. To restore his sight, declares Dr. Clarke, the child must be forced to use the weaker eye. "In severe cases the only method that will restore sight is complete bandaging of the better eye."

This simple method of treatment, making the weak eye stronger by giving it more work, gives excellent results. Dr. Clarke studied the effectiveness of this treatment in 208 children. He found that among children under two years of age, 70 per cent showed improvement. In the 2-to-4 age group, 59 per cent improved their sight. In the 4-to-7 year group, only 12 per cent showed improvement.

From the above figures, Dr. Clarke concludes that "the cases in which the greatest visual improvement was obtained were those in which treatment was begun before the age of four years. If treatment is begun before the age of four and if adequate measures are followed until vision is stabilized, blindness from lack of use of the cross-eye can be prevented."

Fortunately, while the simple method of forcing the child to use the weak eye gives these good results, parents should remember that other forms of treatment are available. Thus at the age of 3-4, treatment consists of the use of drugs to give freedom to muscles controlling vision and the eyeball, together with exercises to strengthen the eye muscles (orthoptics), and also corrective glasses which balance the eyes. This method cures 50 per cent of the cases.

Finally, should the above forms of treatment fail and the youngster still has cross-eye which may cause an "inferiority complex," the cross-eye can be corrected by surgery, which is not so terrible as might be thought. The above information should be of help to parents of a child with cross-eye.

The Sixty-Four Dollar Question

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—At General Eisenhower's headquarters in Paris last month plans were being made to land the 4th Infantry Division at Cherbourg or Havre in a sort of peacetime Normandy beachhead operation and march it up the Champs Elysees as a symbol of American-allied solidarity. At that time the division was scheduled to arrive about the first week in April.

The Senate debate delayed these plans, of course, but this may have been a blessing in disguise. For plans were also under discussion to have the British land their 11th Armored Division in France on the same day that the first American troops arrived; and to have a French division prapared simultaneously to meet them.

This show of solidarity is one of the most important things needed in Europe today. There has been too much arguing over who would supply what; over how many troops this country would furnish against that country.

What Europe and the United States need most is confidence—confidence in each other and confidence in themselves.

The arrival of three divisions—French, British and American—in France for entrainment to Germany at exactly the same time, would give a greater feeling of confidence than any other single gesture.

It is a mistake for the United States to send too many troops to Europe in a hurry, for the Europeans have the impression anyway that we are pushing them into war. It would also be a mistake for France and England not to match our 4th Division immediately, because many Americans have the impression that we are shouldering the whole arms burden.

Therefore, when the 4th Division hits Normandy sometime in late April or early May, it should be the occasion of a great and simultaneous show of mutual confidence—with new French and British divisions joining in a gigantic allied parade up the Champs Elysees.

Campaign Violations

There is a good reason why Republican leaders are suddenly demanding that the Senate probe of the Maryland senatorial campaign be terminated forthwith. Reason is that the sluggish Justice Department is beginning to prick up its ears about possible violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

This was an act put on the statute books in order to keep huge amounts of money from being dumped into congressional and presidential campaigns. The law was written for the excellent reason that when a candidate or political party receives too much dough from any one source—whether big corporation, executive or labor union—that senator tends to be owned by his financial backer.

He votes in the Senate not for the people who voted for him, but for those who contributed to him.

In recent years both Democrats and Republicans have been thumbing their noses at this law. But with the recent cleanups of Democratic Senators Fulbright, Kefauver et al, which have hit the Democrats, there is increasing sentiment for enforcing the Corrupt Practices Act—which may also hit some Republicans.

In Maryland for instance, Charles Tuttle of Rustless Steel gave $8,000 to the GOP-Butler campaign against Senator Tydings. This was in violation of the law, because $5,000 is the top limit of any single contribution. But after the $8,000 item was filed and Butler's headquarters realized that this violated the law, they hurriedly claimed that part of the $8,000 was "just a loan."

Then, on February 27, long after the November election; Jon Jonkel, Chicago-loaned manager for Butler's campaign, suddenly discovered that he had forgot to file around $27,000 in contributions.

It is significant that Jonkel's memory was jogged—five months after the elections—by the fact that a Democratic investigator for the Monroney committee had discovered $27,300 worth of expenditures which the Republicans failed to report. This was on February 17. On February 18 a meeting was held in the hotel apartment of Senator Brewster, chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, attended by Senator Butler, his attorney, and an attorney for the Chicago Tribune's Washington Times-Herald. The latter newspaper was master-minding the anti-Tydings campaign.

It was just after this that Butler's campaign manager (also supplied him by the Chicago Tribune group) suddenly remembered $27,000 of contributions that had slipped his mind back in November. Hurriedly he filed them.

That is why Senators Wherry of Nebraska and Welker of Idaho are vigorously demanding the end of the Maryland probe. But they too seem to have bad memories. For during the 80th GOP-controlled Congress, the Senate held an election probe in Maryland which lasted two years. That time, however, they were investigating Senator O'Conor, a Democrat. Now the Democrats are investigating a Republican—though for only three months, not two years.

Cruisers Win Enemies

Latin-American diplomats are too polite to talk about it publicly, but there has been a lot of private grousing over American stupidity in sending two American cruisers to Argentina just at a time when Dictator Peron was consistently and vigorously kicking Uncle Sam on the shins.

While the State Department also sold two cruisers each to two old friends, Chile and Brazil, unfortunately the two cruisers which Argentina got not only completely nullified the effect of the gestures to Brazil and Chile but made them sore as blazes.

In fact, public opinion in both Brazil and Chile today is probably more critical of the U.S.A. than at any other time, partly because of these cruisers.

"If the United States rewards its critics, as it did Argentina," say a lot of Brazilians, "then perhaps we should be critics too. Apparently the State Department believes in kicking its friends and helping its enemies."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is great temptation, God knows, to fall in behind any public man who gets up and says "we are dealing with a moral problem" and, on that high ground, goes after people in the White House who "accept favors which offend the spirit of the law." I want a mahatma. I want to get saved. You horn the pitch and I will holler "hallelujah" like to bring down rain.

But I am not going to settle for a deep freeze delivered to an ignorant oaf in a soldier suit who honestly doesn't know it is wrong to take lug. I won't settle for a mink mantle given to a babe in the White House to pay off her husband. If Senator Fulbright wants to make time with me, he can't stick up a homemake statue of limitations against the corruption wrought by the God-man whose example was the worst moral disaster in our history. He has got to repudiate with sincere disgust the larcenous part that F. D. Roosevelt played in the dead-beat loans of his son, Elliott, and the use of the White House as a business headquarters by Elliott, Jimmy, La Boca Grande, Hopkins, Howe, and the whole greedy pack of racketeers in public office and popular trust.

Dammit, Fulbright, you can't touch the good in the soul of the American people by ignoring disgraceful facts which they know as well as you do. They hang on your words for assurance that you have got the moral virtue and moral courage to admit that your own party put this scoundrel over and that your henchmen wallowed in the muck and loved it. You are faking, Mr. Fulbright. Go ahead and enjoy the editorials praising you in papers which share the guilt of concealment and try to justify their cowardice by intoning that the man is dead so peace to his soul.

Warren G. Harding is dead. General Grant is dead. Did history forbear to record the vile events of their administrations because it was wrong to speak ill of the dead? Your party was desecrating Harding's grave by ritual as lately as two weeks ago in an effort to mitigate Roosevelt's immortality in office. Except for the hypocricy of this, it was all right with me, though Harding seemed to be the victim, not the instigator, of the scandals of his poor, brief presidency.

Are you trying to tell us, Senator Fulbright, that you blame that girl, an ordinary, Washington-type political female, for taking that idiotic coat, as grotesque as a royal crown on a mildewed bum in a culvert, but have no censure for Eleanor Roosevelt, who took an $8,000 mink coat in much more flagrant circumstances and an aquamarine as big as a dornick worth $42,000? There are your examples your precedents. Are you going to try to drive that woman out of public life?

If you really are wrought up in your soul and brother I have been wrought up for fifteen years, study the shocking betrayal of trust that your party tried in the investigation of Elliott's deadbeat loan of $200,000 from John Hartford on the A. and P. grocery chain. That was real corruption. Roosevelt was dead and the House Ways and Means Committee, being practical men, all knew him for a chief who would swipe the butt of a nickel cigar. So the Democratic majority pulled a fast one to cover up. They decided to call no witness and just read the record of the treasury's investigation, which was a whitewash done slapdash. On this they based a whitewash of their own as rotten as the Tydings whitewash notoriety.

And then, like a passel or push-cart thieves passing the bunch of bananas from hand to hand, on the run, your ways and means committee tried to suppress the testimony. To get away with this without seeming to do it, they issued only a dozen photostat sets of this treasury record, had them dumped on a table and slipped the word to friends of the New Deal to come and get them quick—and keep the dirt out of unfriendly hands. Everyone would be expecting the usual printed document and this trick was intended to suppress the facts which showed up F. D. Roosevelt as a swindler using the president's office and White House phones and stationery. Friends of the management grabbed up most of the photostats, but there had to be three for the press associations which the committee didn't dare withhold. They knew that if they tried to keep the record away from them the fat would be in the fire. On the other hand, they knew that such a long and complex record would never get thorough treatment on the busy wires.

They were right and they were having a good time as I chased all over the hill for a copy of the official text of an inquiry which I had touched off some months before. Nobody knew who got the dozen copies that were dumped on the table in the capitol. Nobody knew where I could get one. Not even Charlie Halleck, the Republican on the committee, could get one or tell me where to try. But—well, I got one and that, Mr. Fulbright, is a rare document, a treasure and a revelation of perfidy unbelievable until your holy guru came to power and loused up our ideals and turned his wife and scamps loose on the country to degrade our homespun, hand-spanked ideals. Look to your guru, Mr. Fulbright, for the precedent for the freezing machine and the $9,000 flogger. Confession and contrition are good for the soul. But you can't drop an iron curtain on the Roosevelt era.

Q—Would an all-aluminum highway bridge be practical?

A—What is believed to be the first all-aluminum highway bridge in the world was recently completed at the aluminum city of Arvida, Quebec. The bridge spans the 300-foot-wide Saguenay river at tidewater and saves a five-mile trip from Arvida to the huge power plant at Shipshaw.

'BEFORE TIME RUNS OUT'

The United Jewish Appeal is engaged in a desperate race against time—a race that can spell the difference between life and death for hundreds of thousands.

The web of fear and uncertainty that engulfs the entire world is tightening like a hangman's noose around the Jewish populations of Eastern Europe and the Moslem countries.

The fear of oppression, of being cut off from the rest of the free world, of being forever doomed to a life that is no life—this is the fear that the United Jewish Appeal must eradicate this year by:

Rescuing a minimum of 200,000 Jewish men, women and children from danger zones by bringing them to the free, democratic land of Israel;

Constructing 120 new agricultural settlements in Israel and expanding 235 existing ones, for ten thousand newcomer families;

Providing for the needs of 15,000 youngsters under Youth Aliyah care and for 5,000 aged sick and disabled immigrants;

Helping 25,000 Jewish displaced persons from Europe reach the United States, Australia and other democratic havens;

Integrating the 20,000 Jewish immigrants expected to reach this country this year; and

Continuing the shipment of food, clothing and medical supplies to 400,000 impoverished and uprooted Jews in North Africa and European countries.

These herculean tasks confronting the United Jewish Appeal in 1951 are charged with a new element that makes unprecedented action the order of the day.

Since V-E Day, when the supporters of the United Jewish Appeal found themselves faced with the historic responsibility of breathing new life into 1,500,000 shattered, war-devastated Jews who survived the Nazi holocaust, they have worked wonders. They have given new life, new hope to hundreds of thousands . . . have snatched the orphaned, the aged, the ill from certain desolation and death . . . and have helped to bring about the miracle of Israel, to which they have transferred more than 500,000 Jewish men, women and children.

Now, in 1951, the United Jewish Appeal must meet the needs of the Jewish people in an atmosphere of deepening world tension, of deadlines on emigration that, at the whim of governments, may fall at any moment.

While there is still time for us to help, to save the stranded, to rescue the homeless, to rebuild the broken—we must bend every energy to this all-important task.

The city office worker can tell you—the reason he sometimes feels like walking home is because he's too tired to take the bus or subway.

FRUIT OF THE PROBE

The Kefauver Committee, special Senate crime investigation group, has left, in the wake of its travels around the country, flurries of local activity against illegitimate commercialized gambling and other racketeering. These may be as important as any fruits of the committee's work. Or they may have a deadly effect in stifling moves to find deeper remedies for the ailments of law and government which have been partially brought to light.

Some city governments and civic organizations have been stimulated toward cleaning their houses. This trend could grow and spread and have magnificent results if it is pressed vigorously and kept alive with determination. Or the immediate outburst of activity could satisfy the public demand that something be done, and lull the public back into its customary complacent supposition that something adequate has been done.

Which fruit shall the investigation bear? It depends on us, the people. We can voice our indignation and our demands for reform, and having done so can settle back into our easy chairs and wait for another federal investigation. Or we can keep on inquiring into our own local situations; we can relentlessly continue to press for any action that appears to be needed and to ask what has been done and what is being done to make community law enforcement better. If we follow the latter course, we can see to it that the Kefauver probe bears rich fruits.

A good talker may best be measured by his listening ability.

'These Days'

THE NATIONAL POLICE FORCE

J. Edgar Hoover has an opportunity to extend his authority, to build his empire hugely, to obtain increased funds from Congress for the F.B.I. Astonishingly, he rejects the prospects. No one ever heard of a Washington bureaucrat refusing more power and more money.

Yet in face of a great demand that something should be done to rescue the country from racketeers, dope peddlers, fixers, crooked politicians and money-hungry middlemen, Hoover said this to the Kefauver committee:

"This nation has no need for a national police force. Cries frequently are heard that America, to meet 'the problems of the day,' must create a master, over-all law enforcement agency, whose authority would extend to every nook and cranny of the nation. I disagree with this attitude. My experience has demonstrated that the present system of law enforcement, national, state and local, is the best system. The peace officer must be the servant of the people—protecting their interests and responding to their will. The law enforcement agency must be an integral part of the community. Otherwise, the American system of democratic government would be defiled."

In all the excitement engendered by the Kefauver investigation, three facts stand out:

1. The law must be enforced, but no matter what the urgency, our civil liberties must not be imperiled and our structural relations between the federal, the state and municipal governments must not be altered.

For many years, many reformers have tried to abolish state governments. At one time, the New Dealers tried to cut the United States into regions which would override the states. These efforts failed, but we can destroy our structure by the careless use of our own enthusiasms. J. Edgar Hoover is to be praised for rejecting a trap which would put him at the head of a gestapo.

2. It is true that the mafia does operate in the United States as the Communist party operates in the United States. Neither of them could operate if the American people were alert and if our officials enforced the law. Hoover said:

"There can be no concealment of the fact that law enforcement has not always performed at peak expectations. The fault is not in the system but in the way it works. The American people, if they desire competent, efficient and effective administration of justice, must be willing to provide financial means; moral support; and a practical realization of the responsibilities of citizenship. A police department, understaffed, underpaid, and ill-equipped, cannot properly fulfill its duties. Lack of public interest may allow a small minority of peace officers, aided and abetted by corrupt politicians, crooked prosecutors and underworld 'fixers,' to bring shame upon the profession. Action is needed, not to revamp the fundamental structure of American law enforcement, but to strengthen, in technical skill, character and esprit de corps, the existing institutions."

In the shift from a rural to an urban population, a serious change took place in the attitude of the American people to civic responsibilities. Shifting populations add to that the characteristics of a rootless people. Public standards toboggan when the public lacks concern.

It is perhaps a pity that, in recent years, we have become so concerned with foreign affairs and wars and the fears of wars that interest in our own affairs has unfortunately shifted, particularly in metropolitan areas where little attention is paid to what is done by public officials.

In fact, in cities like New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, to mention three, elections often hinge on extraneous issues which are in no manner related to a candidate's fitness for the office for which he is running. As long as the people elect an official that way, we shall have poor officials.

3. We have a way of regarding any successful man as a celebrity—even a successful ex-bootlegger or a successful current fixer. J. Edgar Hoover said of this:

". . . Too frequently, when pressures mount in local communities by reason of dissatisfaction with conditions, leaders, either to escape the wrath of citizens or to conceal their own inability to cope with situations, have advanced the alibi that 'this is a job for the federal government.' The time has come to take stock. The federal government can never be a satisfactory substitute for local self-government in the enforcement field."

TREATMENT FOR CROSS-EYE

Eye specialists state that a cross-eyed child should be treated before the age of four, as loss of vision due to cross-eye can then be restored and the eye straightened. This does not mean that the condition cannot be helped after the age of four, but best results are obtained before that age and before starting school.

In Sight-Saving Review, a publication of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Dr. Clement C. Clarke of Yale University points out that the vision of a cross-eyed child is damaged when the child fails to make full use of one eye. With lack of use, vision in the eye is reduced, causing partial blindness. To restore his sight, declares Dr. Clarke, the child must be forced to use the weaker eye. "In severe cases the only method that will restore sight is complete bandaging of the better eye."

This simple method of treatment, making the weak eye stronger by giving it more work, gives excellent results. Dr. Clarke studied the effectiveness of this treatment in 208 children. He found that among children under two years of age, 70 per cent showed improvement. In the 2-to-4 age group, 59 per cent improved their sight. In the 4-to-7 year group, only 12 per cent showed improvement.

From the above figures, Dr. Clarke concludes that "the cases in which the greatest visual improvement was obtained were those in which treatment was begun before the age of four years. If treatment is begun before the age of four and if adequate measures are followed until vision is stabilized, blindness from lack of use of the cross-eye can be prevented."

Fortunately, while the simple method of forcing the child to use the weak eye gives these good results, parents should remember that other forms of treatment are available. Thus at the age of 3-4, treatment consists of the use of drugs to give freedom to muscles controlling vision and the eyeball, together with exercises to strengthen the eye muscles (orthoptics), and also corrective glasses which balance the eyes. This method cures 50 per cent of the cases.

Finally, should the above forms of treatment fail and the youngster still has cross-eye which may cause an "inferiority complex," the cross-eye can be corrected by surgery, which is not so terrible as might be thought. The above information should be of help to parents of a child with cross-eye.

The Sixty-Four Dollar Question

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—At General Eisenhower's headquarters in Paris last month plans were being made to land the 4th Infantry Division at Cherbourg or Havre in a sort of peacetime Normandy beachhead operation and march it up the Champs Elysees as a symbol of American-allied solidarity. At that time the division was scheduled to arrive about the first week in April.

The Senate debate delayed these plans, of course, but this may have been a blessing in disguise. For plans were also under discussion to have the British land their 11th Armored Division in France on the same day that the first American troops arrived; and to have a French division prapared simultaneously to meet them.

This show of solidarity is one of the most important things needed in Europe today. There has been too much arguing over who would supply what; over how many troops this country would furnish against that country.

What Europe and the United States need most is confidence—confidence in each other and confidence in themselves.

The arrival of three divisions—French, British and American—in France for entrainment to Germany at exactly the same time, would give a greater feeling of confidence than any other single gesture.

It is a mistake for the United States to send too many troops to Europe in a hurry, for the Europeans have the impression anyway that we are pushing them into war. It would also be a mistake for France and England not to match our 4th Division immediately, because many Americans have the impression that we are shouldering the whole arms burden.

Therefore, when the 4th Division hits Normandy sometime in late April or early May, it should be the occasion of a great and simultaneous show of mutual confidence—with new French and British divisions joining in a gigantic allied parade up the Champs Elysees.

Campaign Violations

There is a good reason why Republican leaders are suddenly demanding that the Senate probe of the Maryland senatorial campaign be terminated forthwith. Reason is that the sluggish Justice Department is beginning to prick up its ears about possible violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

This was an act put on the statute books in order to keep huge amounts of money from being dumped into congressional and presidential campaigns. The law was written for the excellent reason that when a candidate or political party receives too much dough from any one source—whether big corporation, executive or labor union—that senator tends to be owned by his financial backer.

He votes in the Senate not for the people who voted for him, but for those who contributed to him.

In recent years both Democrats and Republicans have been thumbing their noses at this law. But with the recent cleanups of Democratic Senators Fulbright, Kefauver et al, which have hit the Democrats, there is increasing sentiment for enforcing the Corrupt Practices Act—which may also hit some Republicans.

In Maryland for instance, Charles Tuttle of Rustless Steel gave $8,000 to the GOP-Butler campaign against Senator Tydings. This was in violation of the law, because $5,000 is the top limit of any single contribution. But after the $8,000 item was filed and Butler's headquarters realized that this violated the law, they hurriedly claimed that part of the $8,000 was "just a loan."

Then, on February 27, long after the November election; Jon Jonkel, Chicago-loaned manager for Butler's campaign, suddenly discovered that he had forgot to file around $27,000 in contributions.

It is significant that Jonkel's memory was jogged—five months after the elections—by the fact that a Democratic investigator for the Monroney committee had discovered $27,300 worth of expenditures which the Republicans failed to report. This was on February 17. On February 18 a meeting was held in the hotel apartment of Senator Brewster, chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, attended by Senator Butler, his attorney, and an attorney for the Chicago Tribune's Washington Times-Herald. The latter newspaper was master-minding the anti-Tydings campaign.

It was just after this that Butler's campaign manager (also supplied him by the Chicago Tribune group) suddenly remembered $27,000 of contributions that had slipped his mind back in November. Hurriedly he filed them.

That is why Senators Wherry of Nebraska and Welker of Idaho are vigorously demanding the end of the Maryland probe. But they too seem to have bad memories. For during the 80th GOP-controlled Congress, the Senate held an election probe in Maryland which lasted two years. That time, however, they were investigating Senator O'Conor, a Democrat. Now the Democrats are investigating a Republican—though for only three months, not two years.

Cruisers Win Enemies

Latin-American diplomats are too polite to talk about it publicly, but there has been a lot of private grousing over American stupidity in sending two American cruisers to Argentina just at a time when Dictator Peron was consistently and vigorously kicking Uncle Sam on the shins.

While the State Department also sold two cruisers each to two old friends, Chile and Brazil, unfortunately the two cruisers which Argentina got not only completely nullified the effect of the gestures to Brazil and Chile but made them sore as blazes.

In fact, public opinion in both Brazil and Chile today is probably more critical of the U.S.A. than at any other time, partly because of these cruisers.

"If the United States rewards its critics, as it did Argentina," say a lot of Brazilians, "then perhaps we should be critics too. Apparently the State Department believes in kicking its friends and helping its enemies."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is great temptation, God knows, to fall in behind any public man who gets up and says "we are dealing with a moral problem" and, on that high ground, goes after people in the White House who "accept favors which offend the spirit of the law." I want a mahatma. I want to get saved. You horn the pitch and I will holler "hallelujah" like to bring down rain.

But I am not going to settle for a deep freeze delivered to an ignorant oaf in a soldier suit who honestly doesn't know it is wrong to take lug. I won't settle for a mink mantle given to a babe in the White House to pay off her husband. If Senator Fulbright wants to make time with me, he can't stick up a homemake statue of limitations against the corruption wrought by the God-man whose example was the worst moral disaster in our history. He has got to repudiate with sincere disgust the larcenous part that F. D. Roosevelt played in the dead-beat loans of his son, Elliott, and the use of the White House as a business headquarters by Elliott, Jimmy, La Boca Grande, Hopkins, Howe, and the whole greedy pack of racketeers in public office and popular trust.

Dammit, Fulbright, you can't touch the good in the soul of the American people by ignoring disgraceful facts which they know as well as you do. They hang on your words for assurance that you have got the moral virtue and moral courage to admit that your own party put this scoundrel over and that your henchmen wallowed in the muck and loved it. You are faking, Mr. Fulbright. Go ahead and enjoy the editorials praising you in papers which share the guilt of concealment and try to justify their cowardice by intoning that the man is dead so peace to his soul.

Warren G. Harding is dead. General Grant is dead. Did history forbear to record the vile events of their administrations because it was wrong to speak ill of the dead? Your party was desecrating Harding's grave by ritual as lately as two weeks ago in an effort to mitigate Roosevelt's immortality in office. Except for the hypocricy of this, it was all right with me, though Harding seemed to be the victim, not the instigator, of the scandals of his poor, brief presidency.

Are you trying to tell us, Senator Fulbright, that you blame that girl, an ordinary, Washington-type political female, for taking that idiotic coat, as grotesque as a royal crown on a mildewed bum in a culvert, but have no censure for Eleanor Roosevelt, who took an $8,000 mink coat in much more flagrant circumstances and an aquamarine as big as a dornick worth $42,000? There are your examples, your precedents. Are you going to try to drive that woman out of public life?

If you really are wrought up in your soul and brother I have been wrought up for fifteen years, study the shocking betrayal of trust that your party tried in the investigation of Elliott's deadbeat loan of $200,000 from John Hartford on the A. and P. grocery chain. That was real corruption. Roosevelt was dead and the House Ways and Means Committee, being practical men, all knew him for a chief who would swipe the butt of a nickel cigar. So the Democratic majority pulled a fast one to cover up. They decided to call no witness and just read the record of the treasury's investigation, which was a whitewash done slapdash. On this they based a whitewash of their own as rotten as the Tydings whitewash notoriety.

And then, like a passel or push-cart thieves passing the bunch of bananas from hand to hand, on the run, your ways and means committee tried to suppress the testimony. To get away with this without seeming to do it, they issued only a dozen photostat sets of this treasury record, had them dumped on a table and slipped the word to friends of the New Deal to come and get them quick—and keep the dirt out of unfriendly hands. Everyone would be expecting the usual printed document and this trick was intended to suppress the facts which showed up F. D. Roosevelt as a swindler using the president's office and White House phones and stationery. Friends of the management grabbed up most of the photostats, but there had to be three for the press associations which the committee didn't dare withhold. They knew that if they tried to keep the record away from them the fat would be in the fire. On the other hand, they knew that such a long and complex record would never get thorough treatment on the busy wires.

They were right and they were having a good time as I chased all over the hill for a copy of the official text of an inquiry which I had touched off some months before. Nobody knew who got the dozen copies that were dumped on the table in the capitol. Nobody knew where I could get one. Not even Charlie Halleck, the Republican on the committee, could get one or tell me where to try. But—well, I got one and that, Mr. Fulbright, is a rare document, a treasure and a revelation of perfidy unbelievable until your holy guru came to power and loused up our ideals and turned his wife and scamps loose on the country to degrade our homespun, hand-spanked ideals. Look to your guru, Mr. Fulbright, for the precedent for the freezing machine and the $9,000 flogger. Confession and contrition are good for the soul. But you can't drop an iron curtain on the Roosevelt era.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, April 9— Members of the Olive and Hurley O. S. Baptist Church plan to hold services in the local meetinghouse April 15. Elder Arnold Bellows will preach, April 8, at Newark, Del., as supply pastor for Elder D. V. Spangler of that place, and on April 29 in the Halcottville meetinghouse. Last Sunday, an all-day Baptist meeting was held at the Walter Harrington retsidence in Halcottville.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Chopay, accompanied by their son, George, and Arlene Hoey, all of Long Island, spent the week-end at the home of Mrs. Shopay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Giles. Mr. and Mrs. John Hoey of Queens Village have announced the engagement of Miss Hoey to George Chopay. The young woman is a graduate of Jamaica High School and also studied at Fordham University. She is employed by the New York Telephone Co. George, who has many friends in Shokan, graduated from the Woodrow Wilson Vocational High School in Baisley Park and was a student for two years at the N. Y. State University of applied arts and science. He is a member of the U. S. Naval Reserve and is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The marriage will take place in September.

Allen Hanstein was numbered among the Kingstonians calling in the hub of the reservoir county Wednesday.

Hazel Byrne, now of Kingston, has sold her house at the northwest corner of the Onteora Trail and Ashokan mountain road to Johan Aalto of the Ashokan Reservoir engineering staff. Mr. and Mrs. Aalto have two sons. Mrs. Byrne plans also to sell her summer boarding house on the mountain road.

Wedding anniversaries falling on Friday, April 6 include that of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Martin of Rhinebeck who were married here in 1946. Mrs. Martin is the former Barbara Tuceling of Shokan.

John Hyser, well-known retired reservoir department employe, is again at his home near the Ashokan schoolhouse following a hospital sojourn.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Bostock of Bryn Athyn, Pa., are at their summer home on the heights.

Study Causes of Cancer

Researchers at a world-wide cancer conference in Paris theorized that cancer results from many rather than a single cause. Such factors as degenerative changes in tissue are believed to combine with outside agents of this modern industrial era to cause cancer. Research into cancer's causes is supported by funds from the American Cancer Society. Give to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

Q—Would an all-aluminum highway bridge be practical?

A—What is believed to be the first all-aluminum highway bridge in the world was recently completed at the aluminum city of Arvida, Quebec. The bridge spans the 300-foot-wide Saguenay river at tidewater and saves a five-mile trip from Arvida to the huge power plant at Shipshaw.

'BEFORE TIME RUNS OUT'

The United Jewish Appeal is engaged in a desperate race against time—a race that can spell the difference between life and death for hundreds of thousands.

The web of fear and uncertainty that engulfs the entire world is tightening like a hangman's noose around the Jewish populations of Eastern Europe and the Moslem countries.

The fear of oppression, of being cut off from the rest of the free world, of being forever doomed to a life that is no life—this is the fear that the United Jewish Appeal must eradicate this year by:

Rescuing a minimum of 200,000 Jewish men, women and children from danger zones by bringing them to the free, democratic land of Israel;

Constructing 120 new agricultural settlements in Israel and expanding 235 existing ones, for ten thousand newcomer families;

Providing for the needs of 15,000 youngsters under Youth Aliyah care and for 5,000 aged sick and disabled immigrants;

Helping 25,000 Jewish displaced persons from Europe reach the United States, Australia and other democratic havens;

Integrating the 20,000 Jewish immigrants expected to reach this country this year; and

Continuing the shipment of food, clothing and medical supplies to 400,000 impoverished and uprooted Jews in North Africa and European countries.

These herculean tasks confronting the United Jewish Appeal in 1951 are charged with a new element that makes unprecedented action the order of the day.

Since V-E Day, when the supporters of the United Jewish Appeal found themselves faced with the historic responsibility of breathing new life into 1,500,000 shattered, war-devastated Jews who survived the Nazi holocaust, they have worked wonders. They have given new life, new hope to hundreds of thousands . . . have snatched the orphaned, the aged, the ill from certain desolation and death . . . and have helped to bring about the miracle of Israel, to which they have transferred more than 500,000 Jewish men, women and children.

Now, in 1951, the United Jewish Appeal must meet the needs of the Jewish people in an atmosphere of deepening world tension, of deadlines on emigration that, at the whim of governments, may fall at any moment.

While there is still time for us to help, to save the stranded, to rescue the homeless, to rebuild the broken—we must bend every energy to this all-important task.

The city office worker can tell you—the reason he sometimes feels like walking home is because he's too tired to take the bus or subway.

FRUIT OF THE PROBE

The Kefauver Committee, special Senate crime investigation group, has left, in the wake of its travels around the country, flurries of local activity against illegitimate commercialized gambling and other racketeering. These may be as important as any fruits of the committee's work. Or they may have a deadly effect in stifling moves to find deeper remedies for the ailments of law and government which have been partially brought to light.

Some city governments and civic organizations have been stimulated toward cleaning their houses. This trend could grow and spread and have magnificent results if it is pressed vigorously and kept alive with determination. Or the immediate outburst of activity could satisfy the public demand that something be done, and lull the public back into its customary complacent supposition that something adequate has been done.

Which fruit shall the investigation bear? It depends on us, the people. We can voice our indignation and our demands for reform, and having done so can settle back into our easy chairs and wait for another federal investigation. Or we can keep on inquiring into our own local situations; we can relentlessly continue to press for any action that appears to be needed and to ask what has been done and what is being done to make community law enforcement better. If we follow the latter course, we can see to it that the Kefauver probe bears rich fruits.

A good talker may best be measured by his listening ability.

'These Days'

THE NATIONAL POLICE FORCE

J. Edgar Hoover has an opportunity to extend his authority, to build his empire hugely, to obtain increased funds from Congress for the F.B.I. Astonishingly, he rejects the prospects. No one ever heard of a Washington bureaucrat refusing more power and more money.

Yet in face of a great demand that something should be done to rescue the country from racketeers, dope peddlers, fixers, crooked politicians and money-hungry middlemen, Hoover said this to the Kefauver committee:

"This nation has no need for a national police force. Cries frequently are heard that America, to meet 'the problems of the day,' must create a master, over-all law enforcement agency, whose authority would extend to every nook and cranny of the nation. I disagree with this attitude. My experience has demonstrated that the present system of law enforcement, national, state and local, is the best system. The peace officer must be the servant of the people—protecting their interests and responding to their will. The law enforcement agency must be an integral part of the community. Otherwise, the American system of democratic government would be defiled."

In all the excitement engendered by the Kefauver investigation, three facts stand out:

1. The law must be enforced, but no matter what the urgency, our civil liberties must not be imperiled and our structural relations between the federal, the state and municipal governments must not be altered.

For many years, many reformers have tried to abolish state governments. At one time, the New Dealers tried to cut the United States into regions which would override the states. These efforts failed, but we can destroy our structure by the careless use of our own enthusiasms. J. Edgar Hoover is to be praised for rejecting a trap which would put him at the head of a gestapo.

2. It is true that the mafia does operate in the United States as the Communist party operates in the United States. Neither of them could operate if the American people were alert and if our officials enforced the law. Hoover said:

"There can be no concealment of the fact that law enforcement has not always performed at peak expectations. The fault is not in the system but in the way it works. The American people, if they desire competent, efficient and effective administration of justice, must be willing to provide financial means; moral support; and a practical realization of the responsibilities of citizenship. A police department, understaffed, underpaid, and ill-equipped, cannot properly fulfill its duties. Lack of public interest may allow a small minority of peace officers, aided and abetted by corrupt politicians, crooked prosecutors and underworld 'fixers,' to bring shame upon the profession. Action is needed, not to revamp the fundamental structure of American law enforcement, but to strengthen, in technical skill, character and esprit de corps, the existing institutions."

In the shift from a rural to an urban population, a serious change took place in the attitude of the American people to civic responsibilities. Shifting populations add to that the characteristics of a rootless people. Public standards toboggan when the public lacks concern.

It is perhaps a pity that, in recent years, we have become so concerned with foreign affairs and wars and the fears of wars that interest in our own affairs has unfortunately shifted, particularly in metropolitan areas where little attention is paid to what is done by public officials.

In fact, in cities like New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, to mention three, elections often hinge on extraneous issues which are in no manner related to a candidate's fitness for the office for which he is running. As long as the people elect an official that way, we shall have poor officials.

3. We have a way of regarding any successful man as a celebrity—even a successful ex-bootlegger or a successful current fixer. J. Edgar Hoover said of this:

". . . Too frequently, when pressures mount in local communities by reason of dissatisfaction with conditions, leaders, either to escape the wrath of citizens or to conceal their own inability to cope with situations, have advanced the alibi that 'this is a job for the federal government.' The time has come to take stock. The federal government can never be a satisfactory substitute for local self-government in the enforcement field."

TREATMENT FOR CROSS-EYE

Eye specialists state that a cross-eyed child should be treated before the age of four, as loss of vision due to cross-eye can then be restored and the eye straightened. This does not mean that the condition cannot be helped after the age of four, but best results are obtained before that age and before starting school.

In Sight-Saving Review, a publication of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Dr. Clement C. Clarke of Yale University points out that the vision of a cross-eyed child is damaged when the child fails to make full use of one eye. With lack of use, vision in the eye is reduced, causing partial blindness. To restore his sight, declares Dr. Clarke, the child must be forced to use the weaker eye. "In severe cases the only method that will restore sight is complete bandaging of the better eye."

This simple method of treatment, making the weak eye stronger by giving it more work, gives excellent results. Dr. Clarke studied the effectiveness of this treatment in 208 children. He found that among children under two years of age, 70 per cent showed improvement. In the 2-to-4 age group, 59 per cent improved their sight. In the 4-to-7 year group, only 12 per cent showed improvement.

From the above figures, Dr. Clarke concludes that "the cases in which the greatest visual improvement was obtained were those in which treatment was begun before the age of four years. If treatment is begun before the age of four and if adequate measures are followed until vision is stabilized, blindness from lack of use of the cross-eye can be prevented."

Fortunately, while the simple method of forcing the child to use the weak eye gives these good results, parents should remember that other forms of treatment are available. Thus at the age of 3-4, treatment consists of the use of drugs to give freedom to muscles controlling vision and the eyeball, together with exercises to strengthen the eye muscles (orthoptics), and also corrective glasses which balance the eyes. This method cures 50 per cent of the cases.

Finally, should the above forms of treatment fail and the youngster still has cross-eye which may cause an "inferiority complex," the cross-eye can be corrected by surgery, which is not so terrible as might be thought. The above information should be of help to parents of a child with cross-eye.

The Sixty-Four Dollar Question

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—At General Eisenhower's headquarters in Paris last month plans were being made to land the 4th Infantry Division at Cherbourg or Havre in a sort of peacetime Normandy beachhead operation and march it up the Champs Elysees as a symbol of American-allied solidarity. At that time the division was scheduled to arrive about the first week in April.

The Senate debate delayed these plans, of course, but this may have been a blessing in disguise. For plans were also under discussion to have the British land their 11th Armored Division in France on the same day that the first American troops arrived; and to have a French division prapared simultaneously to meet them.

This show of solidarity is one of the most important things needed in Europe today. There has been too much arguing over who would supply what; over how many troops this country would furnish against that country.

What Europe and the United States need most is confidence—confidence in each other and confidence in themselves.

The arrival of three divisions—French, British and American—in France for entrainment to Germany at exactly the same time, would give a greater feeling of confidence than any other single gesture.

It is a mistake for the United States to send too many troops to Europe in a hurry, for the Europeans have the impression anyway that we are pushing them into war. It would also be a mistake for France and England not to match our 4th Division immediately, because many Americans have the impression that we are shouldering the whole arms burden.

Therefore, when the 4th Division hits Normandy sometime in late April or early May, it should be the occasion of a great and simultaneous show of mutual confidence—with new French and British divisions joining in a gigantic allied parade up the Champs Elysees.

Campaign Violations

There is a good reason why Republican leaders are suddenly demanding that the Senate probe of the Maryland senatorial campaign be terminated forthwith. Reason is that the sluggish Justice Department is beginning to prick up its ears about possible violation of the Corrupt Practices Act.

This was an act put on the statute books in order to keep huge amounts of money from being dumped into congressional and presidential campaigns. The law was written for the excellent reason that when a candidate or political party receives too much dough from any one source—whether big corporation, executive or labor union—that senator tends to be owned by his financial backer.

He votes in the Senate not for the people who voted for him, but for those who contributed to him.

In recent years both Democrats and Republicans have been thumbing their noses at this law. But with the recent cleanups of Democratic Senators Fulbright, Kefauver et al, which have hit the Democrats, there is increasing sentiment for enforcing the Corrupt Practices Act—which may also hit some Republicans.

In Maryland for instance, Charles Tuttle of Rustless Steel gave $8,000 to the GOP-Butler campaign against Senator Tydings. This was in violation of the law, because $5,000 is the top limit of any single contribution. But after the $8,000 item was filed and Butler's headquarters realized that this violated the law, they hurriedly claimed that part of the $8,000 was "just a loan."

Then, on February 27, long after the November election, Jon Jonkel, Chicago-loaned manager for Butler's campaign, suddenly discovered that he had forgot to file around $27,000 in contributions.

It is significant that Jonkel's memory was jogged—five months after the elections—by the fact that a Democratic investigator for the Monroney committee had discovered $27,300 worth of expenditures which the Republicans failed to report. This was on February 17. On February 18 a meeting was held in the hotel apartment of Senator Brewster, chairman of the GOP Senate Campaign Committee, attended by Senator Butler, his attorney, and an attorney for the Chicago Tribune's Washington Times-Herald. The latter newspaper was master-minding the anti-Tydings campaign.

It was just after this that Butler's campaign manager (also supplied him by the Chicago Tribune group) suddenly remembered $27,000 of contributions that had slipped his mind back in November. Hurriedly he filed them.

That is why Senators Wherry of Nebraska and Welker of Idaho are vigorously demanding the end of the Maryland probe. But they too seem to have bad memories. For during the 80th GOP-controlled Congress, the Senate held an election probe in Maryland which lasted two years. That time, however, they were investigating Senator O'Conor, a Democrat. Now the Democrats are investigating a Republican—though for only three months, not two years.

Latin-American diplomats are too polite to talk about it publicly, but there has been a lot of private grousing over American stupidity in sending two American cruisers to Argentina just at a time when Dictator Peron was consistently and vigorously kicking Uncle Sam on the shins.

While the State Department also sold two cruisers each to two old friends, Chile and Brazil, unfortunately the two cruisers which Argentina got not only completely nullified the effect of the gestures to Brazil and Chile but made them sore as blazes.

In fact, public opinion in both Brazil and Chile today is probably more critical of the U.S.A. than at any other time, partly because of these cruisers.

"If the United States rewards its critics, as it did Argentina," say a lot of Brazilians, "then perhaps we should be critics too. Apparently the State Department believes in kicking its friends and helping its enemies."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is great temptation, God knows, to fall in behind any public man who gets up and says "we are dealing with a moral problem" and, on that high ground, goes after people in the White House who "accept favors which offend the spirit of the law." I want a mahatma. I want to get saved. You horn the pitch and I will holler "hallelujah" like to bring down rain.

But I am not going to settle for a deep freeze delivered to an ignorant oaf in a soldier suit who honestly doesn't know it is wrong to take lug. I won't settle for a mink mantle given to a babe in the White House to pay off her husband. If Senator Fulbright wants to make time with me, he can't stick up a homemake statue of limitations against the corruption wrought by the God-man whose example was the worst moral disaster in our history. He has got to repudiate with sincere disgust the larcenous part that F. D. Roosevelt played in the dead-beat loans of his son, Elliott, and the use of the White House as a business headquarters by Elliott, Jimmy, La Boca Grande, Hopkins, Howe, and the whole greedy pack of racketeers in public office and popular trust.

Dammit, Fulbright, you can't touch the good in the soul of the American people by ignoring disgraceful facts which they know as well as you do. They hang on your words for assurance that you have got the moral virtue and moral courage to admit that your own party put this scoundrel over and that your henchmen wallowed in the muck and loved it. You are faking, Mr. Fulbright. Go ahead and enjoy the editorials praising you in papers which share the guilt of concealment and try to justify their cowardice by intoning that the man is dead so peace to his soul.

Warren G. Harding is dead. General Grant is dead. Did history forbear to record the vile events of their administrations because it was wrong to speak ill of the dead? Your party was desecrating Harding's grave by ritual as lately as two weeks ago in an effort to mitigate Roosevelt's immortality in office. Except for the hypocricy of this, it was all right with me, though Harding seemed to be the victim, not the instigator, of the scandals of his poor, brief presidency.

Are you trying to tell us, Senator Fulbright, that you blame that girl, an ordinary, Washington-type political female, for taking that idiotic coat, as grotesque as a royal crown on a mildewed bum in a culvert, but have no censure for Eleanor Roosevelt, who took an $8,000 mink coat in much more flagrant circumstances and an aquamarine as big as a dornick worth $42,000? There are your examples, your precedents. Are you going to try to drive that woman out of public life?

If you really are wrought up in your soul and brother I have been wrought up for fifteen years, study the shocking betrayal of trust that your party tried in the investigation of Elliott's deadbeat loan of $200,000 from John Hartford on the A. and P. grocery chain. That was real corruption. Roosevelt was dead and the House Ways and Means Committee, being practical men, all knew him for a chief who would swipe the butt of a nickel cigar. So the Democratic majority pulled a fast one to cover up. They decided to call no witness and just read the record of the treasury's investigation, which was a whitewash done slapdash. On this they based a whitewash of their own as rotten as the Tydings whitewash notoriety.

And then, like a passel or push-cart thieves passing the bunch of bananas from hand to hand, on the run, your ways and means committee tried to suppress the testimony. To get away with this without seeming to do it, they issued only a dozen photostat sets of this treasury record, had them dumped on a table and slipped the word to friends of the New Deal to come and get them quick—and keep the dirt out of unfriendly hands. Everyone would be expecting the usual printed document and this trick was intended to suppress the facts which showed up F. D. Roosevelt as a swindler using the president's office and White House phones and stationery. Friends of the management grabbed up most of the photostats, but there had to be three for the press associations which the committee didn't dare withhold. They knew that if they tried to keep the record away from them the fat would be in the fire. On the other hand, they knew that such a long and complex record would never get thorough treatment on the busy wires.

They were right and they were having a good time as I chased all over the hill for a copy of the official text of an inquiry which I had touched off some months before. Nobody knew who got the dozen copies that were dumped on the table in the capitol. Nobody knew where I could get one. Not even Charlie Halleck, the Republican on the committee, could get one or tell me where to try. But—well, I got one and that, Mr. Fulbright, is a rare document, a treasure and a revelation of perfidy unbelievable until your holy guru came to power and loused up our ideals and turned his wife and scamps loose on the country to degrade our homespun, hand-spanked ideals. Look to your guru, Mr. Fulbright, for the precedent for the freezing machine and the $9,000 flogger. Confession and contrition are good for the soul. But you can't drop an iron curtain on the Roosevelt era.

Study Causes of Cancer

Researchers at a world-wide cancer conference in Paris theorized that cancer results from many rather than a single cause. Such factors as degenerative changes in tissue are believed to combine with outside agents of this modern industrial era to cause cancer. Research into cancer's causes is supported by funds from the American Cancer Society. Give to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

Proposed Hikes Fought

New York, April 9 (AP)—Proposed hikes in federal taxes on automobiles and gasoline are being fought by the Automobile Club of New York. The club takes the position that the increases would impose a disproportionate burden on lower-income groups. The club announced last night it had joined 750 other member clubs of the American Automobile Association in objecting to the Treasury Department's proposal. The department has proposed that the federal gasoline tax be increased from one and one-half to three cents a gallon, and the excise tax on new cars from the present seven per cent to 20 per cent.

You Can Even Choose It for Economy!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

It is true, of course, that when men and women move up to Cadillac, their motivating thought is not economy. Their hearts are set on owning the "Standard of the World."

But if they needed another impulse to move them to Cadillac, it could certainly be found in the car's remarkable record for practicality.

Even on the basis of its initial cost, a Cadillac represents a surprisingly sound automotive investment. Indeed, some half million American motorists are driving other makes of cars which actually cost them more than they would have had to invest if they had purchased new Cadillacs!

And the surprise is no less when you look to the everyday aspects of Cadillac's economy. Few could ask for greater mileage from a gallon of gasoline. And the car's freedom from the needs of service—beyond the routine—has long been traditional.

And finally, of course, is Cadillac's tremendous capacity to serve—the years and years and years of wonderful utility designed and built into it.

Yes—when you want a Cadillac, you want it for what it is, and does, and represents. But what an added satisfaction it is to reflect that it is also so eminently practical!

We deeply regret that we are unable to deliver new Cadillac cars without some delay. But the demand for the car is unprecedented—and much of the company's energies and materials are now being devoted to the needs of national security. Once the car is delivered into your hands, however, we know you'll agree that—patience never brought a richer reward.

Proposed Hikes Fought

New York, April 9 (AP)—Proposed hikes in federal taxes on automobiles and gasoline are being fought by the Automobile Club of New York. The club takes the position that the increases would impose a disproportionate burden on lower-income groups. The club announced last night it had joined 750 other member clubs of the American Automobile Association in objecting to the Treasury Department's proposal. The department has proposed that the federal gasoline tax be increased from one and one-half to three cents a gallon, and the excise tax on new cars from the present seven per cent to 20 per cent.

You Can Even Choose It for Economy!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

It is true, of course, that when men and women move up to Cadillac, their motivating thought is not economy. Their hearts are set on owning the "Standard of the World."

But if they needed another impulse to move them to Cadillac, it could certainly be found in the car's remarkable record for practicality.

Even on the basis of its initial cost, a Cadillac represents a surprisingly sound automotive investment. Indeed, some half million American motorists are driving other makes of cars which actually cost them more than they would have had to invest if they had purchased new Cadillacs!

And the surprise is no less when you look to the everyday aspects of Cadillac's economy. Few could ask for greater mileage from a gallon of gasoline. And the car's freedom from the needs of service—beyond the routine—has long been traditional.

And finally, of course, is Cadillac's tremendous capacity to serve—the years and years and years of wonderful utility designed and built into it.

Yes—when you want a Cadillac, you want it for what it is, and does, and represents. But what an added satisfaction it is to reflect that it is also so eminently practical!

We deeply regret that we are unable to deliver new Cadillac cars without some delay. But the demand for the car is unprecedented—and much of the company's energies and materials are now being devoted to the needs of national security. Once the car is delivered into your hands, however, we know you'll agree that—patience never brought a richer reward.

Proposed Hikes Fought

New York, April 9 (AP)—Proposed hikes in federal taxes on automobiles and gasoline are being fought by the Automobile Club of New York. The club takes the position that the increases would impose a disproportionate burden on lower-income groups. The club announced last night it had joined 750 other member clubs of the American Automobile Association in objecting to the Treasury Department's proposal. The department has proposed that the federal gasoline tax be increased from one and one-half to three cents a gallon, and the excise tax on new cars from the present seven per cent to 20 per cent.

You Can Even Choose It for Economy!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

It is true, of course, that when men and women move up to Cadillac, their motivating thought is not economy. Their hearts are set on owning the "Standard of the World."

But if they needed another impulse to move them to Cadillac, it could certainly be found in the car's remarkable record for practicality.

Even on the basis of its initial cost, a Cadillac represents a surprisingly sound automotive investment. Indeed, some half million American motorists are driving other makes of cars which actually cost them more than they would have had to invest if they had purchased new Cadillacs!

And the surprise is no less when you look to the everyday aspects of Cadillac's economy. Few could ask for greater mileage from a gallon of gasoline. And the car's freedom from the needs of service—beyond the routine—has long been traditional.

And finally, of course, is Cadillac's tremendous capacity to serve—the years and years and years of wonderful utility designed and built into it.

Yes—when you want a Cadillac, you want it for what it is, and does, and represents. But what an added satisfaction it is to reflect that it is also so eminently practical!

We deeply regret that we are unable to deliver new Cadillac cars without some delay. But the demand for the car is unprecedented—and much of the company's energies and materials are now being devoted to the needs of national security. Once the car is delivered into your hands, however, we know you'll agree that—patience never brought a richer reward.

Young Man Gives Life

Houlka, Miss., April 9 (AP)—A young man gave his life to save his girl friend from drowning. Charles Young, 25, of Jackson, Miss., sank from sight in a lake near here yesterday when rescuers lifted Miss Joyce Plunkett of Amory, Miss., from his arms. He had kept her afloat for 15 minutes after their boat overturned. Rescuers who saved the girl said Young apparently was exhausted by his long struggle. Despite extensive search, the body was not recovered.

Damascus is said to be the oldest city in the world.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE

The ordinance published herewith has been adopted on the 3rd day of April, 1951, and the validity of the obligations authorized by such ordinance may be hereafter contested only if such obligations were authorized for an object or purpose for which the City of Kingston, New York is not authorized to expend money or if the provisions of law which should have been complied with as of the date of publication of this notice were not substantially complied with, and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the publication of this notice, or such obligations were authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

BERNHARDT S. KRAMER
City Clerk

BOND ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., ADOPTED APRIL 3, 1951, AUTHORIZING THE PURCHASE OF TWO FIRE-FIGHTING VEHICLES, AT AN ESTIMATED COST OF $20,000 AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $17,500 SERIAL BONDS OF THE CITY TO MEET THE PORTION OF THE COST NOT MET BY THE DOWN PAYMENT OF $2,500.

THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK, CONVENED IN REGULAR SESSION, HEREBY ORDAINS (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) as follows:

Section 1. The purchase of two fire-fighting motor vehicles to be used for fighting fires, each including apparatus used in connection with such motor vehicles, at a purchase price not to exceed $20,000, is hereby authorized, one of each of such fire trucks for the use of the Rapid Hose Company and one for the use of the Cordts Hose Company. The estimate of the maximum cost of said purchase, including cost of financing and other incidental costs is $20,000 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefor. The plan of financing includes the down payment referred to in Section 3 hereof, the issuance of serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $17,500 to finance the remainder of the appropriation, and the levy of a tax upon all the taxable real property in the city to pay the principal of said bonds and the interest thereon.

Sec. 2. Serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $17,500 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, as amended.

Sec. 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The cost of each one of the pieces of motor vehicles will not be in excess of $10,000 each and, in consequence, the period of probable usefulness of the specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this resolution are to be issued within the limitations of Section 11.00 a. 27 of said Local Finance Law is five (5) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided prior to the issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance in an amount equal to at least twelve per centum (12%) of the estimated cost and such current funds have already been provided in the amount of $2,500 by appropriation in the budget of the City for the fiscal year 1951 under the caption "10% of capital improvements $20,000" and the said sum of $2,500 is hereby authorized to be withdrawn from the said budget appropriation and shall be applied to the said object or purpose described in Section 1 hereof.

Sec. 4. It is hereby stated that each of the bonds authorized by this ordinance shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by §52.00 of said Local Finance Law and said bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by a general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City, without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City of Kingston are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds and provision shall be made annually in the budgets of the City by appropriation for (a) the amortization and redemption of the bonds to mature in such year and (b) the payment of interest to be due and payable in such year.

Sec. 5. Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and pursuant to §30.00 of said Local Finance Law relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of §50.00 and §§56.00 to 60.00 of said Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance and of any notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds, are hereby delegated to the Treasurer of the City as the chief fiscal officer of the City.

Sec. 6. The validity of the bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or

(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance, are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall be published at least twice in the "Kingston Daily Freeman" and the "Ulster County News and Kingston Leader," together with a notice prescribed by §81.00 of the Local Finance Law appended by the City Clerk (which newspapers are allied to and support the two political parties which cast the greater number of votes at the preceding general election and are the official newspapers of the City), and shall take effect immediately after such publication.

Submitted to the Mayor by the City Clerk on the 5th day of April, 1951.

Kauder Chickens Place High in Laying Tests

Reports from the official laying tests of America again indicate that chickens from Ulster county rank with the best.

In an official release from tests conducted by Storrs International in Connecticut, a Leghorn pen bred by Irving Kauder of New Paltz, placed first for its breed.

A Kauder Leghorn also placed first for her breed at the Storrs' test.

Reports from the Rhode Island tests also indicate that other Kauder birds have made impressive records to date. A Leghorn pen at this test not only placed first for its breed but it also was the high white Leghorn pen among all official laying tests in the United States, of which there are 15. Also at Rhode Island, a Kauder hen placed first for her breed and first for all breeds.

Thus far in 1951 tests, it was reported, Kauder entries are said to be the highest Leghorn average for all birds entered of any breeder.

Reds Assail Anti-Semitism

Vienna, (AP)—Anti-Semitic hooliganism still exists in Communist Romania. The Bucharest newspaper "Biata Noua" said: "In Galatzi, a gang of seven anti-Semitic hooligans attacked some citizens, most of whom were Jewish workers. Although they succeeded in getting away, the Fascist hooligans yere identified and sent before the courts."

City Clerk

BOND ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., ADOPTED APRIL 3, 1951, AUTHORIZING THE PURCHASE OF MACHINERY AND APPARATUS FOR HIGHWAY CONSTRUCTION OR MAINTENANCE, INCLUSIVE OF SNOW REMOVAL, AT AN ESTIMATED COST OF $55,391.73 AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $48,500 SERIAL BONDS OF THE CITY TO MEET THE PORTION OF THE COST NOT MET BY THE DOWN PAYMENT OF $6,891.73.

THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK, CONVENED IN REGULAR SESSION, HEREBY ORDAINS (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) as follows:

Section 1. The purchase of machinery and apparatus for highway construction or maintenance, inclusive of snow removal, for the use of the Board of Public Works of the City of Kingston, N. Y. is hereby authorized. The estimate of the maximum cost of said purchase is $55,391.73 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefor. The plan of financing includes the down payment referred to in Section 3 hereof, the issuance of serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $48,500 to finance the remainder of the appropriation, and the levy of a tax upon all the taxable real property in the City to pay the principal of said bonds and the interest thereon.

Sec. 2. Serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $48,500 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, as amended.

Sec. 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The period of probable usefulness of the specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this ordinance are to be issued, within the limitations of Section 11.00 a. 28 of said Local Finance Law, is five (5) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided prior to the issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance in an amount equal to at least twelve per centum (12%) of the estimated cost and such current funds have already been provided in the amount of $6,891.73 by appropriation in the budget of the City for the fiscal year 1951 under the caption "10% of capital improvements $20,000" and the said sum of $6,891.73 is hereby authorized to be withdrawn from the said budget appropriation and shall be applied to the said object or purpose described in Section 1 hereof.

Sec. 4. It is hereby stated that each of the bonds authorized by this ordinance shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by §52.00 of said Local Finance Law and said bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by a general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City, without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City of Kingston are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds and provision shall be made annually in the budgets of the City by appropriation for (a) the amortization and redemption of the bonds to mature in such year and (b) the payment of interest to be due and payable in such year.

Sec. 5 Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and pursuant to §30.00 of said Local Finance Law relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of §50.00 and §§56.00 to 60.00 of said Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance and of any notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds, are hereby delegated to the Treasurer of the City as the chief fiscal officer of the City.

Sec. 6. The validity of the bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or

(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance, are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall be published at least twice in the "Kingston Daily Freeman" and the "Ulster County News and Kingston Leader," together with a notice prescribed by §81.00 of the Local Finance Law appended by the City Clerk (which newspapers are allied to and support the two political parties which cast the greater number of votes at the preceding general election and are the official newspapers of the City), and shall take effect immediately after such publication.

Submitted to the Mayor by the City Clerk on the 5th day of April, 1951.

Sometimes you see a bridge player staring up at the ceiling while everybody waits for him to make a play. What is he looking for? Inspiration. What should he be doing? Acting on the basis of knowledge instead of waiting for a sudden flash from a kindly Providence.

For example, the hand shown today would find many average players scanning the ceiling or scratching their heads. The expert acts as though there were nothing to think about.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the six of spades, East put up the queen, and South won with the ace. Expert West knew at once that South had the jack of spades, since East would have played the jack rather than the queen if he had been able to do so.

South led a diamond, West played low, and dummy won with the king. Dummy returned a heart, and South won with the king. South led another diamond, and West made the right play without a thought or a care in the world.

The average West would fret and stew about whether to put up the ace of diamonds or whether to hold off a second time. If he decided to "play safe" by holding off, declarer would romp home with nine tricks: one spade, two hearts, two diamonds, and four clubs.

The actual West player, an expert, put up the ace of diamonds without hesitation because on the first round of diamonds East had played the three. This was the lowest diamond that East could hold, and East would have played his higher diamond if he had held only two diamonds.

From East's failure to play a high diamond it was clear that he had exactly three diamonds. Hence West could count the entire suit and could know that South had started the hand with only two diamonds. With this knowledge to guide him, West needed no inspiration; he could take the ace of diamonds on the second round of the suit.

West then returned a heart, (although even a club return would have been safe). South could not develop nine tricks without trying for a low-card trick in hearts, but when East got in with the queen of hearts he returned a spade. This gave West three spade tricks to defeat the contract.

Will Use Hotel as Hospital

Miami, Fla., April 9 (AP)—The Miami Herald said today the army is reported preparing to take over the Fleetwood Hotel on Miami Beach for use as a hospital to treat Korean war casualties. The Herald said a rental of $100,000 a year was the amount on which a lease is being negotiated, and May 1 is set for taking over the 330-room structure on Biscayne Bay.

Young Man Gives Life

Houlka, Miss., April 9 (AP)—A young man gave his life to save his girl friend from drowning. Charles Young, 25, of Jackson, Miss., sank from sight in a lake near here yesterday when rescuers lifted Miss Joyce Plunkett of Amory, Miss., from his arms. He had kept her afloat for 15 minutes after their boat overturned. Rescuers who saved the girl said Young apparently was exhausted by his long struggle. Despite extensive search, the body was not recovered.

City Clerk

BOND ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y. ADOPTED APRIL 3, 1951, AUTHORIZING THE PURCHASE OF TWO FIRE-FIGHTING VEHICLES, AT AN ESTIMATED COST OF $20,000 AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $17,500 SERIAL BONDS OF THE CITY TO MEET THE PORTION OF THE COST NOT MET BY THE DOWN PAYMENT OF $2,500.

THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK, CONVENED IN REGULAR SESSION, HEREBY ORDAINS (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) as follows:

Section 1. The purchase of two fire-fighting motor vehicles to be used for fighting fires, each including apparatus used in connection with such motor vehicles, at a purchase price not to exceed $20,000, is hereby authorized, one of each of such fire trucks for the use of the Rapid Hose Company and one for the use of the Cordts Hose Company. The estimate of the maximum cost of said purchase, including cost of financing and other incidental costs is $20,000 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefor. The plan of financing includes the down payment referred to in Section 3 hereof, the issuance of serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $17,500 to finance the remainder of the appropriation, and the levy of a tax upon all the taxable real property in the city to pay the principal of said bonds and the interest thereon.

Sec. 2. Serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $17,500 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, as amended.

Sec. 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The cost of each one of the pieces of motor vehicles will not be in excess of $10,000 each and, in consequence, the period of probable usefulness of the specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this resolution are to be issued within the limitations of Section 11.00 a. 27 of said Local Finance Law is five (5) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided prior to the issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance in an amount equal to at least twelve per centum (12%) of the estimated cost and such current funds have already been provided in the amount of $2,500 by appropriation in the budget of the City for the fiscal year 1951 under the caption "10% of capital improvements $20,000" and the said sum of $2,500 is hereby authorized to be withdrawn from the said budget appropriation and shall be applied to the said object or purpose described in Section 1 hereof.

Sec. 4. It is hereby stated that each of the bonds authorized by this ordinance shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by §52.00 of said Local Finance Law and said bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by a general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City, without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City of Kingston are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds and provision shall be made annually in the budgets of the City by appropriation for (a) the amortization and redemption of the bonds to mature in such year and (b) the payment of interest to be due and payable in such year.

Sec. 5. Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and pursuant to §30.00 of said Local Finance Law relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of §50.00 and §§56.00 to 60.00 of said Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance and of any notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds, are hereby delegated to the Treasurer of the City as the chief fiscal officer of the City.

Sec. 6. The validity of the bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or

(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance, are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity, is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall be published at least twice in the "Kingston Daily Freeman" and the "Ulster County News and Kingston Leader," together with a notice prescribed by §81.00 of the Local Finance Law appended by the City Clerk (which newspapers are allied to and support the two political parties which cast the greater number of votes at the preceding general election and are the official newspapers of the City), and shall take effect immediately after such publication.

Wilbur Avenue from Abeel Street to Greenkill Avenue.

The estimate of the maximum cost of said improvements is $75,000 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefor. The plan of financing includes the down payment referred to in Section 3 hereof, the issuance of serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $66,000 to finance the remainder of the appropriation, and the levy of a tax upon all the taxable real property in the City to pay the principal of said bonds and the interest thereon.

Sec. 2. Serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $66,000 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, as amended.

Sec. 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The period of probable usefulness of the specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this ordinance are to be issued, within the limitations of Section 11.00 a. 20 of said Local Finance Law, is ten (10) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided prior to the issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance in an amount equal to at least twelve per centum (12%) of the estimated cost and such current funds have already been provided in the amount of $9,000 by appropriation in the budget of the City for the fiscal year 1951 under the caption of "10% of capital improvements $20,000" and the said sum of $9,000 is hereby authorized to be withdrawn from the said budget appropriation and shall be applied to the said object or purpose described in Section 1 hereof.

Sec. 4. It is hereby stated that each of the bonds authorized by this ordinance shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by §52.00 of said Local Finance Law and said bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by a general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City, without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City of Kingston are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds and provision shall be made annually in the budgets of the City by appropriation for (a) the amortization and redemption of the bonds to mature in such year and (b) the payment of interest to be due and payable in such year.

Sec. 5. Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and pursuant to §30.00 of said Local Finance Law relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of §50.00 and §§56.00 to 60.00 of said Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance and of any notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds, are hereby delegated to the Treasurer of the City as the chief fiscal officer of the City.

Sec. 6. The validity of the bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or

(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance, are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity, is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall be published at least twice in the "Kingston Daily Freeman" and the "Ulster County News and Kingston Leader," together with a notice prescribed by §81.00 of the Local Finance Law appended by the City Clerk (which newspapers are allied to and support the two political parties which cast the greater number of votes at the preceding general election and are the official newspapers of the City), and shall take effect immediately after such publication.

Kauder Chickens Place High in Laying Tests

Reports from the official laying tests of America again indicate that chickens from Ulster county rank with the best.

In an official release from tests conducted by Storrs International in Connecticut, a Leghorn pen bred by Irving Kauder of New Paltz, placed first for its breed.

A Kauder Leghorn also placed first for her breed at the Storrs' test.

Reports from the Rhode Island tests also indicate that other Kauder birds have made impressive records to date. A Leghorn pen at this test not only placed first for its breed but it also was the high white Leghorn pen among all official laying tests in the United States, of which there are 15. Also at Rhode Island, a Kauder hen placed first for her breed and first for all breeds.

Thus far in 1951 tests, it was reported, Kauder entries are said to be the highest Leghorn average for all birds entered of any breeder.

Reds Assail Anti-Semitism

Vienna, (AP)—Anti-Semitic hooliganism still exists in Communist Romania. The Bucharest newspaper "Biata Noua" said: "In Galatzi, a gang of seven anti-Semitic hooligans attacked some citizens, most of whom were Jewish workers. Although they succeeded in getting away, the Fascist hooligans yere identified and sent before the courts."

Sometimes you see a bridge player staring up at the ceiling while everybody waits for him to make a play. What is he looking for? Inspiration. What should he be doing? Acting on the basis of knowledge instead of waiting for a sudden flash from a kindly Providence.

For example, the hand shown today would find many average players scanning the ceiling or scratching their heads. The expert acts as though there were nothing to think about.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the six of spades, East put up the queen, and South won with the ace. Expert West knew at once that South had the jack of spades, since East would have played the jack rather than the queen if he had been able to do so.

South led a diamond, West played low, and dummy won with the king. Dummy returned a heart, and South won with the king. South led another diamond, and West made the right play without a thought or a care in the world.

The average West would fret and stew about whether to put up the ace of diamonds or whether to hold off a second time. If he decided to "play safe" by holding off, declarer would romp home with nine tricks: one spade, two hearts, two diamonds, and four clubs.

The actual West player, an expert, put up the ace of diamonds without hesitation because on the first round of diamonds East had played the three. This was the lowest diamond that East could hold, and East would have played his higher diamond if he had held only two diamonds.

From East's failure to play a high diamond it was clear that he had exactly three diamonds. Hence West could count the entire suit and could know that South had started the hand with only two diamonds. With this knowledge to guide him, West needed no inspiration; he could take the ace of diamonds on the second round of the suit.

West then returned a heart, (although even a club return would have been safe). South could not develop nine tricks without trying for a low-card trick in hearts, but when East got in with the queen of hearts he returned a spade. This gave West three spade tricks to defeat the contract.

Will Use Hotel as Hospital

Miami, Fla., April 9 (AP)—The Miami Herald said today the army is reported preparing to take over the Fleetwood Hotel on Miami Beach for use as a hospital to treat Korean war casualties. The Herald said a rental of $100,000 a year was the amount on which a lease is being negotiated, and May 1 is set for taking over the 330-room structure on Biscayne Bay.

Young Man Gives Life

Houlka, Miss., April 9 (AP)—A young man gave his life to save his girl friend from drowning. Charles Young, 25, of Jackson, Miss., sank from sight in a lake near here yesterday when rescuers lifted Miss Joyce Plunkett of Amory, Miss., from his arms. He had kept her afloat for 15 minutes after their boat overturned. Rescuers who saved the girl said Young apparently was exhausted by his long struggle. Despite extensive search, the body was not recovered.

City Clerk

BOND ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., ADOPTED APRIL 3, 1951, AUTHORIZING THE PURCHASE OF TWO FIRE-FIGHTING VEHICLES, AT AN ESTIMATED COST OF $20,000 AND AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE OF $17,500 SERIAL BONDS OF THE CITY TO MEET THE PORTION OF THE COST NOT MET BY THE DOWN PAYMENT OF $2,500.

THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF KINGSTON, IN THE COUNTY OF ULSTER, NEW YORK, CONVENED IN REGULAR SESSION, HEREBY ORDAINS (by the favorable vote of not less than two-thirds of all the members of said Council) as follows:

Section 1. The purchase of two fire-fighting motor vehicles to be used for fighting fires, each including apparatus used in connection with such motor vehicles, at a purchase price not to exceed $20,000, is hereby authorized, one of each of such fire trucks for the use of the Rapid Hose Company and one for the use of the Cordts Hose Company. The estimate of the maximum cost of said purchase, including cost of financing and other incidental costs is $20,000 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefor. The plan of financing includes the down payment referred to in Section 3 hereof, the issuance of serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $17,500 to finance the remainder of the appropriation, and the levy of a tax upon all the taxable real property in the city to pay the principal of said bonds and the interest thereon.

Sec. 2. Serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $17,500 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, as amended.

Sec. 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The cost of each one of the pieces of motor vehicles will not be in excess of $10,000 each and, in consequence, the period of probable usefulness of the specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this resolution are to be issued within the limitations of Section 11.00 a. 27 of said Local Finance Law is five (5) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided prior to the issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance in an amount equal to at least twelve per centum (12%) of the estimated cost and such current funds have already been provided in the amount of $2,500 by appropriation in the budget of the City for the fiscal year 1951 under the caption "10% of capital improvements $20,000" and the said sum of $2,500 is hereby authorized to be withdrawn from the said budget appropriation and shall be applied to the said object or purpose described in Section 1 hereof.

Sec. 4. It is hereby stated that each of the bonds authorized by this ordinance shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by §52.00 of said Local Finance Law and said bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by a general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City, without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City of Kingston are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds and provision shall be made annually in the budgets of the City by appropriation for (a) the amortization and redemption of the bonds to mature in such year and (b) the payment of interest to be due and payable in such year.

Sec. 5. Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and pursuant to §30.00 of said Local Finance Law relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of §50.00 and §§56.00 to 60.00 of said Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance and of any notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds, are hereby delegated to the Treasurer as the chief fiscal officer of the City.

Sec. 6. The validity of the bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or

(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance, are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall be published at least twice in the "Kingston Daily Freeman" and the "Ulster County News and Kingston Leader," together with a notice prescribed by §81.00 of the Local Finance Law appended by the City Clerk (which newspapers are allied to and support the two political parties which cast the greater number of votes at the preceding general election and are the official newspapers of the City), and shall take effect immediately after such publication.

The estimate of the maximum cost of said improvements is $75,000 and the said amount is hereby appropriated therefor. The plan of financing includes the down payment referred to in Section 3 hereof, the issuance of serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $66,000 to finance the remainder of the appropriation, and the levy of a tax upon all the taxable real property in the City to pay the principal of said bonds and the interest thereon.

Sec. 2. Serial bonds of the City in the principal amount of $66,000 are hereby authorized to be issued pursuant to the provisions of the Local Finance Law, constituting Chapter 33-a of the Consolidated Laws of the State of New York, as amended.

Sec. 3. The following additional matters are hereby determined and stated:

(a) The period of probable usefulness of the specific object or purpose for which the bonds authorized by this ordinance are to be issued, within the limitations of Section 11.00 a. 20 of said Local Finance Law, is ten (10) years.

(b) Current funds are required to be provided prior to the issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance in an amount equal to at least twelve per centum (12%) of the estimated cost and such current funds have already been provided in the amount of $9,000 by appropriation in the budget of the City for the fiscal year 1951 under the caption of "10% of capital improvements $20,000" and the said sum of $9,000 is hereby authorized to be withdrawn from the said budget appropriation and shall be applied to the said object or purpose described in Section 1 hereof.

Sec. 4. It is hereby stated that each of the bonds authorized by this ordinance shall contain the recital of validity prescribed by §52.00 of said Local Finance Law and said bonds and any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds shall be general obligations of the City of Kingston, payable as to both principal and interest by a general tax upon all the taxable real property within the City, without limitation as to rate or amount. The faith and credit of the City of Kingston are hereby irrevocably pledged to the punctual payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds and provision shall be made annually in the budgets of the City by appropriation for (a) the amortization and redemption of the bonds to mature in such year and (b) the payment of interest to be due and payable in such year.

Sec. 5. Subject to the provisions of this ordinance and pursuant to §30.00 of said Local Finance Law relative to the authorization of the issuance of bond anticipation notes and of §50.00 and §§56.00 to 60.00 of said Law, the powers and duties of the Common Council relative to prescribing the terms, form and contents and as to the sale and issuance of the bonds authorized by this ordinance and of any notes authorized and issued in anticipation of said bonds, are hereby delegated to the Treasurer of the City as the chief fiscal officer of the City.

Sec. 6. The validity of the bonds authorized by this ordinance, and of any notes issued in anticipation of said bonds, may be contested only if:

(a) such obligations are authorized for an object or purpose for which the City is not authorized to expend money, or

(b) the provisions of law which should be complied with at the date of the publication of such ordinance, are not substantially complied with,

and an action, suit or proceeding contesting such validity is commenced within twenty days after the date of such publication, or

(c) such obligations are authorized in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

Sec. 7. This ordinance shall be published at least twice in the "Kingston Daily Freeman" and the "Ulster County News and Kingston Leader," together with a notice prescribed by §81.00 of the Local Finance Law appended by the City Clerk (which newspapers are allied to and support the two political parties which cast the greater number of votes at the preceding general election and are the official newspapers of the City), and shall take effect immediately after such publication.

Kauder Chickens Place High in Laying Tests

Reports from the official laying tests of America again indicate that chickens from Ulster county rank with the best.

In an official release from tests conducted by Storrs International in Connecticut, a Leghorn pen bred by Irving Kauder of New Paltz, placed first for its breed.

A Kauder Leghorn also placed first for her breed at the Storrs' test.

Reports from the Rhode Island tests also indicate that other Kauder birds have made impressive records to date. A Leghorn pen at this test not only placed first for its breed but it also was the high white Leghorn pen among all official laying tests in the United States, of which there are 15. Also at Rhode Island, a Kauder hen placed first for her breed and first for all breeds.

Thus far in 1951 tests, it was reported, Kauder entries are said to be the highest Leghorn average for all birds entered of any breeder.

Reds Assail Anti-Semitism

Vienna, (AP)—Anti-Semitic hooliganism still exists in Communist Romania. The Bucharest newspaper "Biata Noua" said: "In Galatzi, a gang of seven anti-Semitic hooligans attacked some citizens, most of whom were Jewish workers. Although they succeeded in getting away, the Fascist hooligans yere identified and sent before the courts."

Sometimes you see a bridge player staring up at the ceiling while everybody waits for him to make a play. What is he looking for? Inspiration. What should he be doing? Acting on the basis of knowledge instead of waiting for a sudden flash from a kindly Providence.

For example, the hand shown today would find many average players scanning the ceiling or scratching their heads. The expert acts as though there were nothing to think about.

When the hand was actually played, West opened the six of spades, East put up the queen, and South won with the ace. Expert West knew at once that South had the jack of spades, since East would have played the jack rather than the queen if he had been able to do so.

South led a diamond, West played low, and dummy won with the king. Dummy returned a heart, and South won with the king. South led another diamond, and West made the right play without a thought or a care in the world.

The average West would fret and stew about whether to put up the ace of diamonds or whether to hold off a second time. If he decided to "play safe" by holding off, declarer would romp home with nine tricks: one spade, two hearts, two diamonds, and four clubs.

The actual West player, an expert, put up the ace of diamonds without hesitation because on the first round of diamonds East had played the three. This was the lowest diamond that East could hold, and East would have played his higher diamond if he had held only two diamonds.

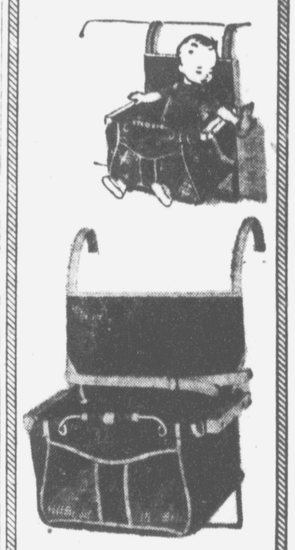

From East's failure to play a high diamond it was clear that he had exactly three diamonds. Hence West could count the entire suit and could know that South had started the hand with only two diamonds. With this knowledge to guide him, West needed no inspiration; he could take the ace of diamonds on the second round of the suit.

West then returned a heart, (although even a club return would have been safe). South could not develop nine tricks without trying for a low-card trick in hearts, but when East got in with the queen of hearts he returned a spade. This gave West three spade tricks to defeat the contract.

Will Use Hotel as Hospital

Miami, Fla., April 9 (AP)—The Miami Herald said today the army is reported preparing to take over the Fleetwood Hotel on Miami Beach for use as a hospital to treat Korean war casualties. The Herald said a rental of $100,000 a year was the amount on which a lease is being negotiated, and May 1 is set for taking over the 330-room structure on Biscayne Bay.

Mr. North, Shokan, Is Wed Saturday In Church Ceremony

MRS. NORMAN NORTH

Miss Barbara Odenwald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Odenwald of 120, Avenue L, Brooklyn, became the bride of Norman North, son of Mr. and Mrs. Justus North of Shokan Saturday during a Nuptial Mass at St. Rose of Lima Church, Brooklyn. Officiating clergyman during the ceremony was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Burke.

The bride was dressed in a traditional white satin gown with an illusion neckline trimmed with seed pearls and imported lace. She carried two white orchids on a mother-of-pearl prayer book. For her headpiece she wore a cap of seed pearls with a fingertip veil of imported white silk illusion.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. Robert Holt, matron of honor, Miss Ann Head, and Miss Nancy North, sister of the groom.

Donald North, brother of the groom, was best man. Robert Holt, and Richard Odenwald, brother of the bride, were ushers.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Mirror Room of the Hotel St. George, New York.

The bride is a graduate of St. Brendans High School. Mr. North was graduated from Kingston High School and served for three and a half years in the U. S. Navy.

Following their wedding trip in the Pocono Mountains, the couple will make their home in Bellaire, L. I.

Over 300 Girl Scouts Attend Gala Birthday Celebration Saturday

More than 300 Girl Scouts from Ulster county turned out for a gala birthday celebration, commemorating the founding of the scouting movement, held on Saturday afternoon at the Myron J. Michael Junior High School. With a magic show, a movie, a song fest and ice cream on the docket, there was fun a-plenty for Brownies, Intermediates and Senior Scouts representing 24 county troops.

Mrs. Jeremy Bouchard, mistress of ceremonies for the afternoon's entertainment and vice-president of the Kingston Leaders Club, introduced Mrs. Casper Souers who gave the speech of welcome. An impressive flag ceremony and presentation of colors followed. Carrying the American Flag were representatives and color guards of Troop 7, Kingston, led by Mrs. Robert Shellenberger. The Girl Scout Flag was held by Troop 30, Port Ewen, of which Mrs. John A. Henry is leader. Girls from Troop 26, Kingston, carried the Brownie Flag. Mrs. Gertrude Wisneski leads this group. A color guard from Mrs. Otto Havlin's Troop 47, and one from Troop 62, Mrs. Howard Nickerson, leader, escorted the Scout Flags to the stage.

One by one the troops were called up by Mrs. Robert Torens for the presentation of their Juliette Low Birthday Gift Boxes. These gifts, uniquely wrapped and containing coin donations from every county scout, were received by Mrs. Lester Lange, Juliette Low representative. The money collected will be used to aid the Girl Scout movement abroad.

An exciting display of magic feats, presented by Fred Van Deusen, next captured the spotlight and was enthusiastically received by the scouts. An official Girl Scout movie of camping life served as a preview for many girls present of summer days ahead at nearby Camp Wendy. Camping, folk and scouting songs, rounds, and "old timers" made the rafters of the junior high gymnasium ring as son-leaders Joan Souers and Barbara Hutton took over. Adding an impromptu note to the program, several troops were "called to the front" to present their own versions of Girl Scout favorites. Accompanist for the singing was Mrs. Helen Terwilliger. Ice cream and cake topped the afternoon's festivities, served by the Senior Scouts of Troop 11 under the guidance of Mrs. Harry Berchin. Port Ewen's Senior Troop 45, led by Mrs. Basil Potter, was in charge of seating arrangements for the scouts. Chairman of the party was Mrs. Lester Lange.

Leaving the Temple

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald I. Gruberg, leave Congregation Ahavath Israel, this city, following their marriage March 31. The couple will make their home here. (Brentwood Photo)

Mildred C. Baker, Brooklyn, Is Wed To Gerald Gruberg

Miss Mildred Claire Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray E. Baker of Brooklyn and West Park, was married to Gerald I. Gruberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gruberg of 57 Washington avenue, this city, March 31 at 8:30 p. m. The ceremony was held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, with Rabbi Philip Weinberg officiating.

The altar was banked with palms, greens, white snapdragons and white gladioli. The pews were marked with white satin ribbons and flowers. Tom Crosby was organist, and Miss Elaine Rolnick sang Because.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy antique ivory satin, cut on princess lines, with an off-shoulder neckline, and an illusion yoke. The gown was trimmed with imported heirloom lace down the sides, and the skirt ended in a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was fastened to a small seed pearl crown, and she carried a bouquet of calla lilies tied with a white satin bow.

Mrs. Harry Fishman of New York was maid of honor. Mrs. Fishman was dressed in a gown of beige Chantilly lace, with a matching open crown bonnet, and carried a large fan shaped bouquet of pink roses.

Seymour W. Gruberg of this city and Long Island was best man for his brother. Ushering were Dick Baker of New York, brother of the bride, Martin Gruberg of Charles Ronder and Walter Suskind, both of this city.

Approximately 200 guests were entertained at a reception at the Ahavath Israel hall, and 160 guests were entertained at a dinner at the Embassy Room. At the dinner Miss Rolnick sang Blue Moon, and Be My Love.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gruberg will motor to Miami, and Miami Beach. The bride wore a gray going-away suit, with white gloves, blue accessories, a straw hat, and orchid corsage.

Upon their return the couple will make their home in this city, where the groom is associated with the Kingston Fluorescent Fixture Manufacturing Co.

Bar Mitzvah

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spinner of South Boulevard will leave Wednesday for their Brooklyn home to celebrate the Bar Mitzvah of their son, Rollin, who has been under the tutelage of Rabbi Philip Weinberg of Congregation Ahavath Israel, this city. The service will be held Saturday at 9 a. m. at the Crown of Israel Talmud Torah, Brooklyn. The reception will take place in the vestry hall of the synagogue at 9 p. m. that day. Rollin is a student at the M.J.M. School.

Plans Announced For the Marriage Of Doris Slutsky

New York, April 6 (Special)—Plans were announced here today for the marriage of Miss Doris Slutsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slutsky of 134 Main street, Ellenville, to Rabbi Robert Blumstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blumstein of University avenue, New York.

The ceremony will take place in Ellenville Hebrew Aid Society Synagogue Sunday, April 8. Officiating will be Rabbi Herman Eisner, pastor of the synagogue; Rabbi Frederick Hollander of the New York Board of Rabbis, and Rabbi Saul Hammerman of Temple Emmanuel, Passaic, N. J. A reception will follow at the Joseph Slutsky Center in Ellenville.

The bride will wear a gown of ivory Chantilly lace made with a tiered skirt and a redingote of satin terminating in a long train, and a fingertip veil arranged from a half-bonnet of matching lace. She will carry a Bible with white orchids.

Miss Sheila Hafter, maid of honor, will be dressed in blush pink and the bridesmaids, the Misses Florence Boden and Sydell Steinhoff, will wear frocks of ice blue.

Bernard Slutsky will serve as best man. Ushers are to be Harvey Schechter and Steven Rann.

The bride was graduated from Ellenville High School and Ohio State University. Rabbi Blumstein attended the College of the City of New York and Hebrew Union College. A chaplain at Bellevue Hospital, he is also production assistant at John C. Sleater Company here.

After a plane trip to Miami Beach, Fla., the couple will live in New York.

Murray J. Worth, Wallkill, to Wed

New York, April 6 (Special)—A license to wed was obtained at the city clerk's office here today by Mrs. Raffy Rosenthal of 200 West 86th street, New York, and Murray J. Worth, formerly of Wallkill, now at 29 Fifth avenue, New York.

The couple did not disclose their wedding plans.

Mrs. Rosenthal, a native of Brooklyn, is the daughter of Julius and Ida Berman Lerner. She was divorced from George M. Rosenthal in 1950. Mr. Worth, who is the son of Benjamin and Nery Pilsh Worth, was born in New York. His marriage to the former Gertrude Boget was terminated by divorce in 1950. They lived in Wallkill.

Florida produces nearly one-half of all the grapefruit and oranges grown in the United States.

Actress Louisa F. Horton Is Married To George Hill in New York Ceremony

Miss Louisa Fleetwood Horton, a member of the Margaret Webster troupe at the Woodstock Playhouse last summer, was married Saturday afternoon to George Roy Hill in the chapel of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, with the Rev. Dr. George A. Buttrick of that congregation officiating.

Mrs. Hill is the daughter of Mrs. Jeter Rice Horton, and the late Colonel Horton, USMC. She is a great-granddaughter of Gen. John C. Breckinridge, former vice president, and secretary of war in Jefferson Davis' cabinet, and is a descendant of John Witherspoon, founder of Princeton University, and a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Mr. Hill is the son of Mrs. I. Nesbit Tate of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the late G. Roy Hill of Minneapolis, Minn.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Andrew Steele Horton of Clearwater, Fla. She wore an imported figured organdy gown, and a lace veil which had been worn at the court of the Queen of Holland.

William James Hill of Milwaukee, Wisc., was best man for his brother. Ushers were John Wesley Castles 3rd, Francis Burritt Thorne, and Frederick Murphy Hill.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Cosmopolitan Club, New York.

Mrs. Hill is a graduate of the Holton Arms School, Washington, D. C., and attended Bryn Mawr College. She was presented to society at the Army-Navy Club, Washington. A professional actress, Mrs. Hill appeared in several productions at the Woodstock Playhouse last summer, including George Bernard Shaw's memorable Saint Joan, when she starred as the maid.

Mr. Hill, a graduate of Yale University, class of '43, served during World War 2 as a pilot in the marine corps, stationed in the Pacific theatre. He did graduate work in Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

A WIDOW'S WAITING

A young widow asks: "How long must I wait before allowing another man to pay me attentions? Also, how long must it be before I marry?"

Conventionally, a widow remains in "retirement" for at least a year. But since your questions indicate that your marriage was an unhappy one, it may be that your friends and neighbors would not too severely criticize you, should you find consolation somewhat sooner.

Accept and Decline Together

Dear Mrs. Post: We've received a wedding invitation from a business friend of my husband's. I can't go because of distance but as my husband will be nearby on a trip he thought he'd go. So how should the invitation be answered?

Answer:

Mr. John Brown
accepts with pleasure
Mr. and Mrs. Whitney's kind invitation for May tenth but
Mrs. Brown
regrets that she will be unable to accompany him.

Serving Tomato Juice

Dear Mrs. Post: When tomato juice cocktail is served as a first course in a house where the hostess is also cook and waitress, may this cocktail be stood at the places before people sit down? Should it be with glasses, or where?

Answer: It could be stood on the plate at each place, in which case, of course, the napkin would have to be put at the left of the plate instead of on it.

Thank-You Note

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm told that it would be silly to write my future in-laws to thank them for our wedding present. My friends tell me that it would be following the rule to an absurd degree.

Answer: If you have seen them and thanked them in person, it will not be necessary to follow these thanks with further written ones. Naturally you will show your appreciation as opportunities occur. Such as explaining to others when showing your house or using one of the gifts. "This was given us by Mother Jones—or Aunt Kate"—or whoever!

Kingston Artist, Edmund O. Weyhe, Wins Scholarship

A 27-year-old Kingston artist, Edmund O. Weyhe, was awarded recently a $2000 scholarship at the Terry Art Institute, Miami, Fla., it was announced today. The scholarship will enable him to continue his art studies at any college or university in the United States, or any non-Communist controlled foreign country.

At present the young artist, who is a member of the Woodstock Artists' Association and a Purple Heart veteran of World War 2, is exhibiting a group of oil paintings at the Washington Art Gallery, Miami, Fla., under the comprehensive title, Designs for Tomorrow.

Mr. Weyhe, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Weyhe, 223 Hurley avenue, has studied at the Art Students League of New York under such eminent teachers and contemporary artists as Robert Hale, Kuniyoshi, and Reginald Marsh. At Terry Art Institute he studied with Marion Terry, Donald Coole, and Chester Tingler. It was while there that he was recommended for the Tiffany Competitive Scholarship of 1951.

Mr. North, Shokan, Is Wed Saturday In Church Ceremony

MRS. NORMAN NORTH

Miss Barbara Odenwald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Odenwald of 120, Avenue L, Brooklyn, became the bride of Norman North, son of Mr. and Mrs. Justus North of Shokan Saturday during a Nuptial Mass at St. Rose of Lima Church, Brooklyn. Officiating clergyman during the ceremony was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Burke.

The bride was dressed in a traditional white satin gown with an illusion neckline trimmed with seed pearls and imported lace. She carried two white orchids on a mother-of-pearl prayer book. For her headpiece she wore a cap of seed pearls with a fingertip veil of imported white silk illusion.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. Robert Holt, matron of honor, Miss Ann Head, and Miss Nancy North, sister of the groom.

Donald North, brother of the groom, was best man. Robert Holt, and Richard Odenwald, brother of the bride, were ushers.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Mirror Room of the Hotel St. George, New York.

The bride is a graduate of St. Brendans High School. Mr. North was graduated from Kingston High School and served for three and a half years in the U. S. Navy.

Following their wedding trip in the Pocono Mountains, the couple will make their home in Bellaire, L. I.

Over 300 Girl Scouts Attend Gala Birthday Celebration Saturday

More than 300 Girl Scouts from Ulster county turned out for a gala birthday celebration, commemorating the founding of the scouting movement, held on Saturday afternoon at the Myron J. Michael Junior High School. With a magic show, a movie, a song fest and ice cream on the docket, there was fun a-plenty for Brownies, Intermediates and Senior Scouts representing 24 county troops.

Mrs. Jeremy Bouchard, mistress of ceremonies for the afternoon's entertainment and vice-president of the Kingston Leaders Club, introduced Mrs. Casper Souers who gave the speech of welcome. An impressive flag ceremony and presentation of colors followed. Carrying the American Flag were representatives and color guards of Troop 7, Kingston, led by Mrs. Robert Shellenberger. The Girl Scout Flag was held by Troop 30, Port Ewen, of which Mrs. John A. Henry is leader. Girls from Troop 26, Kingston, carried the Brownie Flag. Mrs. Gertrude Wisneski leads this group. A color guard from Mrs. Otto Havlin's Troop 47, and one from Troop 62, Mrs. Howard Nickerson, leader, escorted the Scout Flags to the stage.

One by one the troops were called up by Mrs. Robert Torens for the presentation of their Juliette Low Birthday Gift Boxes. These gifts, uniquely wrapped and containing coin donations from every county scout, were received by Mrs. Lester Lange, Juliette Low representative. The money collected will be used to aid the Girl Scout movement abroad.

An exciting display of magic feats, presented by Fred Van Deusen, next captured the spotlight and was enthusiastically received by the scouts. An official Girl Scout movie of camping life served as a preview for many girls present of summer days ahead at nearby Camp Wendy. Camping, folk and scouting songs, rounds, and "old timers" made the rafters of the junior high gymnasium ring as son-leaders Joan Souers and Barbara Hutton took over. Adding an impromptu note to the program, several troops were "called to the front" to present their own versions of Girl Scout favorites. Accompanist for the singing was Mrs. Helen Terwilliger. Ice cream and cake topped the afternoon's festivities, served by the Senior Scouts of Troop 11 under the guidance of Mrs. Harry Berchin. Port Ewen's Senior Troop 45, led by Mrs. Basil Potter, was in charge of seating arrangements for the scouts. Chairman of the party was Mrs. Lester Lange.

Leaving the Temple

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald I. Gruberg, leave Congregation Ahavath Israel, this city, following their marriage March 31. The couple will make their home here. (Brentwood Photo)

Mildred C. Baker, Brooklyn, Is Wed To Gerald Gruberg

Miss Mildred Claire Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray E. Baker of Brooklyn and West Park, was married to Gerald I. Gruberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gruberg of 57 Washington avenue, this city, March 31 at 8:30 p. m. The ceremony was held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, with Rabbi Philip Weinberg officiating.

The altar was banked with palms, greens, white snapdragons and white gladioli. The pews were marked with white satin ribbons and flowers. Tom Crosby was organist, and Miss Elaine Rolnick sang Because.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy antique ivory satin, cut on princess lines, with an off-shoulder neckline, and an illusion yoke. The gown was trimmed with imported heirloom lace down the sides, and the skirt ended in a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was fastened to a small seed pearl crown, and she carried a bouquet of calla lilies tied with a white satin bow.

Mrs. Harry Fishman of New York was maid of honor. Mrs. Fishman was dressed in a gown of beige Chantilly lace, with a matching open crown bonnet, and carried a large fan shaped bouquet of pink roses.

Seymour W. Gruberg of this city and Long Island was best man for his brother. Ushering were Dick Baker of New York, brother of the bride, Martin Gruberg of Charles Ronder and Walter Suskind, both of this city.

Approximately 200 guests were entertained at a reception at the Ahavath Israel hall, and 160 guests were entertained at a dinner at the Embassy Room. At the dinner Miss Rolnick sang Blue Moon, and Be My Love.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gruberg will motor to Miami, and Miami Beach. The bride wore a gray going-away suit, with white gloves, blue accessories, a straw hat, and orchid corsage.

Upon their return the couple will make their home in this city, where the groom is associated with the Kingston Fluorescent Fixture Manufacturing Co.

Bar Mitzvah

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spinner of South Boulevard will leave Wednesday for their Brooklyn home to celebrate the Bar Mitzvah of their son, Rollin, who has been under the tutelage of Rabbi Philip Weinberg of Congregation Ahavath Israel, this city. The service will be held Saturday at 9 a. m. at the Crown of Israel Talmud Torah, Brooklyn. The reception will take place in the vestry hall of the synagogue at 9 p. m. that day. Rollin is a student at the M.J.M. School.

Plans Announced For the Marriage Of Doris Slutsky

New York, April 6 (Special)—Plans were announced here today for the marriage of Miss Doris Slutsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slutsky of 134 Main street, Ellenville, to Rabbi Robert Blumstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blumstein of University avenue, New York.

The ceremony will take place in Ellenville Hebrew Aid Society Synagogue Sunday, April 8. Officiating will be Rabbi Herman Eisner, pastor of the synagogue; Rabbi Frederick Hollander of the New York Board of Rabbis, and Rabbi Saul Hammerman of Temple Emmanuel, Passaic, N. J. A reception will follow at the Joseph Slutsky Center in Ellenville.

The bride will wear a gown of ivory Chantilly lace made with a tiered skirt and a redingote of satin terminating in a long train, and a fingertip veil arranged from a half-bonnet of matching lace. She will carry a Bible with white orchids.

Miss Sheila Hafter, maid of honor, will be dressed in blush pink and the bridesmaids, the Misses Florence Boden and Sydell Steinhoff, will wear frocks of ice blue.

Bernard Slutsky will serve as best man. Ushers are to be Harvey Schechter and Steven Rann.

The bride was graduated from Ellenville High School and Ohio State University. Rabbi Blumstein attended the College of the City of New York and Hebrew Union College. A chaplain at Bellevue Hospital, he is also production assistant at John C. Sleater Company here.

After a plane trip to Miami Beach, Fla., the couple will live in New York.

Murray J. Worth, Wallkill, to Wed

New York, April 6 (Special)—A license to wed was obtained at the city clerk's office here today by Mrs. Raffy Rosenthal of 200 West 86th street, New York, and Murray J. Worth, formerly of Wallkill, now at 29 Fifth avenue, New York.

The couple did not disclose their wedding plans.

Mrs. Rosenthal, a native of Brooklyn, is the daughter of Julius and Ida Berman Lerner. She was divorced from George M. Rosenthal in 1950. Mr. Worth, who is the son of Benjamin and Nery Pilsh Worth, was born in New York. His marriage to the former Gertrude Boget was terminated by divorce in 1950. They lived in Wallkill.

Florida produces nearly one-half of all the grapefruit and oranges grown in the United States.

Actress Louisa F. Horton Is Married To George Hill in New York Ceremony

Miss Louisa Fleetwood Horton, a member of the Margaret Webster troupe at the Woodstock Playhouse last summer, was married Saturday afternoon to George Roy Hill in the chapel of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, with the Rev. Dr. George A. Buttrick of that congregation officiating.

Mrs. Hill is the daughter of Mrs. Jeter Rice Horton, and the late Colonel Horton, USMC. She is a great-granddaughter of Gen. John C. Breckinridge, former vice president, and secretary of war in Jefferson Davis' cabinet, and is a descendant of John Witherspoon, founder of Princeton University, and a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Mr. Hill is the son of Mrs. I. Nesbit Tate of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the late G. Roy Hill of Minneapolis, Minn.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Andrew Steele Horton of Clearwater, Fla. She wore an imported figured organdy gown, and a lace veil which had been worn at the court of the Queen of Holland.

William James Hill of Milwaukee, Wisc., was best man for his brother. Ushers were John Wesley Castles 3rd, Francis Burritt Thorne, and Frederick Murphy Hill.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Cosmopolitan Club, New York.

Mrs. Hill is a graduate of the Holton Arms School, Washington, D. C., and attended Bryn Mawr College. She was presented to society at the Army-Navy Club, Washington. A professional actress, Mrs. Hill appeared in several productions at the Woodstock Playhouse last summer, including George Bernard Shaw's memorable Saint Joan, when she starred as the maid.

Mr. Hill, a graduate of Yale University, class of '43, served during World War 2 as a pilot in the marine corps, stationed in the Pacific theatre. He did graduate work in Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland.

A WIDOW'S WAITING

A young widow asks: "How long must I wait before allowing another man to pay me attentions? Also, how long must it be before I marry?"

Conventionally, a widow remains in "retirement" for at least a year. But since your questions indicate that your marriage was an unhappy one, it may be that your friends and neighbors would not too severely criticize you, should you find consolation somewhat sooner.

Accept and Decline Together

Dear Mrs. Post: We've received a wedding invitation from a business friend of my husband's. I can't go because of distance but as my husband will be nearby on a trip he thought he'd go. So how should the invitation be answered?

Answer:

Mr. John Brown
accepts with pleasure
Mr. and Mrs. Whitney's
kind invitation for
May tenth but
Mrs. Brown
regrets that she will be unable to accompany him.

Serving Tomato Juice

Dear Mrs. Post: When tomato juice cocktail is served as a first course in a house where the hostess is also cook and waitress, may this cocktail be stood at the places before people sit down? Should it be with glasses, or where?

Answer: It could be stood on the plate at each place, in which case, of course, the napkin would have to be put at the left of the plate instead of on it.

Thank-You Note

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm told that it would be silly to write my future in-laws to thank them for our wedding present. My friends tell me that it would be following the rule to an absurd degree.

Answer: If you have seen them and thanked them in person, it will not be necessary to follow these thanks with further written ones. Naturally you will show your appreciation as opportunities occur. Such as explaining to others when showing your house or using one of the gifts. "This was given us by Mother Jones—or Aunt Kate"—or whoever!

The W.S.C.S. of Trinity Methodist Church will meet Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Fred Deming, 16 Van Gaasbeck street. Nomination and election of officers will take place.

Niagara is an Iroquois Indian word meaning thundering waters.

Y.W.C.A. News

Today will begin a new group of clubs for teen-agers at the Y.W.C.A. The groups will be hobby clubs, and will include crafts as painting, ceramics, dramatics, and "party prep." The latter is a club where girls will learn the secrets of entertaining by learning flower arranging, party decorating, entertainment planning, and refreshment preparation. The clubs will be led by competent persons with outside resources, it was announced.

The following schedule has been made:

Monday

3:30 p. m.—Sub Teeners and their hobbies.
7:30 p. m.—Tri-Hi.
7:30 p. m.—Ceramics.

Tuesday

3:30 p. m.—Crafts (leather, wood, felt, beads).
7:30 p. m.—So-Ys.

Wednesday

3:30 p. m.—Party preps.

Thursday

3:30 p. m.—Painting, ceramics.
7:30 p. m.—Dramatics.

Also of interest to Y-Teens is the Newburgh Y.W.C.A. "play day" which Kingston Y.W.C.A. girls have been invited to attend April 14, when Y-Teens from Peekskill and Poughkeepsie will be present. Activities will include swimming, bowling, an elimination contest in basketball, and badminton. Each girl is asked to bring her own box lunch, and those interested should sign up with their Y-Teen clubs, or at the Y.W.C.A. before April 12.

Mr. North, Shokan, Is Wed Saturday In Church Ceremony

MRS. NORMAN NORTH

Miss Barbara Odenwald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Odenwald of 120, Avenue L, Brooklyn, became the bride of Norman North, son of Mr. and Mrs. Justus North of Shokan Saturday during a Nuptial Mass at St. Rose of Lima Church, Brooklyn. Officiating clergyman during the ceremony was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Burke.

The bride was dressed in a traditional white satin gown with an illusion neckline trimmed with seed pearls and imported lace. She carried two white orchids on a mother-of-pearl prayer book. For her headpiece she wore a cap of seed pearls with a fingertip veil of imported white silk illusion.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. Robert Holt, matron of honor, Miss Ann Head, and Miss Nancy North, sister of the groom.

Donald North, brother of the groom, was best man. Robert Holt, and Richard Odenwald, brother of the bride, were ushers.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Mirror Room of the Hotel St. George, New York.

The bride is a graduate of St. Brendans High School. Mr. North was graduated from Kingston High School and served for three and a half years in the U. S. Navy.

Following their wedding trip in the Pocono Mountains, the couple will make their home in Bellaire, L. I.

Over 300 Girl Scouts Attend Gala Birthday Celebration Saturday

More than 300 Girl Scouts from Ulster county turned out for a gala birthday celebration, commemorating the founding of the scouting movement, held on Saturday afternoon at the Myron J. Michael Junior High School. With a magic show, a movie, a song fest and ice cream on the docket, there was fun a-plenty for Brownies, Intermediates and Senior Scouts representing 24 county troops.

Mrs. Jeremy Bouchard, mistress of ceremonies for the afternoon's entertainment and vice-president of the Kingston Leaders Club, introduced Mrs. Casper Souers who gave the speech of welcome. An impressive flag ceremony and presentation of colors followed. Carrying the American Flag were representatives and color guards of Troop 7, Kingston, led by Mrs. Robert Shellenberger. The Girl Scout Flag was held by Troop 30, Port Ewen, of which Mrs. John A. Henry is leader. Girls from Troop 26, Kingston, carried the Brownie Flag. Mrs. Gertrude Wisneski leads this group. A color guard from Mrs. Otto Havlin's Troop 47, and one from Troop 62, Mrs. Howard Nickerson, leader, escorted the Scout Flags to the stage.

One by one the troops were called up by Mrs. Robert Torens for the presentation of their Juliette Low Birthday Gift Boxes. These gifts, uniquely wrapped and containing coin donations from every county scout, were received by Mrs. Lester Lange, Juliette Low representative. The money collected will be used to aid the Girl Scout movement abroad.

An exciting display of magic feats, presented by Fred Van Deusen, next captured the spotlight and was enthusiastically received by the scouts. An official Girl Scout movie of camping life served as a preview for many girls present of summer days ahead at nearby Camp Wendy. Camping, folk and scouting songs, rounds, and "old timers" made the rafters of the junior high gymnasium ring as son-leaders Joan Souers and Barbara Hutton took over. Adding an impromptu note to the program, several troops were "called to the front" to present their own versions of Girl Scout favorites. Accompanist for the singing was Mrs. Helen Terwilliger. Ice cream and cake topped the afternoon's festivities, served by the Senior Scouts of Troop 11 under the guidance of Mrs. Harry Berchin. Port Ewen's Senior Troop 45, led by Mrs. Basil Potter, was in charge of seating arrangements for the scouts. Chairman of the party was Mrs. Lester Lange.

Leaving the Temple

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald I. Gruberg, leave Congregation Ahavath Israel, this city, following their marriage March 31. The couple will make their home here. (Brentwood Photo)

Mildred C. Baker, Brooklyn, Is Wed To Gerald Gruberg

Miss Mildred Claire Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray E. Baker of Brooklyn and West Park, was married to Gerald I. Gruberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gruberg of 57 Washington avenue, this city, March 31 at 8:30 p. m. The ceremony was held at Congregation Ahavath Israel, with Rabbi Philip Weinberg officiating.

The altar was banked with palms, greens, white snapdragons and white gladioli. The pews were marked with white satin ribbons and flowers. Tom Crosby was organist, and Miss Elaine Rolnick sang Because.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of heavy antique ivory satin, cut on princess lines, with an off-shoulder neckline, and an illusion yoke. The gown was trimmed with imported heirloom lace down the sides, and the skirt ended in a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was fastened to a small seed pearl crown, and she carried a bouquet of calla lilies tied with a white satin bow.

Mrs. Harry Fishman of New York was maid of honor. Mrs. Fishman was dressed in a gown of beige Chantilly lace, with a matching open crown bonnet, and carried a large fan shaped bouquet of pink roses.

Seymour W. Gruberg of this city and Long Island was best man for his brother. Ushering were Dick Baker of New York, brother of the bride, Martin Gruberg of Charles Ronder and Walter Suskind, both of this city.

Approximately 200 guests were entertained at a reception at the Ahavath Israel hall, and 160 guests were entertained at a dinner at the Embassy Room. At the dinner Miss Rolnick sang Blue Moon, and Be My Love.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Gruberg will motor to Miami, and Miami Beach. The bride wore a gray going-away suit, with white gloves, blue accessories, a straw hat, and orchid corsage.

Upon their return the couple will make their home in this city, where the groom is associated with the Kingston Fluorescent Fixture Manufacturing Co.

Bar Mitzvah

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Spinner of South Boulevard will leave Wednesday for their Brooklyn home to celebrate the Bar Mitzvah of their son, Rollin, who has been under the tutelage of Rabbi Philip Weinberg of Congregation Ahavath Israel, this city. The service will be held Saturday at 9 a. m. at the Crown of Israel Talmud Torah, Brooklyn. The reception will take place in the vestry hall of the synagogue at 9 p. m. that day. Rollin is a student at the M.J.M. School.

Plans Announced For the Marriage Of Doris Slutsky

New York, April 6 (Special)—Plans were announced here today for the marriage of Miss Doris Slutsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Slutsky of 134 Main street, Ellenville, to Rabbi Robert Blumstein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blumstein of University avenue, New York.

The ceremony will take place in Ellenville Hebrew Aid Society Synagogue Sunday, April 8. Officiating will be Rabbi Herman Eisner, pastor of the synagogue; Rabbi Frederick Hollander of the New York Board of Rabbis, and Rabbi Saul Hammerman of Temple Emmanuel, Passaic, N. J. A reception will follow at the Joseph Slutsky Center in Ellenville.

The bride will wear a gown of ivory Chantilly lace made with a tiered skirt and a redingote of satin terminating in a long train, and a fingertip veil arranged from a half-bonnet of matching lace. She will carry a Bible with white orchids.

Miss Sheila Hafter, maid of honor, will be dressed in blush pink and the bridesmaids, the Misses Florence Boden and Sydell Steinhoff, will wear frocks of ice blue.

Bernard Slutsky will serve as best man. Ushers are to be Harvey Schechter and Steven Rann.

The bride was graduated from Ellenville High School and Ohio State University. Rabbi Blumstein attended the College of the City of New York and Hebrew Union College. A chaplain at Bellevue Hospital, he is also production assistant at John C. Sleater Company here.

After a plane trip to Miami Beach, Fla., the couple will live in New York.

Murray J. Worth, Wallkill, to Wed

New York, April 6 (Special)—A license to wed was obtained at the city clerk's office here today by Mrs. Raffy Rosenthal of 200 West 86th street, New York, and Murray J. Worth, formerly of Wallkill, now at 29 Fifth avenue, New York.

The couple did not disclose their wedding plans.

Mrs. Rosenthal, a native of Brooklyn, is the daughter of Julius and Ida Berman Lerner. She was divorced from George M. Rosenthal in 1950. Mr. Worth, who is the son of Benjamin and Nery Pilsh Worth, was born in New York. His marriage to the former Gertrude Boget was terminated by divorce in 1950. They lived in Wallkill.

Florida produces nearly one-half of all the grapefruit and oranges grown in the United States.

Actress Louisa F. Horton Is Married To George Hill in New York Ceremony

Miss Louisa Fleetwood Horton, a member of the Margaret Webster troupe at the Woodstock Playhouse last summer, was married Saturday afternoon to George Roy Hill in the chapel of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York, with the Rev. Dr. George A. Buttrick of that congregation officiating.

Mrs. Hill is the daughter of Mrs. Jeter Rice Horton, and the late Colonel Horton, USMC. She is a great-granddaughter of Gen. John C. Breckinridge, former vice president, and secretary of war in Jefferson Davis' cabinet, and is a descendant of John Witherspoon, founder of Princeton University, and a signer of the Declaration of Independence. Mr. Hill is the son of Mrs. I. Nesbit Tate of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the late G. Roy Hill of Minneapolis, Minn.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Andrew Steele Horton of Clearwater, Fla. She wore an imported figured organdy gown, and a lace veil which had been worn at the court of the Queen of Holland.

William James Hill of Milwaukee, Wisc., was best man for his brother. Ushers were John Wesley Castles 3rd, Francis Burritt Thorne, and Frederick Murphy Hill.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the Cosmopolitan Club, New York.

Mrs. Hill is a graduate of the Holton Arms School, Washington, D. C., and attended Bryn Mawr College. She was presented to society at the Army-Navy Club, Washington. A professional actress, Mrs. Hill appeared in several productions at the Woodstock Playhouse last summer, including George Bernard Shaw's memorable Saint Joan, when she starred as the maid.

Mr. Hill, a graduate of Yale University, class of '43, served during World War 2 as a pilot in the marine corps, stationed in the Pacific theatre. He did graduate work in Trinity College, Dublin, Ireland.

Y.W.C.A. News

Today will begin a new group of clubs for teen-agers at the Y.W.C.A. The groups will be hobby clubs, and will include crafts as painting, ceramics, dramatics, and "party prep." The latter is a club where girls will learn the secrets of entertaining by learning flower arranging, party decorating, entertainment planning, and refreshment preparation. The clubs will be led by competent persons with outside resources, it was announced.

The following schedule has been made:

Monday

3:30 p. m.—Sub Teeners and their hobbies.
7:30 p. m.—Tri-Hi.
7:30 p. m.—Ceramics.

Tuesday

3:30 p. m.—Crafts (leather, wood, felt, beads).
7:30 p. m.—So-Ys.

Wednesday

3:30 p. m.—Party preps.

Thursday

3:30 p. m.—Painting, ceramics.
7:30 p. m.—Dramatics.

Also of interest to Y-Teens is the Newburgh Y.W.C.A. "play day" which Kingston Y.W.C.A. girls have been invited to attend April 14, when Y-Teens from Peekskill and Poughkeepsie will be present. Activities will include swimming, bowling, an elimination contest in basketball, and badminton. Each girl is asked to bring her own box lunch, and those interested should sign up with their Y-Teen clubs, or at the Y.W.C.A. before April 12.

Lefkowitz Speaks At Teacher Session, Criticizes Pay Rate

The objective of the 1951 session of the New York state legislature "seems to have been to do as little as possible for the people," Dr. Abraham Lefkowitz, legislative representative of the Empire State Federation of Teachers (AFL) charged in an address Saturday night at a dinner meeting of the Kingston Teachers' Federation at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

Contending the salaries of teachers should have been increased by 83 per cent to restore the 1939 purchasing power of the dollar, Dr. Lefkowitz said the legislature "followed the usual temporizing policy of giving almost nothing to many New York city teachers; very little to many upstate teachers who had received increases since July, 1950."

The Moore schedule, he admitted, "did assure an ultimate total increase of $500." He added, "Bear in mind that a teacher who received a $400 increase after July, 1950, may get but $100 additional of this $500, unless the locality wishes to vote more." Also, he said, "The Moore Report retains the unworkable, subjective and indefensible 'superior merit' method of paying salaries for the 12th and 15th levels."

Dr. Lefkowitz condemned the fact that all three tenure bills introduced were killed in committee.

About academic freedom, Dr. Lefkowitz said, in part, "I believe all of us will agree that a member of the Communist party has no place in our public schools . . . because he cannot perform his basic function as a teacher since he has surrendered his freedom to think independently and must not only teach the truth as the Politbureau decrees, but he must also put his propaganda over on his unsuspecting children without getting caught.

'Influence of Hysteria'

"But, unfortunately, many areas seem to be under the influence of hysteria (which) may prove almost as threatening to America as the 75,000 Communists and their fellow-travelers . . . We have a Feinberg Law, which, without proof, libels our teachers, violates a basic American concept of law that one is innocent until proven guilty. . . . You can't kill totalitarianism by adopting its methods."

Dr. Lefkowitz also attacked the legislature's failure to repeal what he termed the "dangerous Christian Science amendment." This amendment, he claimed, "seriously interferes with the teaching of the causes of disease, communicable diseases . . . and undermines the teaching of hygiene, health education, biology and other sciences."

He hit the legislature's failure to pass the federation-sponsored Wachtel bill for a $600,000,000 school construction program; one of $100,000,000 additional state aid; another to limit class size, and one to protect teachers "injured or killed in the performance of duty."

He noted, however, that "a dozen" educational measures for New York city sponsored by the federation were approved including the one per cent pension bill; also the Schupler bill eliminating the substitute category, a 30 per cent increase for city college staffs and other bills passed by the legislature.

Dr. Lefkowitz is principal of the Samuel J. Tilden High School of Brooklyn, which has 6,000 students. He has been in educational work 47 years and is vice chairman of the joint committee of teachers' organizations, representing 68 organizations in New York city.

Margaret Schuetz, president of the Kingston Teachers' Federation, presided. The speaker was introduced by Abraham Streifer.

Births

The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

March 24—Donita Lu to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Coddington, 228 Main street, and Patricia Ann to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joseph Porto, Glasco.

March 29—Susan Adel to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Webber, 257 Broadway.

March 31—Stanley Jay to Mr. and Mrs. James G. Krom, town of Ulster; Nancy Diane to Mr. and Mrs. Warren Henry Eckles, 20 Navara street; Kathleen to Mr. and Mrs. Edward John Sheehan, 112 Ten Broeck avenue; Karlyn Elizabeth to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Karl Knaust, Saugerties, and Diane Marie to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Arlington Bardsley, Walden.

April 1—Steven Lee to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Richard Schabot, 55 Stuyvesant street; Harry Sidney to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nussbaum, 92 Washington avenue; John Michael, Jr. to Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dunn, 73 Garden street; Christine Blanche to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Henry Eschmann, town of Woodstock.

April 2—Sharon Eileen to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Melville, 87 Cedar street, and Wanda Marie to Mr. and Mrs. John Joseph Brueckner, West Hurley, and Joseph Francis, 4th, to Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fautz, 3rd, 83 First avenue.

Plane Crash Kills Two Girls, Uncle

Washington, April 9 (AP)—A twin-engine bomber, crippled and abandoned by its crew, crashed into a suburban cottage yesterday and killed two little girls and their uncle.

The children's father, mother and aunt were injured.

Dead were Irvin Guyer of Cranford, N. J., Kay Snyder, 7, and Rene Denise Snyder, two months.

The injured: Mrs. Guyer, and Master Sergeant and Mrs. Samuel Snyder.

The B-25 bomber's three crewmen had parachuted to safety after a four-hour struggle with the crippled plane. They said they headed it toward Chesapeake Bay before leaping out.

Air force officers said any landing would have resulted in a violent crash, possibly fatal to the crew. The plane's landing gear had locked with only one wheel down.

Witnesses at nearby Andrews Airfield, where the bomber was based, said the plane wavered and started spiraling downward shortly after pilot jumped.

Southeast of Capitol

It passed low over a social club, bounced off a paved street and smashed in flames into the Snyder home. The crash was about eight miles southeast of the Capitol, a half-mile from Andrews Field.

Volunteer firemen rescued the Snyders and Mrs. Guyer. Flames and collapsing walls defeated efforts to free Guyer from wreckage which pinned him from the waist down.

The Guyers were visiting on a quiet Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Guyer and Mrs. Snyder were sisters.

Mrs. Guyer was taken to Casualty Hospital in Washington. Her condition was reported critical. The Snyders were taken to Bolling Airforce Hospital, suffering from head and body lacerations. Their condition was described as fair.

Sergt. Snyder's home was New Enterprise, Pa. He is now based at Bolling Field. Mrs. Snyder, the former Dorothea Crosson, is from Columbia, Ohio.

Capt. Paul V. Chapman, of Spring City, Pa., piloted the plane. He suffered a wrenched back and shock. In a bedside interview, he said he set the plane to fly straight and level away from the metropolitan area. It had enough gas to go 13 miles out over the bay, he added.

Island Dock Gets Order for Barges

Island Dock, Inc., announced today that it had received an order for 14 steel barges for the U. S. Department of Defense.

The company had received an order earlier this year for seven barges and the contract makes a total of 21 now on order at the local shipyard.

The barges are to be 110 feet long and will be used by the U. S. Army. The construction as with all floating equipment for defense will be supervised by the Navy's Bureau of Ships. The seven barges previously ordered are to be 120 feet long.

Delivery of the barges is currently expected to be made by the end of this year, but a spokesman for Island Dock, Inc., said that their delivery will be largely contingent upon delivery of steel from the mills.

Materials to be used in the vessels is under defense regulations, but the nationwide shortage precludes delivery earlier than July and August. It is understood that the steel will come from the mills of the Bethlehem and U. S. Steel companies. Orders have been placed.

Island Dock also has a contract for building a steel coal barge for a private New York operator. Steel for this is partially on hand and its construction is expected to start within the next month.

Current negotiations indicate the possible construction of other steel barges for private accounts and for the building of other types of vessels for the Defense Department.

Rusting through is the most frequent cause of automobile muffler failure. This is a result of acids in the exhaust gas.

Bonesteels Sell Sanitarium to Florida Couple

After being operated for 13 years by Mrs. Melinda R. Bonesteel and her son, Chester, the Bonesteel Sanitarium, located at 102 Main street, Saugerties, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Jodat of Lake Worth, Fla., it has been learned.

According to the transaction, the Jodats were scheduled to take possession today and will continue to run the business along the present lines. Mrs. Jodat is a registered nurse.

The Bonesteels moved to Saugerties January 1, 1938, after purchasing the large frame structure from the late Mrs. Martin Cantine. Later, the sanitarium opened a branch at 162 Market street, now the site of the Bonesteel Apartments.

Both Mrs. Bonesteel and her son plan to continue their residence in Saugerties.

Will Leave for Home

Montreal, April 9 (AP)—President Auriol of France leaves for home today after his first state visit to the United States and Canada. The 66-year-old president, his wife and aides are scheduled to leave for Paris aboard a special Air France plane. The party came here yesterday from Quebec. They also have visited Ottawa, Toronto, Washington and New York.

Street Conditions Reported

Police were notified of two dangerous street conditions Sunday. A report at 8:25 p. m., said there was a hole in Wilbur avenue between Pine street and Greenkill avenue. Officers James Burns and Kenneth Stratton reported it was about four feet deep. Another cave-in was reported at 10:40 a. m., by Officer Ernest Bartroff at Broadway and East St. James street.

"But, unfortunately, many areas seem to be under the influence of hysteria (which) may prove almost as threatening to America as the 75,000 Communists and their fellow-travelers . . . We have a Feinberg Law, which, without proof, libels our teachers, violates a basic American concept of law that one is innocent until proven guilty. . . . You can't kill totalitarianism by adopting its methods."

Dr. Lefkowitz also attacked the legislature's failure to repeal what he termed the "dangerous Christian Science amendment." This amendment, he claimed, "seriously interferes with the teaching of the causes of disease, communicable diseases . . . and undermines the teaching of hygiene, health education, biology and other sciences."

He hit the legislature's failure to pass the federation-sponsored Wachtel bill for a $600,000,000 school construction program; one of $100,000,000 additional state aid; another to limit class size, and one to protect teachers "injured or killed in the performance of duty."

He noted, however, that "a dozen" educational measures for New York city sponsored by the federation were approved including the one per cent pension bill; also the Schupler bill eliminating the substitute category, a 30 per cent increase for city college staffs and other bills passed by the legislature.

Dr. Lefkowitz is principal of the Samuel J. Tilden High School of Brooklyn, which has 6,000 students. He has been in educational work 47 years and is vice chairman of the joint committee of teachers' organizations, representing 68 organizations in New York city.

Margaret Schuetz, president of the Kingston Teachers' Federation, presided. The speaker was introduced by Abraham Streifer.

Plane Crash Kills Two Girls, Uncle

Washington, April 9 (AP)—A twin-engine bomber, crippled and abandoned by its crew, crashed into a suburban cottage yesterday and killed two little girls and their uncle.

The children's father, mother and aunt were injured.

Dead were Irvin Guyer of Cranford, N. J., Kay Snyder, 7, and Rene Denise Snyder, two months.

The injured: Mrs. Guyer, and Master Sergeant and Mrs. Samuel Snyder.

The B-25 bomber's three crewmen had parachuted to safety after a four-hour struggle with the crippled plane. They said they headed it toward Chesapeake Bay before leaping out.

Air force officers said any landing would have resulted in a violent crash, possibly fatal to the crew. The plane's landing gear had locked with only one wheel down.

Witnesses at nearby Andrews Airfield, where the bomber was based, said the plane wavered and started spiraling downward shortly after pilot jumped.

Southeast of Capitol

It passed low over a social club, bounced off a paved street and smashed in flames into the Snyder home. The crash was about eight miles southeast of the Capitol, a half-mile from Andrews Field.

Volunteer firemen rescued the Snyders and Mrs. Guyer. Flames and collapsing walls defeated efforts to free Guyer from wreckage which pinned him from the waist down.

The Guyers were visiting on a quiet Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Guyer and Mrs. Snyder were sisters.

Mrs. Guyer was taken to Casualty Hospital in Washington. Her condition was reported critical. The Snyders were taken to Bolling Airforce Hospital, suffering from head and body lacerations. Their condition was described as fair.

Sergt. Snyder's home was New Enterprise, Pa. He is now based at Bolling Field. Mrs. Snyder, the former Dorothea Crosson, is from Columbia, Ohio.

Capt. Paul V. Chapman, of Spring City, Pa., piloted the plane. He suffered a wrenched back and shock. In a bedside interview, he said he set the plane to fly straight and level away from the metropolitan area. It had enough gas to go 13 miles out over the bay, he added.

Island Dock Gets Order for Barges

Island Dock, Inc., announced today that it had received an order for 14 steel barges for the U. S. Department of Defense.

The company had received an order earlier this year for seven barges and the contract makes a total of 21 now on order at the local shipyard.

The barges are to be 110 feet long and will be used by the U. S. Army. The construction as with all floating equipment for defense will be supervised by the Navy's Bureau of Ships. The seven barges previously ordered are to be 120 feet long.

Delivery of the barges is currently expected to be made by the end of this year, but a spokesman for Island Dock, Inc., said that their delivery will be largely contingent upon delivery of steel from the mills.

Materials to be used in the vessels is under defense regulations, but the nationwide shortage precludes delivery earlier than July and August. It is understood that the steel will come from the mills of the Bethlehem and U. S. Steel companies. Orders have been placed.

Island Dock also has a contract for building a steel coal barge for a private New York operator. Steel for this is partially on hand and its construction is expected to start within the next month.

Current negotiations indicate the possible construction of other steel barges for private accounts and for the building of other types of vessels for the Defense Department.

Bonesteels Sell Sanitarium to Florida Couple

After being operated for 13 years by Mrs. Melinda R. Bonesteel and her son, Chester, the Bonesteel Sanitarium, located at 102 Main street, Saugerties, has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond A. Jodat of Lake Worth, Fla., it has been learned.

According to the transaction, the Jodats were scheduled to take possession today and will continue to run the business along the present lines. Mrs. Jodat is a registered nurse.

The Bonesteels moved to Saugerties January 1, 1938, after purchasing the large frame structure from the late Mrs. Martin Cantine. Later, the sanitarium opened a branch at 162 Market street, now the site of the Bonesteel Apartments.

Both Mrs. Bonesteel and her son plan to continue their residence in Saugerties.

Will Leave for Home

Montreal, April 9 (AP)—President Auriol of France leaves for home today after his first state visit to the United States and Canada. The 66-year-old president, his wife and aides are scheduled to leave for Paris aboard a special Air France plane. The party came here yesterday from Quebec. They also have visited Ottawa, Toronto, Washington and New York.

Street Conditions Reported

Police were notified of two dangerous street conditions Sunday. A report at 8:25 p. m., said there was a hole in Wilbur avenue between Pine street and Greenkill avenue. Officers James Burns and Kenneth Stratton reported it was about four feet deep. Another cave-in was reported at 10:40 a. m., by Officer Ernest Bartroff at Broadway and East St. James street.

Ferraro's 677 Leads Net Singles In New York State Tournament

Bowling

Don't forget the Freeman Headpin tournament tonight and all day Sunday at the Ferraro Bowlodrome. You may also compete in the K.W.B.A.'s "Name Your Score" contest.

Harry Houghtaling pounded the maples for 516 high series in the Y Mercantile American League, while E. Schussler had 218-507 and Bill Hornbeck clicked for 505.

Others in the top bracket were Charlie Pugliese 487; C. Spano 202-482; R. Fatum 477; Clarence Hyde 471; Chet Weeks 469; F. Sarbacher 457; Ken Ostrander 456.

Lou Straley won gross prize of $50 in the Ruzzo individual sweepstakes last week, firing a net 221-236-201-658, with 39 handicap for 697. Dick Howard's 235-222-219-676 won scratch prize of $35, while Miriam Posner picked up $15 for shooting 609 gross in the distaff department, with 181-104-213-516 scratch and 93 handicap. Eddie Auclair rolled 246 high single out of the money.

The sweepstakes will feature two gross prizes only this weekend; $50 first place for men and $25 for women.

Frank Grimaldi's 531, with 182-173-170, was the best triple in the Commercial League, while Moe Lazarowitz came up with the top single of 222. W. Stenson packed 204-507, while Eddie Bahl hit for 502. Other high scorers included Herm Seelbach with 484; C. Diffley 483; Ed Dasher 481; R. Smith 472; W. Miller 464; Milton Bahl 464.

Frank Grimaldi and Marge Van Alstyne led their respective divisions of the Central Rec Mixed League, with 584 and 434. Grimaldi stacked solo games of 224, 166 and 194 while Mrs. Van Alstyne posted 136-140-158.

Other high men bowlers were Frank Bruno with 226-201-561; Don Peterson 548; John Sangi 202-546; Jim Daniels 543; Frank Cirone 476; Jack Lester 473. "400" shooters among the women included Jennie Spada 429; Loretta La Rocca 427; Anne Dittmar 425; Betty Ostrander 403.

Ruzzo Mixed League keglers accounted for a quintet of "500" triples, John Reinhardt's 555, with 144, 190, 221 being the best. Jack Parslow hit 532; J. Coughlin 220-531; Bill Schabot 530; T. Jordan 507; Joe Enright 498; John Schatzel 496; Phyllis DeWitt 494; Betty Helmbold 492; Bill Johnson 484 and John North 482.

John Peyer's 490 was the high triple in the Pin Boy League at the Bowlatorium. He posted scores of 154, 170 and 166. P. Paulus hit for 437, Ed Haines 435; N. Nagele 210, high single and 430.

Ace Pounds Scores Of 210, 236, 231

Johnny Ferraro snapped out of his current bowling slump by rolling into first place in the net singles division of the New York State bowling tournament with a 677 blast Saturday night in Elmira.

Rolling without handicap, the local star compiled games of 210, 236 and 231 to far outdistance the field in the scratch department.

Ferraro slumped in the doubles and then came up with 638 in the team event.

Central Hudson keglers rolled over the 2900 mark in the gross division, while Elston Sport Shop shot 2768 net and 2924 gross. The Freeman trundlers posted 2768 with handicap.

The only complete reports available were those rolled by the Elston trundlers, who rolled on a different shift than the other 11 teams who made the week-end trek to Elmira.

Joe Schrowang pounded 609, with 176, 188 and 245 to spark the Elston trundlers. Frank Leskie shot 550; Tom Carlino 548; Tom Amato 553 and Dick Howard 508.

Carlino and Amato shot 1245 gross doubles; Howard and Leskie had 1056; and Schrowang and Jack Houghtaling hit 1242.

The gross singles scores were: Carlino 501; Amato 580; Howard 494; Leskie 596; Schrowang 560; Jack Houghtaling 583.

Buffalo Man Leads

George Daniels, Buffalo, holds the top spot for top prize money of $300 in the handicap singles with 730 triple rolled last night. He beat the 726 posted by T. Taylor of Geneva on Saturday.

In the championship team events, the Masline Appliance Quintet of Rochester moved into first place during the week-end with a 2880 total. The A-A Lounge team of Lackawanna stands in second spot with 2836.

The Oasis Grill team of Elmira leads in the five-man handicap section with 3180. Rochester's Bay and Goodman Grill squad is second with 3152.

A Rochester team holds the lead in the actual pin doubles rolling, L. Reimer and J. Bloom shooting a 1254 total, while J. Georgeson and Dan Torrey of Oneonta had 1222.

In the doubles event with handicap, Franklin Laemlein and Elmer Ward of Rochester lead with 1354 to the 1324 scored by Carmen Corsi and Bob Sinkeldam of Albany.

Jockey Duel

San Mateo, Calif., April 9 (AP)—Steve Brooks is 1951's winningest U. S. jockey, but is shaded at the Bay Meadows meeting by veteran Jockey Longden. Brooks, the Calumet contract rider, scored five victories Saturday, including Coaltown's whisker triumph in the $15,000 added Art Sparks Handicap. That gave him 70 wins this year. Longdon, former national champ, is second with 66. One win Saturday kept him in front of Brooks 32-31 at Bay Meadows.

Buddenhagen Rotary Star

Clarence Buddenhagen, a one-time City Bowling League star, flashed old time form in rolling high single and high series in the Rotary state tourney, Saturday in Syracuse. The downtown insurance man pounded 244 and 650 to win cash prizes in each division.

He was a member of the Rotary No. 1 squad which rolled into 11th place with 2434. Other members of the team were Emil Boessneck, Claude Middagh, Al Kurdt and Frank Norman.

Buffalo Kegler Tops State Meet

Binghamton, N. Y., April 9 (AP) — Eleanore Debus of Buffalo topped the Class A singles and all-events divisions of the New York women's bowling tournament today as the 18th annual competition entered its third week.

She posted 550 in the singles and 512 in the doubles yesterday after hitting 538 with the Neon Signs team Saturday.

Her 1,600 in the all-events was 11 pins better than the nearest rival, Doris Stutz of Buffalo.

Peg Hegnauer of Poughkeepsie was second in the singles, with 547.

In the Class A team competition, Colvin Casino of Buffalo rolled into the lead with 2,618, followed by Alpine Village, also of Buffalo, with 2,547.

Park Edge Market of Buffalo rolled 2,415 to take over the B division lead. Fedale Photo of Elmira is second with 2,363.

Nebral's Furniture of Dunkirk topped the Class C division with 2,259. Schuler of Rochester is second with 2,259.

There are 1,915 teams competing in the tourney, slated to end May 27.

Robinson Boxes In Oklahoma City

Oklahoma City, April 9 (AP) — Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson headlines a professional boxing card tonight which is Oklahoma City's first in more than two years.

The champ will tangle with light heavyweight Don Ellis of Atlantic City in a 10-round over-the-weight match.

Robinson is expected to weigh in at 157, Ellis at 165.

Forty per cent of the proceeds will go to the Edwards Memorial Hospital here.

Hogan Lands Masters After Fifteen Years

280 Score Tops Riegel by Two

Augusta, Ga., April 9 (AP)—Nine times Ben Hogan came out of Ft. Worth Texas, to shoot for a Masters crown and like no other major professional golf title, the pesky thing kept avoiding him.

The little Texan who thinks golf is a game to play, not something to talk about, finally came through in his tenth attempt. Ben spotted par eight strokes on four trips around the par 36-36-72 Augusta National course to win his first prestige-loaded Masters with 280.

If Ben wanted to retire right now from golf—something he has no intention of doing—he could check through his collection of titles and find not one of major importance missing.

Hogan and Robert (Skee) Riegel, who finished second with a fine 282, were all alone at the head of the class. Hogan with a final round 68 whipped third place finishers Lloyd Mangrum and Lew Worsham by six strokes and Riegel, their junior in experience and publicity, spanked them by four.

Mangrum and Worsham, both former National Open champions, had 286's to complete the list of golfers good enough to beat par. Dave Douglas shot an even par 288.

Comeback Complete

Twenty-five months ago the sports world wondered about the future of Ben Hogan. But Ben lived through the injuries and broken bones his body suffered in West Texas in 1949 when his automobile and a bus collided.

He began his comeback by tying Sam Snead in the Los Angeles Open of 1950. Sam won the playoff.

Last summer Ben put his comeback in the past tense when he won the National Open title. His victory in the 15th Masters at 39 years of age merely confirmed the fact that when Hogan is in a major tournament field the best thing to do is pick him to win.

After his victory on the vicious 6,900-yard National, Ben quietly and humbly said, "I would be satisfied if I never won another tournament. I've certainly had more than my share."

Hogan played the final round on the soaked but sunny National "safe."

His strategy was almost flawless. He didn't go over par on a hole and won birdies four times.

Lawson Little finished with 289, including a final round 72, for sixth and Jim Ferrier, the pre-tournament pick to win, was seventh with 290—72 of those strokes coming on the final tour.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Dallas, April 9 (AP)—The New York Yankees are having a financially successful exhibition tour of the west and southwest. In fact, in 30 games they've drawn almost as many people as the St. Louis Browns did all last season.

The Brownies pulled in a meager 247,131 fans in 1950. So far, 231,452 have paid to see Yankee exhibition games this spring—and there's still a week to go, including the always-popular three-game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers in Yankee Stadium and Ebbets Field.

A crowd of 13,963 saw the Yanks outlast Houston, 15-9, yesterday on the losers' field. Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle hit homers for the New Yorkers.

Hank Clicking

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 9 (AP)—Third Baseman Hank Thompson, who was a big disappointment for the New York Giants during the Florida training season, is showing signs of breaking his prolonged batting slump.

When the New Yorkers left Florida, Thompson, a long-ball hitting lefthander, was sporting an anemic .102 average. But since leaving the land of sunshine, he's hitting at a .584 clip, with seven hits in 12 at bats.

Newk Confident

Asheville, N. C., April 9 (AP)—Don Newcombe, ace righthander of the Brooklyn Dodgers, keeps telling Manager Charlie Dressen "I'll be ready when the season starts." But the big curve-baller has shown little of the form which won him 19 games last season.

Newcombe had planned to pitch a full game against Atlanta yesterday but the Crackers routed him in the seventh inning with a seven-run blast and in all got 14 hits off him.

The Dodgers won't forget Atlanta—or Kirby Higbe—for some time. The Crackers knocked off the Brooks, 8-6, and Ole Higbe, a one-time Dodger, went the distance.

Braves vs. Yankees

Dallas, Tex., April 9 (AP)—Boston's Braves who have been divided into "plane" and "train" squads, assembled here today to begin a three game traveling series with the New York Yankees. The first game will be here today, the second at Kansas City tomorrow and the third at Louisville Wednesday.

Rookie Dick Donovan, competing with Max Surkont and Jim Wilson, for the fourth spot on the Braves' pitching roster, is listed to start for the Tribe. Manager Billy Southworth says Dick can go all the way if he's able.

The remainder of the lineup hasn't been decided. Either Rookie Johnny Logan or Buddy Kerr will play short and the right field spot is a tossup between veteran Willard Marshall and Rookie Bob Addis.

Yesterday the flying team whacked Tulsa of the Texas League 16-11 and the train team walloped Forth Worth of the same circuit 14-5.

Frisch Seeks Pollet

Little Rock, Ark., April 9 (AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch of the Chicago Cubs reportedly is making a renewed effort to land veteran southpaw Howie Pollet from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Frisch was said to have offered owner Fred Saigh of the Cards Johnny Schmitz and cash for Pollet, who is on the block because of a prolonged holdout siege. Saigh said he wasn't interested in either Schmitz or cash.

Turk Lown, best of the Cub rookie twirlers, is scheduled for the nine inning route against Little Rock today.

Lefty Bob Schultz, who won 25 for Nashville last season, surprised his Cub teammates Saturday when he married the former Blanche McPherson, an A.A.U. basketball player.

Tribe Battered

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 9 (AP)—Their first line watered down by a wave of injuries, Cleveland's Indians limped into town today for another game with the New York Giants.

The last two clashes in the exhibition series cost the Tribe the services of three players—Luke Easter, Larry Doby and Jim Hegan.

Easter tore left thigh muscles Saturday while reaching for a low throw and probably will be out two weeks. Yesterday Doby strained his left knee as he tried to make a diving catch and Hegan sprained his right ankle scrambling for first base. They expect to be back in action in four or five days.

The Giants won the clash at Dallas, Texas, yesterday, handing the Indians their worst mauling of the year, 10-3.

Does the arrest of 17 intercollegiate basketball stars on charges of fixing and dumping games constitute "sensational" or "scandalous" news?

Head basketball coach and athletic director, Ken Norton, of Manhattan College, didn't seem to think so, in a recent speech before the Church Basketball League banquet.

After making a gratutitous apology for the presence of a working press representative at the head table (yours truly) the red-haired mentor launched into a tirade against the nswepapers for their treatment of the basketball scandal news.

"The newspapers have a certain amount of space to be filled . . . They know all the answers . . . ad infinitum."

Mr. Norton's Manhattan Jaspers were the first to be hit by the scandal, you will recall, when Junius Kellogg, the giant Negro center, reported a bribe offer from two of Manhattan College's greatest ex-stars—co-captains, Hank Poppe and Jack Byrnes. That disclosure opened the floodgates and, eventually, 15 other stars of Long Island University, City College, New York University and Manhattan were arraigned on "fix" charges.

We can appreciate Mr. Norton's position. He was the first athletic director to be confronted with positive proof of "fixing" by his own products. The sports writers, in the course of doing their usual thorough and dispassionate job, probably gave Mr. Norton a hard time in the first few days of the scandal. Later the Manhattan mentor had Clair Bee and erudite Nat Holman to commiserate with him.

Mr. Norton told his audience that the "breakdown of the moral integrity of the individual" was the principal reason for the scandalous situation. That word scandal keeps cropping up. But he lightly brushed off references to subsidization and the fact that Madison Square Garden might be an evil spawning ground for "fixes" in intercollegiate basketball. He seemed quite disturbed that some of the blame had been placed squarely on the heads of the college presidents.

All the college presidents must agree with Coach Norton that the breakdown of the individual is the primary cause for the stench that rocked the collegiate athletic world. But how do they feel about Madison Square Garden which has been impishly referred to as "The Happy Hunting Grounds?" They exhibited such overwhelming shock and remorse that a few days ago the presidents of St. John's, Manhattan and New York University blithely announced they were returning to the Garden next season.

Norton was groping for the name of a sports columnist who was riding herd on the college presidents for their refusal to face the issue realistically. And with emphasis on their differences and naivete with respect to the unsavory atmosphere of Madison Square Garden the continuation of the colleges' cash-and-carry romance with Promoter Ned Irish.

Well, for Mr. Norton's information, the name that must have been at his fingertips that night was Joe Williams, fearless sports editor of the World-Telegram. Here are a few choice samples of the legacy Williams bestowed on his legion of intelligent, sports-minded readers:

"Only the day before . . . top-level spokesmen for New York University, Manhattan and St. John's had dismissed as a 'myth' the belief that the Garden atmosphere was unhealthy, to use the D.A.'s(Hogan's) description, protested that to return the games to the campus would not help "one iota" and restated as a group their unflinching loyalty to Ned Irish's dollar-spangled promotions.

"Is there ever to be an end to this evil story of tawdry, sure-thing gamblers and youthful avarice? More important, what is to be the solution? It is the judgment of the educators that play in the Garden is not a contributory factor. It is likewise their judgment that return to the campus is not the answer.

"Then what is? Is there something about basketball that makes it peculiarly susceptible to corruption? If so, the solution is simple. Abolish the sport."

That is Joe Williams' challenging indictment of the college presidents.

As for Ken Norton, we wonder if he would have uttered those same insults to the press before, let's say, a New York sports audience? We double wonder!

Win for Schindler

Reading, Pa., April 9 (AP)—The 30-lap feature of the Eastern AAA big car racing inaugural at Reading Fairgrounds yesterday ended in a two-car length upset victory for Bill Schindler, veteran one-legged driver from Freeport, N. Y. Schindler sped into the lead before the first lap was finished and then set the pace the rest of the way. His time was 13:13.08. Two car lengths behind Schindler was Troy Ruttman, Compton, Calif. Third place went to Johnny Parsons, Van Nuys, Calif.

Record Throng of Anglers Awaits First Day of State Trout Season on April 14

Fishing Laws Stay About Same

The 1951 brook, brown and rainbow trout season will get under way on a state-wide basis on April 14. There's every indication that, weather permitting, this state-wide opening day will bring out a record throng of anglers.

Preparing for early season fishing the State Conservation Department has been busy for a month stocking legal-sized trout in heavily-fished streams in the vicinity of dense urban populations, Conservation Commissioner Perry B. Duryea has revealed. The number of fish alloted for individual waters has been substantially increased this year and more fish are of legal size than ever before, he added.

The limited brook, brown and rainbow trout fishing which got under way earlier on April 1 was restricted to a comparatively few rainbow run streams in the Finger Lakes section. This early opening was for just those waters where a great rainbow trout fishery is largely available only during an early spring run. Rainbow trout also could be taken beginning April 1 in Cayuga, Seneca, Skaneateles, Canandaigua, Owasco, Otisco and Keuka Lakes, to which these streams are tributary. Elsewhere in the state, no brook, brown or rainbow trout may be legally taken until April 14.

Laws About Same

Generally, the regulations relating to trout fishing are the same as last year. There are, however, local exceptions, and anglers are advised by officials of the Division of Fish and Game to consult their copies of the Fish and Game Syllabuses for 1951 for special laws and additional protection orders relating to certain waters.

There is no change in the legal size limit regulations for brook, brown or rainbow trout from last year—seven inches, except for rainbow trout in Seneca, Canandaigua and Keuka Lakes, 15 inches, and in Star Lake, St. Lawrence county, 10 inches.

The daily creel limit generally is 10 trout. However, in lakes of Westchester and Putnam counties it is three; for rainbow trout in Seneca, Canandaigua and Keuka Lakes, three; for the following Finger Lakes tributary streams which have the April 1 opening date—Naples Creek, Keuka Lake Inlet and Outlet, Guayanoga Creek, Catherine Creek, Fall Creek, Cascadilla Creek, Six Mile Creek, Cayuga Inlet, Buttermilk Creek, Taghanic Creek, Salmon Creek, Owasco Inlet and Skaneateles Creek, five in the aggregate per day from April 1 to May 15, 10 per day thereafter (fish eggs for bait, gaff hooks and landing nets more than 50 inches around the frame of net and with handles more than 20 inches in length prohibited in these streams); Railroad Pond, Erie county, three in aggregate; Ashokan Reservoir, Ulster county, three rainbow or brown trout singly or in the aggregate.

Twi Leaguers Meet Tuesday

City Baseball League managers and officials will meet on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA to complete plans for the opening of the 1951 season.

President Joe Kelly requests all members to attend.

Montreal—Montreal eliminated Detroit Red Wings from Stanley Cup semi-final playoffs by winning 3-2, and taking best-of-7 series, 4-2.

Boston—Toronto crushed Boston, 6-0, to win semi-final series, 4-1, and thus qualify for final playoff in Stanley Cup play.

Rochester — Rochester Royals swamped New York Knicks, 92-65 and 99-84 on Saturday and Sunday, respectively, to take 2-0 lead in final best-of-7 series in NBA playoffs.

St. Paul — Clarence Marshall, Detroit, rolled games of 206, 213, 245 to take singles lead in annual ABC tourney with 664 series.

Columbus, O — Dick Cleveland, Hawaii, set new record of 50 seconds in 100-yard freestyle in National AAU indoor competition; New Haven Swim Club won team title with 133 points to 58 for Ohio State.

Williams and Pruden End Training Chores

Chicago, April 9 (AP) — Lightweight champion Ike Williams and Fitzie Pruden, Toronto, Canada, welterweight, wind up training chores today for their Chicago Stadium bout Wednesday night.

Ike will be making his first Chicago appearance since he broke the jaw of Johnny Bratton, current NBA welterweight champion, in January, 1950.

Failing to abide by an NBA edict to defend his lightweight honors by March 31, Williams may be forced to give up his crown. The NBA is polling its executive committee on a decision.

Pruden, a sharp-punching 23-year-old, holds victories over such ranking fighters as Tony Janiro, Beau Jack, Ray Carter and John La Broi. He is rated sixth by the NBA among the nation's welterweights.

Ferraro's 677 Leads Net Singles In New York State Tournament

Bowling

Don't forget the Freeman Headpin tournament tonight and all day Sunday at the Ferraro Bowlodrome. You may also compete in the K.W.B.A.'s "Name Your Score" contest.

Harry Houghtaling pounded the maples for 516 high series in the Y Mercantile American League, while E. Schussler had 218-507 and Bill Hornbeck clicked for 505.

Others in the top bracket were Charlie Pugliese 487; C. Spano 202-482; R. Fatum 477; Clarence Hyde 471; Chet Weeks 469; F. Sarbacher 457; Ken Ostrander 450.

Lou Straley won gross prize of $50 in the Ruzzo individual sweepstakes last week, firing a net 221-236-201-658, with 39 handicap for 697. Dick Howard's 235-222-219-676 won scratch prize of $35, while Miriam Posner picked up $15 for shooting 609 gross in the distaff department, with 181-104-213-516 scratch and 93 handicap. Eddie Auclair rolled 246 high single out of the money.

The sweepstakes will feature two gross prizes only this week-end; $50 first place for men and $25 for women.

Frank Grimaldi's 531, with 182-173-170, was the best triple in the Commercial League, while Moe Lazarowitz came up with the top single of 222. W. Stenson packed 204-507, while Eddie Bahl hit for 502. Other high scorers included Herm Seelbach with 484; C. Diffley 483; Ed Dasher 481; R. Smith 472; W. Miller 464; Milton Bahl 464.

Frank Grimaldi and Marge Van Alstyne led their respective divisions of the Central Rec Mixed League, with 584 and 434. Grimaldi stacked solo games of 224, 166 and 194 while Mrs. Van Alstyne posted 136-140-158.

Other high men bowlers were Frank Bruno with 226-201-561; Don Peterson 548; John Sangi 202-546; Jim Daniels 543; Frank Cirone 476; Jack Lester 473. "400" shooters among the women included Jennie Spada 429; Loretta La Rocca 427; Anne Dittmar 425; Betty Ostrander 403.

Ruzzo Mixed League keglers accounted for a quintet of "500" triples, John Reinhardt's 555, with 144, 190, 221 being the best. Jack Parslow hit 532; J. Coughlin 220-531; Bill Schabot 530; T. Jordan 507; Joe Enright 498; John Schatzel 496; Phyllis DeWitt 494; Betty Helmbold 492; Bill Johnson 484 and John North 482.

John Peyer's 490 was the high triple in the Pin Boy League at the Bowlatorium. He posted scores of 154, 170 and 166. P. Paulus hit for 437, Ed Haines 435; N. Nagele 210, high single and 430.

Ace Pounds Scores Of 210, 236, 231

Johnny Ferraro snapped out of his current bowling slump by rolling into first place in the net singles division of the New York State bowling tournament with a 677 blast Saturday night in Elmira.

Rolling without handicap, the local star compiled games of 210, 236 and 231 to far outdistance the field in the scratch department.

Ferraro slumped in the doubles and then came up with 688 in the team event.

Central Hudson keglers rolled over the 2900 mark in the gross division, while Elston Sport Shop shot 2768 net and 2924 gross. The Freeman trundlers posted 2768 with handicap.

The only complete reports available were those rolled by the Elston trundlers, who rolled on a different shift than the other 11 teams who made the week-end trek to Elmira.

Joe Schrowang pounded 609, with 176, 188 and 245 to spark the Elston trundlers. Frank Leskie shot 550; Tom Carlino 548; Tom Amato 553 and Dick Howard 508.

Carlino and Amato shot 1245 gross doubles; Howard and Leskie had 1056; and Schrowang and Jack Houghtaling hit 1242.

The gross singles scores were: Carlino 501; Amato 580; Howard 494; Leskie 596; Schrowang 560; Jack Houghtaling 583.

Buffalo Man Leads

George Daniels, Buffalo, holds the top spot for top prize money of $300 in the handicap singles with 730 triple rolled last night. He beat the 726 posted by T. Taylor of Geneva on Saturday.

In the championship team events, the Masline Appliance Quintet of Rochester moved into first place during the week-end with a 2880 total. The A-A Lounge team of Lackawanna stands in second spot with 2836.

The Oasis Grill team of Elmira leads in the five-man handican section with 3180. Rochester's Bay and Goodman Grill squad is second with 3152.

A Rochester team holds the lead in the actual pin doubles rolling. L. Reimer and J. Bloom shooting a 1254 total, while J. Georgeson and Dan Torrey of Oneonta had 1222.

In the doubles event with handican, Franklin Laemlein and Elmer Ward of Rochester lead with 1354 to the 1324 scored by Carmen Corsi and Bob Sinkeldam of Albany.

Jockey Duel

San Mateo, Calif., April 9 (AP)—Steve Brooks is 1951's winningest U. S. jockey, but is shaded at the Bay Meadows meeting by veteran Jockey Longden. Brooks, the Calumet contract rider, scored five victories Saturday, including Coaltown's whisker triumph in the $15,000 added Art Sparks Handicap. That gave him 70 wins this year. Longdon, former national champ, is second with 66. One win Saturday kept him in front of Brooks 32-31 at Bay Meadows.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Dallas, April 9 (AP)—The New York Yankees are having a financially successful exhibition tour of the west and southwest. In fact, in 30 games they've drawn almost as many people as the St. Louis Browns did all last season.

The Brownies pulled in a meager 247,131 fans in 1950. So far, 231,452 have paid to see Yankee exhibition games this spring—and there's still a week to go, including the always-popular three-game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers in Yankee Stadium and Ebbets Field.

A crowd of 13,963 saw the Yanks outlast Houston, 15-9, yesterday on the losers' field. Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle hit homers for the New Yorkers.

Hank Clicking

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 9 (AP)—Third Baseman Hank Thompson, who was a big disappointment for the New York Giants during the Florida training season, is showing signs of breaking his prolonged batting slump.

When the New Yorkers left Florida, Thompson, a long-ball hitting lefthander, was sporting an anemic .102 average. But since leaving the land of sunshine, he's hitting at a .584 clip, with seven hits in 12 at bats.

Newk Confident

Asheville, N. C., April 9 (AP)—Don Newcombe, ace righthander of the Brooklyn Dodgers, keeps telling Manager Charlie Dressen "I'll be ready when the season starts." But the big curve-baller has shown little of the form which won him 19 games last season.

Newcombe had planned to pitch a full game against Atlanta yesterday but the Crackers routed him in the seventh inning with a seven-run blast and in all got 14 hits off him.

The Dodgers won't forget Atlanta—or Kirby Higbe—for some time. The Crackers knocked off the Brooks, 8-6, and Ole Higbe, a one-time Dodger, went the distance.

Braves vs. Yankees

Dallas, Tex., April 9 (AP)—Boston's Braves who have been divided into "plane" and "train" squads, assembled here today to begin a three game traveling series with the New York Yankees. The first game will be here today, the second at Kansas City tomorrow and the third at Louisville Wednesday.

Rookie Dick Donovan, competing with Max Surkont and Jim Wilson, for the fourth spot on the Braves' pitching roster, is listed to start for the Tribe. Manager Billy Southworth says Dick can go all the way if he's able.

The remainder of the lineup hasn't been decided. Either Rookie Johnny Logan or Buddy Kerr will play short and the right field spot is a tossup between veteran Willard Marshall and Rookie Bob Addis.

Yesterday the flying team whacked Tulsa of the Texas League 16-11 and the train team walloped Forth Worth of the same circuit 14-5.

Frisch Seeks Pollet

Little Rock, Ark., April 9 (AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch of the Chicago Cubs reportedly is making a renewed effort to land veteran southpaw Howie Pollet from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Frisch was said to have offered owner Fred Saigh of the Cards Johnny Schmitz and cash for Pollet, who is on the block because of a prolonged holdout siege. Saigh said he wasn't interested in either Schmitz or cash.

Turk Lown, best of the Cub rookie twirlers, is scheduled for the nine inning route against Little Rock today.

Lefty Bob Schultz, who won 25 for Nashville last season, surprised his Cub teammates Saturday when he married the former Blanche McPherson, an A.A.U. basketball player.

Tribe Battered

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 9 (AP)—Their first line watered down by a wave of injuries, Cleveland's Indians limped into town today for another game with the New York Giants.

The last two clashes in the exhibition series cost the Tribe the services of three players—Luke Easter, Larry Doby and Jim Hegan.

Easter tore left thigh muscles Saturday while reaching for a low throw and probably will be out two weeks. Yesterday Doby strained his left knee as he tried to make a diving catch and Hegan sprained his right ankle scrambling for first base. They expect to be back in action in four or five days.

The Giants won the clash at Dallas, Texas, yesterday, handing the Indians their worst mauling of the year, 10-3.

Does the arrest of 17 intercollegiate basketball stars on charges of fixing and dumping games constitute "sensational" or "scandalous" news?

Head basketball coach and athletic director, Ken Norton, of Manhattan College, didn't seem to think so, in a recent speech before the Church Basketball League banquet.

After making a gratuitous apology for the presence of a working press representative at the head table (yours truly) the red-haired mentor launched into a tirade against the nswepapers for their treatment of the basketball scandal news.

"The newspapers have a certain amount of space to be filled . . . They know all the answers . . . ad infinitum."

Mr. Norton's Manhattan Jaspers were the first to be hit by the scandal, you will recall, when Junius Kellogg, the giant Negro center, reported a bribe offer from two of Manhattan College's greatest ex-stars—co-captains, Hank Poppe and Jack Byrnes. That disclosure opened the floodgates and, eventually, 15 other stars of Long Island University, City College, New York University and Manhattan were arraigned on "fix" charges.

We can appreciate Mr. Norton's position. He was the first athletic director to be confronted with positive proof of "fixing" by his own products. The sports writers, in the course of doing their usual thorough and dispassionate job, probably gave Mr. Norton a hard time in the first few days of the scandal. Later the Manhattan mentor had Clair Bee and erudite Nat Holman to commiserate with him.

Mr. Norton told his audience that the "breakdown of the moral integrity of the individual" was the principal reason for the scandalous situation. That word scandal keeps cropping up. But he lightly brushed off references to subsidization and the fact that Madison Square Garden might be an evil spawning ground for "fixes" in intercollegiate basketball. He seemed quite disturbed that some of the blame had been placed squarely on the heads of the college presidents.

All the college presidents must agree with Coach Norton that the breakdown of the individual is the primary cause for the stench that rocked the collegiate athletic world. But how do they feel about Madison Square Garden which has been impishly referred to as "The Happy Hunting Grounds?" They exhibited such overwhelming shock and remorse that a few days ago the presidents of St. John's, Manhattan and New York University blithely announced they were returning to the Garden next season.

Norton was groping for the name of a sports columnist who was riding herd on the college presidents for their refusal to face the issue realistically. And with emphasis on their differences and naivete with respect to the unsavory atmosphere of Madison Square Garden the continuation of the colleges' cash-and-carry romance with Promoter Ned Irish.

Well, for Mr. Norton's information, the name that must have been at his fingertips that night was Joe Williams, fearless sports editor of the World-Telegram. Here are a few choice samples of the legacy Williams bestowed on his legion of intelligent, sports-minded readers:

"Only the day before . . . top-level spokesmen for New York University, Manhattan and St. John's had dismissed as a 'myth' the belief that the Garden atmosphere was unhealthy, to use the D.A.'s(Hogan's) description, protested that to return the games to the campus would not help "one iota" and restated as a group their unflinching loyalty to Ned Irish's dollar-spangled promotions.

"Is there ever to be an end to this evil story of tawdry, surething gamblers and youthful avarice? More important, what is to be the solution? It is the judgment of the educators that play in the Garden is not a contributory factor. It is likewise their judgment that return to the campus is not the answer.

"Then what is? Is there something about basketball that makes it peculiarly susceptible to corruption? If so, the solution is simple. Abolish the sport."

That is Joe Williams' challenging indictment of the college presidents.

As for Ken Norton, we wonder if he would have uttered those same insults to the press before, let's say, a New York sports audience? We double wonder!

Win for Schindler

Reading, Pa., April 9 (AP)—The 30-lap feature of the Eastern AAA big car racing inaugural at Reading Fairgrounds yesterday ended in a two-car length upset victory for Bill Schindler, veteran one-legged driver from Freeport, N. Y. Schindler sped into the lead before the first lap was finished and then set the pace the rest of the way. His time was 13:13.08. Two car lengths behind Schindler was Troy Ruttman, Compton, Calif. Third place went to Johnny Parsons, Van Nuys, Calif.

Record Throng of Anglers Awaits First Day of State Trout Season on April 14

Fishing Laws Stay About Same

The 1951 brook, brown and rainbow trout season will get under way on a state-wide basis on April 14. There's every indication that, weather permitting, this state-wide opening day will bring out a record throng of anglers.

Preparing for early season fishing the State Conservation Department has been busy for a month stocking legal-sized trout in heavily-fished streams in the vicinity of dense urban populations, Conservation Commissioner Perry B. Duryea has revealed. The number of fish alloted for individual waters has been substantially increased this year and more fish are of legal size than ever before, he added.

The limited brook, brown and rainbow trout fishing which got under way earlier on April 1 was restricted to a comparatively few rainbow run streams in the Finger Lakes section. This early opening was for just those waters where a great rainbow trout fishery is largely available only during an early spring run. Rainbow trout also could be taken beginning April 1 in Cayuga, Seneca, Skaneateles, Canandaigua, Owasco, Otisco and Keuka Lakes, to which these streams are tributary. Elsewhere in the state, no brook, brown or rainbow trout may be legally taken until April 14.

Laws About Same

Generally, the regulations relating to trout fishing are the same as last year. There are, however, local exceptions, and anglers are advised by officials of the Division of Fish and Game to consult their copies of the Fish and Game Syllabuses for 1951 for special laws and additional protection orders relating to certain waters.

There is no change in the legal size limit regulations for brook, brown or rainbow trout from last year—seven inches, except for rainbow trout in Seneca, Canandaigua and Keuka Lakes, 15 inches, and in Star Lake, St. Lawrence county, 10 inches.

The daily creel limit generally is 10 trout. However, in lakes of Westchester and Putnam counties it is three; for rainbow trout in Seneca, Canandaigua and Keuka Lakes, three; for the following Finger Lakes tributary streams which have the April 1 opening date—Naples Creek, Keuka Lake Inlet and Outlet, Guayanoga Creek, Catherine Creek, Fall Creek, Cascadilla Creek, Six Mile Creek, Cayuga Inlet, Buttermilk Creek, Taghanic Creek, Salmon Creek, Owasco Inlet and Skaneateles Creek, five in the aggregate per day from April 1 to May 15, 10 per day thereafter (fish eggs for bait, gaff hooks and landing nets more than 50 inches around the frame of net and with handles more than 20 inches in length prohibited in these streams); Railroad Pond, Erie county, three in aggregate; Ashokan Reservoir, Ulster county, three rainbow or brown trout singly or in the aggregate.

Twi Leaguers Meet Tuesday

City Baseball League managers and officials will meet on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA to complete plans for the opening of the 1951 season.

President Joe Kelly requests all members to attend.

Montreal—Montreal eliminated Detroit Red Wings from Stanley Cup semi-final playoffs by winning 3-2, and taking best-of-7 series, 4-2.

Boston—Toronto crushed Boston, 6-0, to win semi-final series, 4-1, and thus qualify for final playoff in Stanley Cup play.

Rochester — Rochester Royals swamped New York Knicks, 92-65 and 99-84 on Saturday and Sunday, respectively, to take 2-0 lead in final best-of-7 series in NBA playoffs.

St. Paul — Clarence Marshall, Detroit, rolled games of 206, 213, 245 to take singles lead in annual ABC tourney with 664 series.

Columbus, O — Dick Cleveland, Hawaii, set new record of 50 seconds in 100-yard freestyle in National AAU indoor competition; New Haven Swim Club won team title with 133 points to 58 for Ohio State.

Williams and Pruden End Training Chores

Chicago, April 9 (AP) — Lightweight champion Ike Williams and Fitzie Pruden, Toronto, Canada, welterweight, wind up training chores today for their Chicago Stadium bout Wednesday night.

Ike will be making his first Chicago appearance since he broke the jaw of Johnny Bratton, current NBA welterweight champion, in January, 1950.

Failing to abide by an NBA edict to defend his lightweight honors by March 31, Williams may be forced to give up his crown. The NBA is polling its executive committee on a decision.

Pruden, a sharp-punching 23-year-old, holds victories over such ranking fighters as Tony Janiro, Beau Jack, Ray Carter and John La Broi. He is rated sixth by the NBA among the nation's welterweights.

Buffalo Kegler Tops State Meet

Binghamton, N. Y., April 9 (AP) — Eleanore Debus of Buffalo topped the Class A singles and all-events divisions of the New York women's bowling tournament today as the 18th annual competition entered its third week.

She posted 550 in the singles and 512 in the doubles yesterday after hitting 538 with the Neon Signs team Saturday.

Her 1,600 in the all-events was 11 pins better than the nearest rival, Doris Stutz of Buffalo.

Peg Hegnauer of Poughkeepsie was second in the singles, with 547.

In the Class A team competition, Colvin Casino of Buffalo rolled into the lead with 2,618, followed by Alpine Village, also of Buffalo, with 2,547.

Park Edge Market of Buffalo rolled 2,415 to take over the B division lead. Fedale Photo of Elmira is second with 2,363.

Nebral's Furniture of Dunkirk topped the Class C division with 2,259. Schuler of Rochester is second with 2,259.

There are 1,915 teams competing in the tourney, slated to end May 27.

Leaders in other divisions:

Class A Doubles—Rita Geser and Marie Kornaker, North Tonawanda, 1,037; Ida Simpson and Phyllis Notaro, Angola, 1,031; Class B Doubles—Ruth Verway and Lillian Lighthouse, Rochester, 982; Betty Murray and Eulie Freeman, Troy, 961; Class C Doubles—Jane Burt and Genevieve Kraushaar, Syracuse, 961; Marian Tripp and Beverly Larson, Jamestown, 923.

Robinson Boxes In Oklahoma City

Oklahoma City, April 9 (AP) — Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson headlines a professional boxing card tonight which is Oklahoma City's first in more than two years.

The champ will tangle with light heavyweight Don Ellis of Atlantic City in a 10-round over-the-weight match.

Robinson is expected to weigh in at 157, Ellis at 165.

Forty per cent of the proceeds will go to the Edwards Memorial Hospital here.

Buddenhagen Rotary Star

Clarence Buddenhagen, a one-time City Bowling League star, flashed old time form in rolling high single and high series in the Rotary state tourney, Saturday in Syracuse. The downtown insurance man pounded 244 and 650 to win cash prizes in each division.

He was a member of the Rotary No. 1 squad which rolled into 11th place with 2434. Other members of the team were Emil Boessneck, Claude Middagh, Al Kurdt and Frank Norman.

Hogan Lands Masters After Fifteen Years

280 Score Tops Riegel by Two

Augusta, Ga., April 9 (AP)—Nine times Ben Hogan came out of Ft. Worth Texas, to shoot for a Masters crown and like no other major professional golf title, the pesky thing kept avoiding him.

The little Texan who thinks golf is a game to play, not something to talk about, finally came through in his tenth attempt. Ben spotted par eight strokes on four trips around the par 36-36-72 Augusta National course to win his first prestige-loaded Masters with 280.

If Ben wanted to retire right now from golf—something he has no intention of doing—he could check through his collection of titles and find not one of major importance missing.

Hogan and Robert (Skee) Riegel, who finished second with a fine 282, were all alone at the head of the class. Hogan with a final round 68 whipped third place finishers Lloyd Mangrum and Lew Worsham by six strokes and Riegel, their junior in experience and publicity, spanked them by four.

Mangrum and Worsham, both former National Open champions, had 286's to complete the list of golfers good enough to beat par. Dave Douglas shot an even par 288.

Comeback Complete

Twenty-five months ago the sports world wondered about the future of Ben Hogan. But Ben lived through the injuries and broken bones his body suffered in West Texas in 1949 when his automobile and a bus collided.

He began his comeback by tying Sam Snead in the Los Angeles Open of 1950. Sam won the playoff.

Last summer Ben put his comeback in the past tense when he won the National Open title. His victory in the 15th Masters at 39 years of age merely confirmed the fact that when Hogan is in a major tournament field the best thing to do is pick him to win.

After his victory on the vicious 6,900-yard National, Ben quietly and humbly said, "I would be satisfied if I never won another tournament. I've certainly had more than my share."

Hogan played the final round on the soaked but sunny National "safe."

His strategy was almost flawless. He didn't go over par on a hole and won birdies four times.

Lawson Little finished with 289, including a final round 72, for sixth and Jim Ferrier, the pre-tournament pick to win, was seventh with 290—72 of those strokes coming on the final tour.

Ace Pounds Scores Of 210, 236, 231

Johnny Ferraro snapped out of his current bowling slump by rolling into first place in the net singles division of the New York State bowling tournament with a 677 blast Saturday night in Elmira.

Rolling without handicap, the local star compiled games of 210, 236 and 231 to far outdistance the field in the scratch department.

Ferraro slumped in the doubles and then came up with 638 in the team event.

Central Hudson keglers rolled over the 2900 mark in the gross division, while Elston Sport Shop shot 2768 net and 2924 gross. The Freeman trundlers posted 2768 with handicap.

The only complete reports available were those rolled by the Elston trundlers, who rolled on a different shift than the other 11 teams who made the week-end trek to Elmira.

Joe Schrowang pounded 609, with 176, 188 and 245 to spark the Elston trundlers. Frank Leskie shot 550; Tom Carlino 548; Tom Amato 553 and Dick Howard 508.

Carlino and Amato shot 1245 gross doubles; Howard and Leskie had 1056; and Schrowang and Jack Houghtaling hit 1242.

The gross singles scores were: Carlino 501; Amato 580; Howard 494; Leskie 596; Schrowang 560; Jack Houghtaling 583.

Buffalo Man Leads

George Daniels, Buffalo, holds the top spot for top prize money of $300 in the handicap singles with 730 triple rolled last night. He beat the 726 posted by T. Taylor of Geneva on Saturday.

In the championship team events, the Masline Appliance Quintet of Rochester moved into first place during the week-end with a 2880 total. The A-A Lounge team of Lackawanna stands in second spot with 2836.

The Oasis Grill team of Elmira leads in the five-man handicap section with 3180. Rochester's Bay and Goodman Grill squad is second with 3152.

A Rochester team holds the lead in the actual pin doubles rolling. L. Reimer and J. Bloom shooting a 1254 total, while J. Georgeson and Dan Torrey of Oneonta had 1222.

In the doubles event with handicap, Franklin Laemlein and Elmer Ward of Rochester lead with 1354 to the 1324 scored by Carmen Corsi and Bob Sinkeldam of Albany.

Jockey Duel

San Mateo, Calif., April 9 (AP)—Steve Brooks is 1951's winningest U. S. jockey, but is shaded at the Bay Meadows meeting by veteran Jockey Longden. Brooks, the Calumet contract rider, scored five victories Saturday, including Coaltown's whisker triumph in the $15,000 added Art Sparks Handicap. That gave him 70 wins this year. Longdon, former national champ, is second with 66. One win Saturday kept him in front of Brooks 32-31 at Bay Meadows.

Buffalo Kegler Tops State Meet

Binghamton, N. Y., April 9 (AP) — Eleanore Debus of Buffalo topped the Class A singles and all-events divisions of the New York women's bowling tournament today as the 18th annual competition entered its third week.

She posted 550 in the singles and 512 in the doubles yesterday after hitting 538 with the Neon Signs team Saturday.

Her 1,600 in the all-events was 11 pins better than the nearest rival, Doris Stutz of Buffalo.

Peg Hegnauer of Poughkeepsie was second in the singles, with 547.

In the Class A team competition, Colvin Casino of Buffalo rolled into the lead with 2,618, followed by Alpine Village, also of Buffalo, with 2,547.

Park Edge Market of Buffalo rolled 2,415 to take over the B division lead. Fedale Photo of Elmira is second with 2,363.

Nebral's Furniture of Dunkirk topped the Class C division with 2,259. Schuler of Rochester is second with 2,259.

There are 1,915 teams competing in the tourney, slated to end May 27.

Leaders in other divisions:

Class A Doubles—Rita Geser and Marie Kornaker, North Tonawanda, 1,037; Ida Simpson and Phyllis Notaro, Angola, 1,031; Class B Doubles—Ruth Verway and Lillian Lighthouse, Rochester, 982; Betty Murray and Eulie Freeman, Troy, 961; Class C Doubles—Jane Burt and Genevieve Kraushaar, Syracuse, 961; Marian Tripp and Beverly Larson, Jamestown, 923.

Class B Singles—Margaret Callahan, Schenectady, 558; Helen Suppies, Buffalo, 541; Class C—Ruth Vrooman, Canajoharie, 508; Kate Kinney, Herkimer, 487.

Booster Teams — Ejaa Infants Stitching, Johnson City, 2,118; Central Bowling, Binghamton, 2,111.

Robinson Boxes In Oklahoma City

Oklahoma City, April 9 (AP) — Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson headlines a professional boxing card tonight which is Oklahoma City's first in more than two years.

The champ will tangle with light heavyweight Don Ellis of Atlantic City in a 10-round over-the-weight match.

Robinson is expected to weigh in at 157, Ellis at 165.

Forty per cent of the proceeds will go to the Edwards Memorial Hospital here.

Buddenhagen Rotary Star

Clarence Buddenhagen, a one-time City Bowling League star, flashed old time form in rolling high single and high series in the Rotary state tourney, Saturday in Syracuse. The downtown insurance man pounded 244 and 650 to win cash prizes in each division.

He was a member of the Rotary No. 1 squad which rolled into 11th place with 2434. Other members of the team were Emil Boessneck, Claude Middagh, Al Kurdt and Frank Norman.

Hogan Lands Masters After Fifteen Years

280 Score Tops Riegel by Two

Augusta, Ga., April 9 (AP)—Nine times Ben Hogan came out of Ft. Worth Texas, to shoot for a Masters crown and like no other major professional golf title, the pesky thing kept avoiding him.

The little Texan who thinks golf is a game to play, not something to talk about, finally came through in his tenth attempt. Ben spotted par eight strokes on four trips around the par 36-36-72 Augusta National course to win his first prestige-loaded Masters with 280.

If Ben wanted to retire right now from golf—something he has no intention of doing—he could check through his collection of titles and find not one of major importance missing.

Hogan and Robert (Skee) Riegel, who finished second with a fine 282, were all alone at the head of the class. Hogan with a final round 68 whipped third place finishers Lloyd Mangrum and Lew Worsham by six strokes and Riegel, their junior in experience and publicity, spanked them by four.

Mangrum and Worsham, both former National Open champions, had 286's to complete the list of golfers good enough to beat par. Dave Douglas shot an even par 288.

Comeback Complete

Twenty-five months ago the sports world wondered about the future of Ben Hogan. But Ben lived through the injuries and broken bones his body suffered in West Texas in 1949 when his automobile and a bus collided.

He began his comeback by tying Sam Snead in the Los Angeles Open of 1950. Sam won the playoff.

Last summer Ben put his comeback in the past tense when he won the National Open title. His victory in the 15th Masters at 39 years of age merely confirmed the fact that when Hogan is in a major tournament field the best thing to do is pick him to win.

After his victory on the vicious 6,900-yard National, Ben quietly and humbly said, "I would be satisfied if I never won another tournament. I've certainly had more than my share."

Hogan played the final round on the soaked but sunny National "safe."

His strategy was almost flawless. He didn't go over par on a hole and won birdies four times.

Lawson Little finished with 289, including a final round 72, for sixth and Jim Ferrier, the pre-tournament pick to win, was seventh with 290—72 of those strokes coming on the final tour.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Dallas, April 9 (AP)—The New York Yankees are having a financially successful exhibition tour of the west and southwest. In fact, in 30 games they've drawn almost as many people as the St. Louis Browns did all last season.

The Brownies pulled in a meager 247,131 fans in 1950. So far, 231,452 have paid to see Yankee exhibition games this spring—and there's still a week to go, including the always-popular three-game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers in Yankee Stadium and Ebbets Field.

A crowd of 13,963 saw the Yanks outlast Houston, 15-9, yesterday on the losers' field. Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle hit homers for the New Yorkers.

Hank Clicking

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 9 (AP)—Third Baseman Hank Thompson, who was a big disappointment for the New York Giants during the Florida training season, is showing signs of breaking his prolonged batting slump.

When the New Yorkers left Florida, Thompson, a long-ball hitting lefthander, was sporting an anemic .102 average. But since leaving the land of sunshine, he's hitting at a .584 clip, with seven hits in 12 at bats.

Newk Confident

Asheville, N. C., April 9 (AP)—Don Newcombe, ace righthander of the Brooklyn Dodgers, keeps telling Manager Charlie Dressen "I'll be ready when the season starts." But the big curve-baller has shown little of the form which won him 19 games last season.

Newcombe had planned to pitch a full game against Atlanta yesterday but the Crackers routed him in the seventh inning with a seven-run blast and in all got 14 hits off him.

The Dodgers won't forget Atlanta—or Kirby Higbe—for some time. The Crackers knocked off the Brooks, 8-6, and Ole Higbe, a one-time Dodger, went the distance.

Braves vs. Yankees

Dallas, Tex., April 9 (AP)—Boston's Braves who have been divided into "plane" and "train" squads, assembled here today to begin a three game traveling series with the New York Yankees. The first game will be here today, the second at Kansas City tomorrow and the third at Louisville Wednesday.

Rookie Dick Donovan, competing with Max Surkont and Jim Wilson, for the fourth spot on the Braves' pitching roster, is listed to start for the Tribe. Manager Billy Southworth says Dick can go all the way if he's able.

The remainder of the lineup hasn't been decided. Either Rookie Johnny Logan or Buddy Kerr will play short and the right field spot is a tossup between veteran Willard Marshall and Rookie Bob Addis.

Yesterday the flying team whacked Tulsa of the Texas League 16-11 and the train team walloped Forth Worth of the same circuit 14-5.

Frisch Seeks Pollet

Little Rock, Ark., April 9 (AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch of the Chicago Cubs reportedly is making a renewed effort to land veteran southpaw Howie Pollet from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Frisch was said to have offered owner Fred Saigh of the Cards Johnny Schmitz and cash for Pollet, who is on the block because of a prolonged holdout siege. Saigh said he wasn't interested in either Schmitz or cash.

Turk Lown, best of the Cub rookie twirlers, is scheduled for the nine inning route against Little Rock today.

Lefty Bob Schultz, who won 25 for Nashville last season, surprised his Cub teammates Saturday when he married the former Blanche McPherson, an A.A.U. basketball player.

Tribe Battered

Pine Bluff, Ark., April 9 (AP)—Their first line watered down by a wave of injuries, Cleveland's Indians limped into town today for another game with the New York Giants.

The last two clashes in the exhibition series cost the Tribe the services of three players—Luke Easter, Larry Doby and Jim Hegan.

Easter tore left thigh muscles Saturday while reaching for a low throw and probably will be out two weeks. Yesterday Doby strained his left knee as he tried to make a diving catch and Hegan sprained his right ankle scrambling for first base. They expect to be back in action in four or five days.

The Giants won the clash at Dallas, Texas, yesterday, handing the Indians their worst mauling of the year, 10-3.

Does the arrest of 17 intercollegiate basketball stars on charges of fixing and dumping games constitute "sensational" or "scandalous" news?

Head basketball coach and athletic director, Ken Norton, of Manhattan College, didn't seem to think so, in a recent speech before the Church Basketball League banquet.

After making a gratuitous apology for the presence of a working press representative at the head table (yours truly) the red-haired mentor launched into a tirade against the nswepapers for their treatment of the basketball scandal news.

"The newspapers have a certain amount of space to be filled . . . They know all the answers . . . ad infinitum."

Mr. Norton's Manhattan Jaspers were the first to be hit by the scandal, you will recall, when Junius Kellogg, the giant Negro center, reported a bribe offer from two of Manhattan College's greatest ex-stars—co-captains, Hank Poppe and Jack Byrnes. That disclosure opened the floodgates and, eventually, 15 other stars of Long Island University, City College, New York University and Manhattan were arraigned on "fix" charges.

We can appreciate Mr. Norton's position. He was the first athletic director to be confronted with positive proof of "fixing" by his own products. The sports writers, in the course of doing their usual thorough and dispassionate job, probably gave Mr. Norton a hard time in the first few days of the scandal. Later the Manhattan mentor had Clair Bee and erudite Nat Holman to commiserate with him.

Mr. Norton told his audience that the "breakdown of the moral integrity of the individual" was the principal reason for the scandalous situation. That word scandal keeps cropping up. But he lightly brushed off references to subsidization and the fact that Madison Square Garden might be an evil spawning ground for "fixes" in intercollegiate basketball. He seemed quite disturbed that some of the blame had been placed squarely on the heads of the college presidents.

All the college presidents must agree with Coach Norton that the breakdown of the individual is the primary cause for the stench that rocked the collegiate athletic world. But how do they feel about Madison Square Garden which has been impishly referred to as "The Happy Hunting Grounds?" They exhibited such overwhelming shock and remorse that a few days ago the presidents of St. John's, Manhattan and New York University blithely announced they were returning to the Garden next season.

Norton was groping for the name of a sports columnist who was riding herd on the college presidents for their refusal to face the issue realistically. And with emphasis on their differences and naivete with respect to the unsavory atmosphere of Madison Square Garden the continuation of the colleges' cash-and-carry romance with Promoter Ned Irish.

Well, for Mr. Norton's information, the name that must have been at his fingertips that night was Joe Williams, fearless sports editor of the World-Telegram. Here are a few choice samples of the legacy Williams bestowed on his legion of intelligent, sports-minded readers:

"Only the day before . . . top-level spokesmen for New York University, Manhattan and St. John's had dismissed as a 'myth' the belief that the Garden atmosphere was unhealthy, to use the D.A.'s(Hogan's) description, protested that to return the games to the campus would not help "one iota" and restated as a group their unflinching loyalty to Ned Irish's dollar-spangled promotions.

"Is there ever to be an end to this evil story of tawdry, sure-thing gamblers and youthful avarice? More important, what is to be the solution? It is the judgment of the educators that play in the Garden is not a contributory factor. It is likewise their judgment that return to the campus is not the answer.

"Then what is? Is there something about basketball that makes it peculiarly susceptible to corruption? If so, the solution is simple. Abolish the sport."

That is Joe Williams' challenging indictment of the college presidents.

As for Ken Norton, we wonder if he would have uttered those same insults to the press before, let's say, a New York sports audience? We double wonder!

Win for Schindler

Reading, Pa., April 9 (AP)—The 30-lap feature of the Eastern AAA big car racing inaugural at Reading Fairgrounds yesterday ended in a two-car length upset victory for Bill Schindler, veteran one-legged driver from Freeport, N. Y. Schindler sped into the lead before the first lap was finished and then set the pace the rest of the way. His time was 13:13.08. Two car lengths behind Schindler was Troy Ruttman, Compton, Calif. Third place went to Johnny Parsons, Van Nuys, Calif.

Record Throng of Anglers Awaits First Day of State Trout Season on April 14

Fishing Laws Stay About Same

The 1951 brook, brown and rainbow trout season will get under way on a state-wide basis on April 14. There's every indication that, weather permitting, this state-wide opening day will bring out a record throng of anglers.

Preparing for early season fishing the State Conservation Department has been busy for a month stocking legal-sized trout in heavily-fished streams in the vicinity of dense urban populations, Conservation Commissioner Perry B. Duryea has revealed. The number of fish alloted for individual waters has been substantially increased this year and more fish are of legal size than ever before, he added.

The limited brook, brown and rainbow trout fishing which got under way earlier on April 1 was restricted to a comparatively few rainbow run streams in the Finger Lakes section. This early opening was for just those waters where a great rainbow trout fishery is largely available only during an early spring run. Rainbow trout also could be taken beginning April 1 in Cayuga, Seneca, Skaneateles, Canandaigua, Owasco, Otisco and Keuka Lakes, to which these streams are tributary. Elsewhere in the state, no brook, brown or rainbow trout may be legally taken until April 14.

Laws About Same

Generally, the regulations relating to trout fishing are the same as last year. There are, however, local exceptions, and anglers are advised by officials of the Division of Fish and Game to consult their copies of the Fish and Game Syllabuses for 1951 for special laws and additional protection orders relating to certain waters.

There is no change in the legal size limit regulations for brook, brown or rainbow trout from last year—seven inches, except for rainbow trout in Seneca, Canandaigua and Keuka Lakes, 15 inches, and in Star Lake, St. Lawrence county, 10 inches.

The daily creel limit generally is 10 trout. However, in lakes of Westchester and Putnam counties it is three; for rainbow trout in Seneca, Canandaigua and Keuka Lakes, three; for the following Finger Lakes tributary streams which have the April 1 opening date—Naples Creek, Keuka Lake Inlet and Outlet, Guayanoga Creek, Catherine Creek, Fall Creek, Cascadilla Creek, Six Mile Creek, Cayuga Inlet, Buttermilk Creek, Taghanic Creek, Salmon Creek, Owasco Inlet and Skaneateles Creek, five in the aggregate per day from April 1 to May 15, 10 per day thereafter (fish eggs for bait, gaff hooks and landing nets more than 50 inches around the frame of net and with handles more than 20 inches in length prohibited in these streams); Railroad Pond, Erie county, three in aggregate; Ashokan Reservoir, Ulster county, three rainbow or brown trout singly or in the aggregate.

Twi Leaguers Meet Tuesday

City Baseball League managers and officials will meet on Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA to complete plans for the opening of the 1951 season.

President Joe Kelly requests all members to attend.

Week-End Sports

(By The Associated Press)

Montreal—Montreal eliminated Detroit Red Wings from Stanley Cup semi-final playoffs by winning 3-2, and taking best-of-7 series, 4-2.

Boston—Toronto crushed Boston, 6-0, to win semi-final series, 4-1, and thus qualify for final playoff in Stanley Cup play.

Rochester — Rochester Royals swamped New York Knicks, 92-65 and 99-84 on Saturday and Sunday, respectively, to take 2-0 lead in final best-of-7 series in NBA playoffs.

St. Paul — Clarence Marshall, Detroit, rolled games of 206, 213, 245 to take singles lead in annual ABC tourney with 664 series.

Columbus, O — Dick Cleveland, Hawaii, set new record of 50 seconds in 100-yard freestyle in National AAU indoor competition; New Haven Swim Club won team title with 133 points to 58 for Ohio State.

Williams and Pruden End Training Chores

Chicago, April 9 (AP) — Lightweight champion Ike Williams and Fitzie Pruden, Toronto, Canada, welterweight, wind up training chores today for their Chicago Stadium bout Wednesday night.

Ike will be making his first Chicago appearance since he broke the jaw of Johnny Bratton, current NBA welterweight champion, in January, 1950.

Failing to abide by an NBA edict to defend his lightweight honors by March 31, Williams may be forced to give up his crown. The NBA is polling its executive committee on a decision.

Pruden, a sharp-punching 23-year-old, holds victories over such ranking fighters as Tony Janiro, Beau Jack, Ray Carter and John La Broi. He is rated sixth by the NBA among the nation's welterweights.

Major Hoople Picks Giants and Indians; Says Tribe Is on Warpath Under Lopez

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Nephew of A. (Doubleday)

Egad! Zillions have written me to name the order of finish in the major leagues—harrumph!

Here, folks, you have it, smack dab down to the last decimal point:

AMERICAN	NATIONAL
Cleveland	New York
Boston	Brooklyn
New York	Philadelphia
Detroit	Boston
Washington	St. Louis
Philadelphia	Cincinnati
Chicago	Pittsburgh
St. Louis	Chicago

They couldn't have called on a man better qualified—heh-heh!

I'm an old cricket enthusiast, you know, and I've been identified with the game of baseball since it was called one-old-cat.

Who is there who remembers when the rule was made that a game was to be decided by nine innings of play instead of the basis of the first team to score 21 runs?

(Editor's Note: He must be spoofing—that rule was made in 1857).

Indeed, I recall vividly when Eddie Cuthbert of the old Philadelphia Keystones became the first man to steal a base, in a game against the Brooklyn Atlantics. Oddly enough, it was third base!

(Ed Note: Hoople must be older than we thought. That happened in 1865).

NOT CRICKET — Major Hoople has been identified with baseball since it was called one-old-cat. (NEA)

Some may be curious as to why I have chosen Cleveland and New York to win. In the case of Cleveland, most of the credit will go to Al Lopez.

With the wealth of material he has, he will roll in by five lengths. In the case of the Giants, the club started to come to life in the waning days of 1950. This trend will continue with many startling improvements, particularly as to pitching.

See you at the World Series!

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL
A Column of Contrary Opinion

The ebb and flow of "opinions" and conditions are interesting to observe. From a short-swing standpoint, we frequently notice that opinions and conditions ride up and down like a see-saw, or two sides of a balance-type scale.

To illustrate, only a few weeks ago "general opinion" had it that goods would be in short supply, and people were rushing around like mad buying up things that they thought they might need. Countless things were purchased that were not needed at all.

From a "contrary" viewpoint at that time, one would stop to consider that production of civilian goods would be far heavier than anticipated for two good reasons: (1) Manufactures would pour on the heat to turn out goods because of the heavy demands, and (2) war orders would be slow in getting into actual production.

That is what has happened, of course, as you know. Today, not only can you purchase about anything you want, but warehouses are loaded with unsold goods of all kinds. Second-hand automobiles, that supposedly would command premium prices this spring, are selling today well under the "ceiling" prices. From surveys we learn that used-car lots are full of unsold cars. And if you're in a hurry for a new automobile you won't have to wait long, either—unless you're fussy about color combinations.

So, in the short space of a few months we have seen "opinions" ride from the cellar to the garet, so to speak—from the thought of "no" goods to the idea that you can get anything you want.

Now, we need to be thinking ahead the other way.

The defense program is picking up momentum daily. Orders have gone to industries totalling billions of dollars. Plants are retooling and moving machinery around, preparing for the new war orders.

So, in a matter of a short time manufacturers will be busy at war work and civilian manufacturing will have to be cut back. However, this may take another three to six months.

In the meantime, the present over-supply of civilian goods will be worked off gradually. Manufacturers are already reported cutting down, because they know that "inventories" have piled up. Dealers and retailers are running special sales and offering cut prices, to move the backed-up goods and products.

In ordinary times, we might fear a real "recession" under these conditions, but not today.

The working force is at a record level, and people are receiving high pay. So, no recession is likely, because the fortress of defense dollars is standing guard against any onslaught of a depression. There may be a little let-down, yes, but it will be hardly noticeable over the longer term.

Then, too, real efforts are being put forth to retard deflation, as we have discussed here frequently. And these efforts are having their effect. Inflation has been retarded.

Moreover, there is still a good chance that we shall witness some deflation.

Throwing our minds ahead, therefore, we may begin to take another contrary view that come next fall people will find civilian goods becoming scarcer. It will not be a sudden development, probably, because of the over-supply now on hand, but gradually, as war orders take up room in factories and absorb raw materials, less civilian products will be turned out.

However, this does seem to be anything to worry about now, but it is informative to keep our minds ahead of the general opinions—so we'll be moving in opposite directions, as it were.

The economic factor we need to keep in mind is that purchasing power will remain 'way up—even when goods commence to slow down. The transition from an over-bought situation to one of growing demands will, therefore, not be conspicuous. It won't come on us overnight. But sometime in coming months we'll wake up to realize that goods are scarce—just as people woke up recently to find that there was plenty of everything, although they expected shortages.

Statewide Standards Are Set Up By Dewey in Multiple Houses

Albany, N. Y., April 9 (AP)—A bill setting minimum statewide standards of fire protection, safety and sanitation for multiple dwellings had Governor Dewey's approval today.

The measure applies to all cities, villages and towns except Buffalo and New York city, where such legislation is already in effect.

In signing the bill Saturday, Dewey said it was a "significant accomplishment," that would provide "for the first time in many areas of the state basic safety requirements and should result in improved safety standards for many multiple residence buildings and resort hotels."

The bill also makes the existing state building code effective only in municipalities where it is approved by the local legislative body. Previously, the regulations were effective in every municipality which had local building regulations, unless specifically rejected.

The multiple dwelling law covers new and old buildings housing three or more families, and hotels, lodging and tourist houses, dormitory and fraternity buildings, convalescent and nursing homes.

The requirements apply to all buildings erected after July 1, 1952.

Existing multiple dwellings, such as apartment houses, must comply with the law by July 1, 1954. Hotels and other transient accommodations are given various deadlines ranging from July 1, 1953, to July 1, 1955.

Another measure signed by Dewey over the week-end made permanent New York city's right to impose a five per cent tax on occupancy of hotel rooms and lodging houses. The taxing right would have expired July 1, 1952.

Dewey also approved a measure for suspending for another year, until July 1, 1952, the right of cities and counties to impose a tax on the gross receipts of business. Monroe county is the only county now imposing the tax of three-tenths of one per cent, and is not affected by the law.

Other bills signed by Dewey:

Authorize boards of education or district superintendents to designate places for school buses to drive off the highway to pick up or discharge passengers.

Require that three emergency drills a year be held on all school buses.

Increase from $7,500 to $10,000 the maximum deposit savings banks may accept from one person.

He vetoed bills that would have:

Empowered the State Board of Regents to supervise correspondence courses.

Given the right of way to vehicles transporting medical oxygen for emergency use.

Statements Help Police to Solve Series of Thefts

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said today that questioning of several youngsters ranging in age from 11 to 15 years, has solved a series of petty thefts from automobiles and the breaking of many panes of glass in the city's sewage disposal plant.

Statements from five boys taken during the past week solved the series of automobile thefts in which the total estimated loot was $150. Some has been recovered. The various small articles were taken from 75 to 80 cars parked in the vicinity of the Orpheum theatre and on Union and Abeel streets.

Many panes of glass have been broken at the sewage disposal plant within the past two years. They cost 56 cents each and the damage at various times was considerable. The investigation which led to a total of 11 youngsters began two weeks ago.

The police force in general cooperated with Detective Clarence Brophy in solving both cases, the chief said. Early last week two youthful shoplifters were apprehended following the investigation of reported thefts at four local stores.

Shark Fins Cost More

Singapore, (AP)—All food costs are steadily going up in Singapore—even shark's fins. A Chinese restaurateur said the price of fins had risen 30 per cent in the last few months. He added: "Chinese diners do not mind the extra cost. They love good food and are willing to pay for it."

YOUR GARDEN

By Arnold Davis

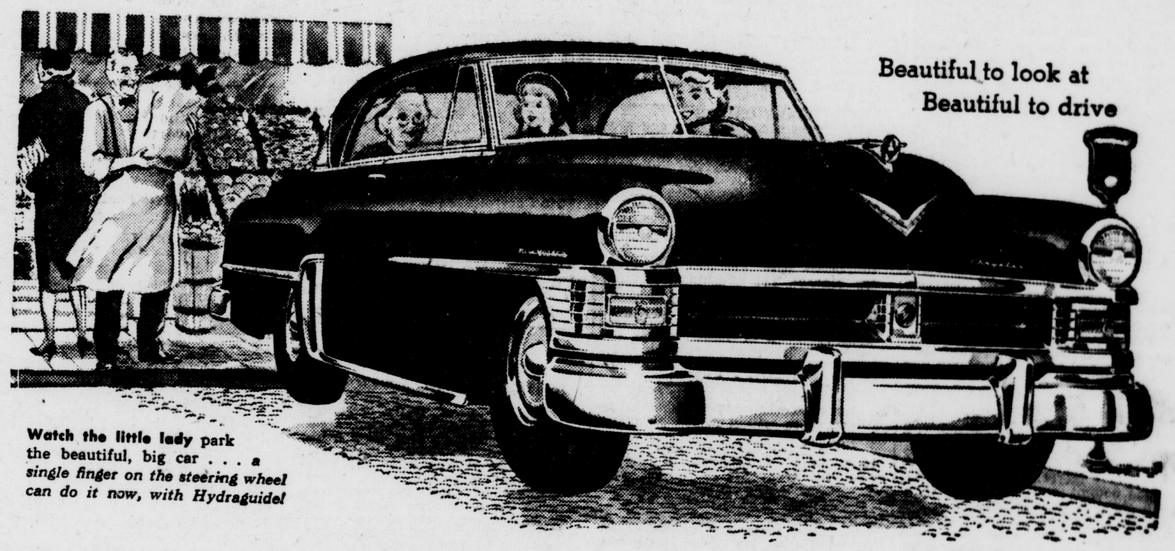

Plant Onions Early in the Spring

Onions are valuable both for food value and for flavor. They are among the first vegetables that can be planted in the spring. Sets can be put into the cool moist soil 2 inches apart in rows 18 inches apart and will grow rapidly until they are large enough to be used as green onions or scallions. When planting onion sets select the smallest ones you can get. They will grow faster and give a better yield than the larger sets.

For the best yield from onion seed sow them early indoors or in a cold frame, and transplant the seedlings out into the warm garden soil. Set the plants 3 inches apart in rows 18 inches apart and the rate of growth will surprise you. They will make large onions and if well cured will keep all winter.

Onions like a rich, well-fertilized soil that has had lime added to it. They must be weeded carefully, which is the principal work involved, so do not plant too many.

Beautiful to look at
Beautiful to drive

Watch the little lady park the beautiful, big car . . . a single finger on the steering wheel can do it now, with Hydraguide!

Now Hydraguide Steering does four-fifths of the work for you!

THINK of the easiest steering car you ever drove . . . then imagine one five times easier to steer! Chrysler's new Hydraguide power steering . . . regular on Crown Imperials and optional at extra cost on all New Yorker and Imperial models . . . gives you exactly that. Here is by far the greatest single change in handling ease—and safety—you ever found in any car. At your touch on the steering wheel, the car mechanically provides four-fifths of the energy to turn the tires on the road. Like so much in these new Chryslers . . . Hydraguide is so basically new, so basically better than anything before, that only when you try it can you ever know what it really does!

The longest day's drive you ever made . . . without arm-and-shoulder fatigue at the end. Around the curves . . . over the hills . . . Hydraguide does four-fifths of the work!

In tight city traffic . . . on awkward driveways and roads . . . Hydraguide means new safety, new ease, new swiftness of steering control!

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Nephew of A. (Doubleday)

Egad! Zillions have written me to name the order of finish in the major leagues—harrumph!

Here, folks, you have it, smack dab down to the last decimal point:

AMERICAN	NATIONAL
Cleveland	New York
Boston	Brooklyn
New York	Philadelphia
Detroit	Boston
Washington	St. Louis
Philadelphia	Cincinnati
Chicago	Pittsburgh
St. Louis	Chicago

They couldn't have called on a man better qualified—heh-heh!

I'm an old cricket enthusiast, you know, and I've been identified with the game of baseball since it was called one-old-cat.

Who is there who remembers when the rule was made that a game was to be decided by nine innings of play instead of the basis of the first team to score 21 runs?

(Editor's Note: He must be spoofing—that rule was made in 1857).

Indeed, I recall vividly when Eddie Cuthbert of the old Philadelphia Keystones became the first man to steal a base, in a game against the Brooklyn Atlantics. Oddly enough, it was third base!

(Ed Note: Hoople must be older than we thought. That happened in 1865).

NOT CRICKET — Major Hoople has been identified with baseball since it was called one-old-cat. (NEA)

Some may be curious as to why I have chosen Cleveland and New York to win. In the case of Cleveland, most of the credit will go to Al Lopez.

With the wealth of material he has, he will roll in by five lengths. In the case of the Giants, the club started to come to life in the waning days of 1950. This trend will continue with many startling improvements, particularly as to pitching.

See you at the World Series!

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL
A Column of Contrary Opinion

The ebb and flow of "opinions" and conditions are interesting to observe. From a short-swing standpoint, we frequently notice that opinions and conditions ride up and down like a see-saw, or two sides of a balance-type scale.

To illustrate, only a few weeks ago "general opinion" had it that goods would be in short supply, and people were rushing around like mad buying up things that they thought they might need. Countless things were purchased that were not needed at all.

From a "contrary" viewpoint at that time, one would stop to consider that production of civilian goods would be far heavier than anticipated for two good reasons: (1) Manufactures would pour on the heat to turn out goods because of the heavy demands, and (2) war orders would be slow in getting into actual production.

That is what has happened, of course, as you know. Today, not only can you purchase about anything you want, but warehouses are loaded with unsold goods of all kinds. Second-hand automobiles, that supposedly would command premium prices this spring, are selling today well under the "ceiling" prices. From surveys we learn that used-car lots are full of unsold cars. And if you're in a hurry for a new automobile you won't have to wait long, either—unless you're fussy about color combinations.

So, in the short space of a few months we have seen "opinions" ride from the cellar to the garet, so to speak—from the thought of "no" goods to the idea that you can get anything you want.

Now, we need to be thinking ahead the other way.

The defense program is picking up momentum daily. Orders have gone to industries totalling billions of dollars. Plants are retooling and moving machinery around, preparing for the new war orders.

So, in a matter of a short time manufacturers will be busy at war work and civilian manufacturing will have to be cut back. However, this may take another three to six months.

In the meantime, the present over-supply of civilian goods will be worked off gradually. Manufacturers are already reported cutting down, because they know that "inventories" have piled up. Dealers and retailers are running special sales and offering cut prices, to move the backed-up goods and products.

In ordinary times, we might fear a real "recession" under these conditions, but not today.

The working force is at a record level, and people are receiving high pay. So, no recession is likely, because the fortress of defense dollars is standing guard against any onslaught of a depression. There may be a little let-down, yes, but it will be hardly noticeable over the longer term.

Then, too, real efforts are being put forth to retard deflation, as we have discussed here frequently. And these efforts are having their effect. Inflation has been retarded.

Moreover, there is still a good chance that we shall witness some deflation.

Throwing our minds ahead, therefore, we may begin to take another contrary view that come next fall people will find civilian goods becoming scarcer. It will not be a sudden development, probably, because of the over-supply now on hand, but gradually, as war orders take up room in factories and absorb raw materials, less civilian products will be turned out.

However, this does seem to be anything to worry about now, but it is informative to keep our minds ahead of the general opinions—so we'll be moving in opposite directions, as it were.

The economic factor we need to keep in mind is that purchasing power will remain 'way up—even when goods commence to slow down. The transition from an over-bought situation to one of growing demands will, therefore, not be conspicuous. It won't come on us overnight. But sometime in coming months we'll wake up to realize that goods are scarce—just as people woke up recently to find that there was plenty of everything, although they expected shortages.

Statewide Standards Are Set Up By Dewey in Multiple Houses

Albany, N. Y., April 9 (AP)—A bill setting minimum statewide standards of fire protection, safety and sanitation for multiple dwellings had Governor Dewey's approval today.

The measure applies to all cities, villages and towns except Buffalo and New York city, where such legislation is already in effect.

In signing the bill Saturday, Dewey said it was a "significant accomplishment," that would provide "for the first time in many areas of the state basic safety requirements and should result in improved safety standards for many multiple residence buildings and resort hotels."

The bill also makes the existing state building code effective only in municipalities where it is approved by the local legislative body. Previously, the regulations were effective in every municipality which had local building regulations, unless specifically rejected.

The multiple dwelling law covers new and old buildings housing three or more families, and hotels, lodging and tourist houses, dormitory and fraternity buildings, convalescent and nursing homes.

The requirements apply to all buildings erected after July 1, 1952.

Existing multiple dwellings, such as apartment houses, must comply with the law by July 1, 1954. Hotels and other transient accommodations are given various deadlines ranging from July 1, 1953, to July 1, 1955.

Another measure signed by Dewey over the week-end made permanent New York city's right to impose a five per cent tax on occupancy of hotel rooms and lodging houses. The taxing right would have expired July 1, 1952.

Dewey also approved a measure for suspending for another year, until July 1, 1952, the right of cities and counties to impose a tax on the gross receipts of business. Monroe county is the only county now imposing the tax of three-tenths of one per cent, and is not affected by the law.

Other bills signed by Dewey:

Authorize boards of education or district superintendents to designate places for school buses to drive off the highway to pick up or discharge passengers.

Require that three emergency drills a year be held on all school buses.

Increase from $7,500 to $10,000 the maximum deposit savings banks may accept from one person.

He vetoed bills that would have:

Empowered the State Board of Regents to supervise correspondence courses.

Given the right of way to vehicles transporting medical oxygen for emergency use.

Statements Help Police to Solve Series of Thefts

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said today that questioning of several youngsters ranging in age from 11 to 15 years, has solved a series of petty thefts from automobiles and the breaking of many panes of glass in the city's sewage disposal plant.

Statements from five boys taken during the past week solved the series of automobile thefts in which the total estimated loot was $150. Some has been recovered. The various small articles were taken from 75 to 80 cars parked in the vicinity of the Orpheum theatre and on Union and Abeel streets.

Many panes of glass have been broken at the sewage disposal plant within the past two years. They cost 56 cents each and the damage at various times was considerable. The investigation which led to a total of 11 youngsters began two weeks ago.

The police force in general cooperated with Detective Clarence Brophy in solving both cases, the chief said. Early last week two youthful shoplifters were apprehended following the investigation of reported thefts at four local stores.

Shark Fins Cost More

Singapore, (AP)—All food costs are steadily going up in Singapore—even shark's fins. A Chinese restaurateur said the price of fins had risen 30 per cent in the last few months. He added: "Chinese diners do not mind the extra cost. They love good food and are willing to pay for it."

YOUR GARDEN — By Arnold Davis

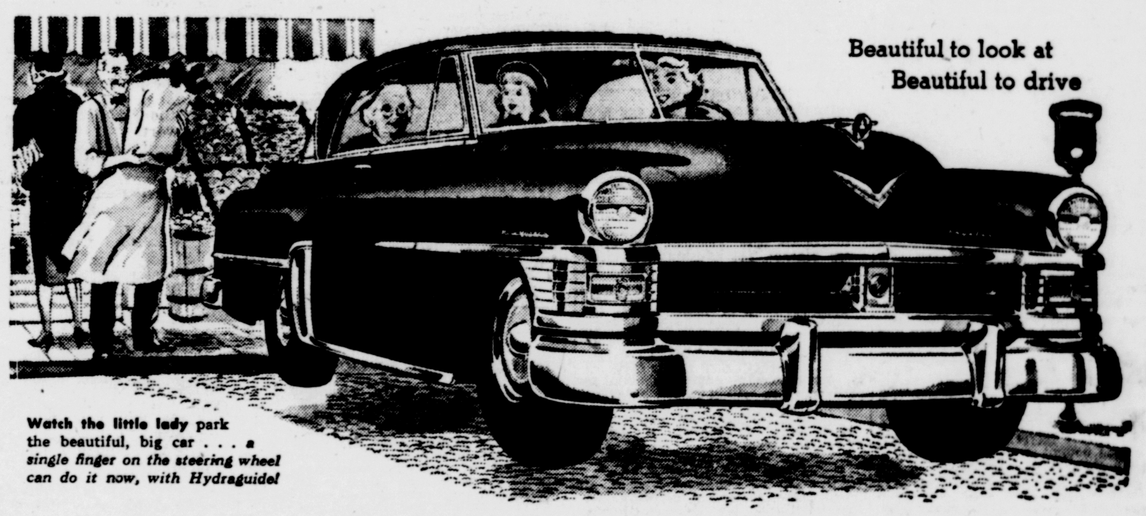

Plant Onions Early in the Spring

Onions are valuable both for food value and for flavor. They are among the first vegetables that can be planted in the spring. Sets can be put into the cool moist soil 2 inches apart in rows 18 inches apart and will grow rapidly until they are large enough to be used as green onions or scallions. When planting onion sets select the smallest ones you can get. They will grow faster and give a better yield than the larger sets.

For the best yield from onion seed sow them early indoors or in a cold frame, and transplant the seedlings out into the warm garden soil. Set the plants 3 inches apart in rows 18 inches apart and the rate of growth will surprise you. They will make large onions and if well cured will keep all winter.

Onions like a rich, well-fertilized soil that has had lime added to it. They must be weeded carefully, which is the principal work involved, so do not plant too many.

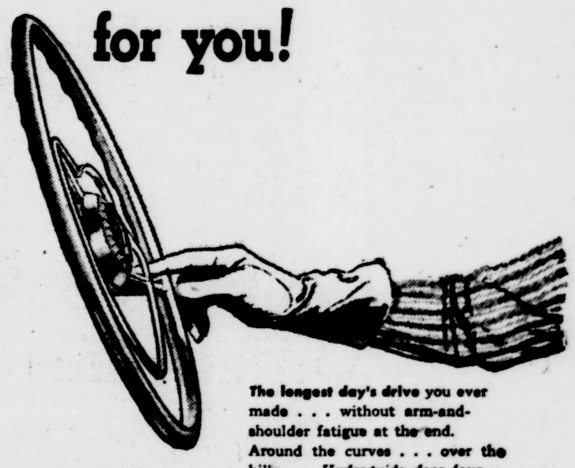

Beautiful to look at
Beautiful to drive

Watch the little lady park the beautiful, big car . . . a single finger on the steering wheel can do it now, with Hydraguide!

Now Hydraguide Steering does four-fifths of the work for you!

THINK of the easiest steering car you ever drove . . . then imagine one five times easier to steer! Chrysler's new Hydraguide power steering . . . regular on Crown Imperials and optional at extra cost on all New Yorker and Imperial models . . . gives you exactly that. Here is by far the greatest single change in handling ease—and safety—you ever found in any car. At your touch on the steering wheel, the car mechanically provides four-fifths of the energy to turn the tires on the road. Like so much in these new Chryslers . . . Hydraguide is so basically new, so basically better than anything before, that only when you try it can you ever know what it really does!

The longest day's drive you ever made . . . without arm-and-shoulder fatigue at the end. Around the curves . . . over the hills . . . Hydraguide does four-fifths of the work!

In tight city traffic . . . on awkward driveways and roads . . . Hydraguide means new safety, new ease, new swiftness of steering control!

The Most Basically New Cars of All!

Beneath the rich new beauty of these Chryslers for 1951 are 73 different improvements and advances. Among them are the most basic new ideas in any cars for many years! Like the revolutionary new FirePower engine, of 180 horsepower, which gives owners of Chrysler Imperial and New Yorker cars the most powerful, most efficient, most all-around economical powerplant in any car today! And like the amazing new Chrysler Oriflow shock absorbers, which give every new Chrysler car riding ease with twice the shock-absorbing power of any other cars at any price. And with all their newness, they're built to stand by you like no car you can buy!

Major Hoople Picks Giants and Indians; Says Tribe Is on Warpath Under Lopez

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Nephew of A. (Doubleday)

Egad! Zillions have written me to name the order of finish in the major leagues—harrumph!

Here, folks, you have it, smack dab down to the last decimal point:

AMERICAN	NATIONAL
Cleveland	New York
Boston	Brooklyn
New York	Philadelphia
Detroit	Boston
Washington	St. Louis
Philadelphia	Cincinnati
Chicago	Pittsburgh
St. Louis	Chicago

They couldn't have called on a man better qualified—heh-heh!

I'm an old cricket enthusiast, you know, and I've been identified with the game of baseball since it was called one-old-cat.

Who is there who remembers when the rule was made that a game was to be decided by nine innings of play instead of the basis of the first team to score 21 runs?

(Editor's Note: He must be spoofing—that rule was made in 1857).

Indeed, I recall vividly when Eddie Cuthbert of the old Philadelphia Keystones became the first man to steal a base, in a game against the Brooklyn Atlantics. Oddly enough, it was third base!

(Ed Note: Hoople must be older than we thought. That happened in 1865).

NOT CRICKET — Major Hoople has been identified with baseball since it was called one-old-cat. (NEA)

Some may be curious as to why I have chosen Cleveland and New York to win. In the case of Cleveland, most of the credit will go to Al Lopez.

With the wealth of material he has, he will roll in by five lengths. In the case of the Giants, the club started to come to life in the waning days of 1950. This trend will continue with many startling improvements, particularly as to pitching.

See you at the World Series!

Second-hand automobiles, that supposedly would command premium prices this spring, are selling today well under the "ceiling" prices. From surveys we learn that used-car lots are full of unsold cars. And if you're in a hurry for a new automobile you won't have to wait long, either—unless you're fussy about color combinations.

So, in the short space of a few months we have seen "opinions" ride from the cellar to the garet, so to speak—from the thought of "no" goods to the idea that you can get anything you want.

Now, we need to be thinking ahead the other way.

The defense program is picking up momentum daily. Orders have gone to industries totalling billions of dollars. Plants are retooling and moving machinery around, preparing for the new war orders.

So, in a matter of a short time manufacturers will be busy at war work and civilian manufacturing will have to be cut back. However, this may take another three to six months.

In the meantime, the present over-supply of civilian goods will be worked off gradually. Manufacturers are already reported cutting down, because they know that "inventories" have piled up. Dealers and retailers are running special sales and offering cut prices, to move the backed-up goods and products.

In ordinary times, we might fear a real "recession" under these conditions, but not today.

The working force is at a record level, and people are receiving high pay. So, no recession is likely, because the fortress of defense dollars is standing guard against any onslaught of a depression. There may be a little let-down, yes, but it will be hardly noticeable over the longer term.

Then, too, real efforts are being put forth to retard deflation, as we have discussed here frequently. And these efforts are having their effect. Inflation has been retarded.

Moreover, there is still a good chance that we shall witness some deflation.

Throwing our minds ahead, therefore, we may begin to take another contrary view that come next fall people will find civilian goods becoming scarcer. It will not be a sudden development, probably, because of the over-supply now on hand, but gradually, as war orders take up room in factories and absorb raw materials, less civilian products will be turned out.

However, this does seem to be anything to worry about now, but it is informative to keep our minds ahead of the general opinions—so we'll be moving in opposite directions, as it were.

The economic factor we need to keep in mind is that purchasing power will remain 'way up—even when goods commence to slow down. The transition from an over-bought situation to one of growing demands will, therefore, not be conspicuous. It won't come on us overnight. But sometime in coming months we'll wake up to realize that goods are scarce—just as people woke up recently to find that there was plenty of everything, although they expected shortages.

Statements Help Police to Solve Series of Thefts

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said today that questioning of several youngsters ranging in age from 11 to 15 years, has solved a series of petty thefts from automobiles and the breaking of many panes of glass in the city's sewage disposal plant.

Statements from five boys taken during the past week solved the series of automobile thefts in which the total estimated loot was $150. Some has been recovered. The various small articles were taken from 75 to 80 cars parked in the vicinity of the Orpheum theatre and on Union and Abeel streets.

Many panes of glass have been broken at the sewage disposal plant within the past two years. They cost 56 cents each and the damage at various times was considerable. The investigation which led to a total of 11 youngsters began two weeks ago.

The police force in general cooperated with Detective Clarence Brophy in solving both cases, the chief said. Early last week two youthful shoplifters were apprehended following the investigation of reported thefts at four local stores.

Shark Fins Cost More

Singapore, (AP)—All food costs are steadily going up in Singapore—even shark's fins. A Chinese restaurateur said the price of fins had risen 30 per cent in the last few months. He added: "Chinese diners do not mind the extra cost. They love good food and are willing to pay for it."

Virus as Cancer Cause

Investigators are studying viruses as a possible cause for cancer. No proof yet exists that cancer in humans is caused by a virus although a suspected cancer virus has been found in chickens, mice, rats and rabbits. The relentless search for cancer's causes is being carried forward with financial support from the American Cancer Society. Lend your aid by giving to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

YOUR GARDEN — By Arnold Davis

Plant Onions Early in the Spring

Onions are valuable both for food value and for flavor. They are among the first vegetables that can be planted in the spring. Sets can be put into the cool moist soil 2 inches apart in rows 18 inches apart and will grow rapidly until they are large enough to be used as green onions or scallions. When planting onion sets select the smallest ones you can get. They will grow faster and give a better yield than the larger sets.

For the best yield from onion seed sow them early indoors or in a cold frame, and transplant the seedlings out into the warm garden soil. Set the plants 3 inches apart in rows 18 inches apart and the rate of growth will surprise you. They will make large onions and if well cured will keep all winter.

Onions like a rich, well-fertilized soil that has had lime added to it. They must be weeded carefully, which is the principal work involved, so do not plant too many.

Statewide Standards Are Set Up By Dewey in Multiple Houses

Albany, N. Y., April 9 (AP)—A bill setting minimum statewide standards of fire protection, safety and sanitation for multiple dwellings had Governor Dewey's approval today.

The measure applies to all cities, villages and towns except Buffalo and New York city, where such legislation is already in effect.

In signing the bill Saturday, Dewey said it was a "significant accomplishment," that would provide "for the first time in many areas of the state basic safety requirements and should result in improved safety standards for many multiple residence buildings and resort hotels."

The bill also makes the existing state building code effective only in municipalities where it is approved by the local legislative body. Previously, the regulations were effective in every municipality which had local building regulations, unless specifically rejected.

The multiple dwelling law covers new and old buildings housing three or more families, and hotels, lodging and tourist houses, dormitory and fraternity buildings, convalescent and nursing homes.

The requirements apply to all buildings erected after July 1, 1952.

Existing multiple dwellings, such as apartment houses, must comply with the law by July 1, 1954. Hotels and other transient accommodations are given various deadlines ranging from July 1, 1953, to July 1, 1955.

Another measure signed by Dewey over the week-end made permanent New York city's right to impose a five per cent tax on occupancy of hotel rooms and lodging houses. The taxing right would have expired July 1, 1952.

Dewey also approved a measure for suspending for another year, until July 1, 1952, the right of cities and counties to impose a tax on the gross receipts of business. Monroe county is the only county now imposing the tax of three-tenths of one per cent, and is not affected by the law.

Other bills signed by Dewey:

Authorize boards of education or district superintendents to designate places for school buses to drive off the highway to pick up or discharge passengers.

Require that three emergency drills a year be held on all school buses.

Increase from $7,500 to $10,000 the maximum deposit savings banks may accept from one person.

He vetoed bills that would have:

Empowered the State Board of Regents to supervise correspondence courses.

Given the right of way to vehicles transporting medical oxygen for emergency use.

Beautiful to look at
Beautiful to drive

Watch the little lady park the beautiful, big car . . . a single finger on the steering wheel can do it now, with Hydraguide!

Now Hydraguide Steering does four-fifths of the work for you!

THINK of the easiest steering car you ever drove . . . then imagine one five times easier to steer! Chrysler's new Hydraguide power steering . . . regular on Crown Imperials and optional at extra cost on all New Yorker and Imperial models . . . gives you exactly that. Here is by far the greatest single change in handling ease—and safety—you ever found in any car. At your touch on the steering wheel, the car mechanically provides four-fifths of the energy to turn the tires on the road. Like so much in these new Chryslers . . . Hydraguide is so basically new, so basically better than anything before, that only when you try it can you ever know what it really does!

The longest day's drive you ever made . . . without arm-and-shoulder fatigue at the end. Around the curves . . . over the hills . . . Hydraguide does four-fifths of the work!

In tight city traffic . . . on awkward driveways and roads . . . Hydraguide means new safety, new ease, new swiftness of steering control!

CHRYSLER
finest engineered cars in the world

The Most Basically New Cars of All!

Beneath the rich new beauty of these Chryslers for 1951 are 73 different improvements and advances. Among them are the most basic new ideas in any cars for many years! Like the revolutionary new FirePower engine, of 180 horsepower, which gives owners of Chrysler Imperial and New Yorker cars the most powerful, most efficient, most all-around economical powerplant in any car today! And like the amazing new Chrysler Oriflow shock absorbers, which give every new Chrysler car riding ease with twice the shock-absorbing power of any other cars at any price. And with all their newness, they're built to stand by you like no car you can buy!

"WANT-AD WONDERS" Trade Mark

Want Ad Led to "Big Break" For Father of Television!

Philo T. Farnsworth, inventor of electronic television, got his "big break" when he answered a Help Wanted ad by a professional fund-raiser. His new employer, interested by his ideas, started a chain of introductions which brought financial backing enabling the young genius to develop his amazing theories, wed his sweetheart.

SAWKILL NEWS

Sawkill, April 9 (AP)—The main topic of conversation this week in this locality has been of the high water, as it has been in other places around. Although quite a few houses had some water in the cellars, there did not appear to be any damage done to the homes. Harry Siemsen reported damage to some chicken range shelters which were in the fields bordering the Sawkill creek. The water overflowed the fields and quite a few of the shelters were swept across the field. Some beehives also were damaged. The private road leading up to their farm was under water, but has been repaired so as to permit use. John Ruhman's car was removed from the Sawkill creek earlier this week. He was forced to abandon it last week-end when he was unable to drove through the water which overflowed the county road opposite Siemsens in upper Sawkill. The car could not be taken out in time and was swept down the creek to a point opposite George Beecher's gas station. Mrs. Charles Beck came up for the week-end from New York last Friday night and due to the conditions prevailing her bus was four and a half hours late arriving in Kingston.

Due to the high waters, fishermen were enjoying some catches in the fields by Siemsens. Some sea gulls also were observed over the fields on George Boice's farm on the Sawkill road, apparently catching fish which had been washed out of the creek bed.

Elmer Kirschner was kept buy last Saturday afternoon with his tractor pulling cars to dry ground. Water overflowed the road from Boice's Lane to the bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Hugger entertained Mrs. K. Janowski and daughter, Cristel, son, Gregory of Hollis, L. I., and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Grefe of Manhattan, for several days last week.

Buddy Allen of Huntington, L. I., recently arrived in Sawkill after several years absence and will be at Camp Woodcliffe throughout the current season.

The Broadway Flower Shop bowling team won the Junior Major Bowling League championship for '50-'51. Leo Stauble of Sawkill is a member of the team along with Harry Hines, Ted Giles, Milton Cole and Ernest Bartroff. On Wednesday night a league banquet was held at the Embassy Room at which time the champion team received trophies and awards.

School Trustees Mrs. Michael Walker, Mrs. Francis Joy, and Raymond Walker, of School District 1 held a meeting Thursday night at Chairman Walker's home. Fidel Hugger and Joseph Leahy, representing the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company, also met with the trustee to discuss matters pertaining to the property the school district has voted to sell to the fire district.

Miss Marjorie and Mark Saphir spent their Easter vacation at Camp Woodcliffe.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens, Sr., of Jockey Hill, entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. Stevens, Jr., and son Charles, 3rd, over the week-end.

Mrs. Anna Gerstle returned to her home in Sawkill Saturday after having visited reatives in Lindon, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. W. Humcke and son, William, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Whitley and daughter, Jo-Ann, of Linden, accompanied Mrs. Gerstle. Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Hugger entertained them Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hartney and son, Raymond, Jr., of Yonkers, were week-end guests at the Misses Goldspaugh home. Miss Emma Heidcamp of Kingston also was a guest over the week-end. On Friday night Miss Heidcamp and the Misses Goldpaugh attended the regular monthly card party at St. Ann's Hall.

The Rev. James A. Dunnigan gave a magic plant to the Sawkill school children Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Butler and grandchildren of New Rochelle spent the week-end in Sawkill as the guests of Edward Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hull visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Silver in Hurley Sunday.

Mrs. Lizzie Hover celebrated her 80th birthday April 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Hormann and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Fisher and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kassel and family, Mrs. Daniel Linden and Miss Rita Linden were among those who spent the week-end at their homes in Sawkill. Miss Sophie Port and some friends from Corona, L. I., also were in Sawkill over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joy and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Joy entertained Mrs. Harvey Davis and daughters, Edna and Loretta, Mrs. Joseph Coddington and son, Wayne, Mrs. Arthur Davis and son, Sydney, over the week-end. They were among those who had to vacate their homes on the Brabrant road due to the flood conditions in that section.

Dr. Jerome Ferber of the Albany Hospital staff spent the week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gerdts of upper Sawkill.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leahy entertained Miss Margaret Mary Canty and William O'Brien of Brooklyn over the week-end. Mrs. Martin who has been a guest at the Leahys, expects to leave Sawkill Saturday to visit her husband, Lt. John Martin of the U. S. Navy, in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Logan of Brooklyn announce the birth of a son, Edward, born April 1. Mrs. Logan is the former Miss Terry Canty of Sawkill.

Mrs. James Forster is a patient at the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Murtha and daughter, Patricia of Schenectady, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsair, Sr.

Miss Emma Rau of Kingston was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Roeber Sunday.

Mrs. Raymond Walker is on jury duty in Kingston this month.

Edward Loud, of Brooklyn, who is well-known to Sawkill residents since he has spent many summers at the Canty place here, entered the army April 7.

The shoulders of the county road for a stretch near the Gerdts' home extending to Buternut Hill have been washed out in many places by the overflowing Sawkill Creek.

Mrs. Arthur Granquist accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. Nosowich of Kingston Sunday on a trip to Albany to visit Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nosowich.

Miss Margaret Shortell celebrated her birthday April 2.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Carcaramo of Hallahan's Hill entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Davies and family of Brooklyn over the week-end. Sunday guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martin and family of New York and several of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vanak, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weideman, of Yonkers, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Myers, Plainfield, N. J., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Myers. On Sunday, the Myers entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roy Myers of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers, Elizabath, and Charles, and Mrs. Cole and Charles of West Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joy of Hallahan's Hill entertained their daughter, Mrs. W. A. Kurtzweg and family of Mt. Marion Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Racine and several friends from Middletown were guests of Mrs. Lizzie Hover Sunday in honor of her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Steinhilber of Sleightsburg were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boice and family Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hirsch of Brooklyn and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gentilini of Greenwich, R. I., spent the week-end at the Hirsch home in upper Sawkill.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Boice and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Joy and family of Hallahan's Hill Monday night.

The Sawkill Home Bureau held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Paul Burton. Mrs. P. Burton gave a foods lesson featuring several main dishes and several different types of desserts. Gifts for the social party to be held at the school house April 14 were brought by various members to the meeting. Mrs. H. Hulsair gave a short talk on Family Life. Mrs. Charlton showed samples of various plastics which are available for the making of plastic bags. The kit of plastic and fabric bags which was to be shown at this meeting was unavailable and will be had at the May meeting. Mrs. Burton gave a report of the various activities and demonstrations at Farm and Home Week in Ithaca where she spent several days last week. The next regular meeting of the Sawkill Home Bureau will be its annual folklore meeting which will be held at the home of Miss Marie and Harry Siemsen in upper Sawkill Tuesday, May 8, at 8 p. m. This annual meeting has always been of great interest to the local people, and the men of the community are invited to attend. The meeting, as in past years, will be presided over by Harry Siemsen, historian of the Town of Kingston, and Miss Marie Siemsen, folklore leader of the Sawwill Home Bureau unit.

The Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company will hold a meeting at the schoolhouse tonight at 8. All members and prospective members are requested to be present.

The Women's Auxiliary will hold its regular monthly meeting at the schoolhouse Wednesday, April 11 at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served by the April committee members, Mrs. Lewis Hulsair and Mrs. Arthur Granquist. All women in the community are cordially invited to attend.

Work has been resumed in the quarry known as "The Ledge" on Jockey Hill. This is the quarry which had been operated by S. D. Coykendall about 30 years ago in the days when the local school was located on Jockey Hill and there was a much larger population living in that section of our community.

Dr. DeWitt Is Named

The appointment of Dr. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz as chairman of the professional committee for the 1951 Cancer Crusade was announced today by Walter Williams, county drive chairman. Final plans for the drive will be made at a meeting of all county chairmen tonight at 8 o'clock at the court house in Kingston.

Chinese Reds

other fronts.

The Communists threw up a strong line of resistance Monday from the Hwachon-Chuncon road east of the Inje-Hangye road, a distance of nearly 25 air miles.

Monday's biggest battle raged south and southeast of Hwachon. The Reds stopped one allied force there. They also threw two 200-man counterattacks against other American troops trying to reach the dam. Both Red attacks were thrown back.

To the east, near the Inje road, American doughboys carved out slight advances in the face of heavy mortar fire.

South Koreans Skirmish

On the east coast South Korean forces skirmished with small North Korean units. They reported substantial gains.

The U. S. Fifth Airforce roared out in strength Monday with 240 sorties reported by noon. The warplanes destroyed or damaged 20 Communist vehicles in rocket or strafing attacks.

Light bombers also attacked railroad yards, Communist-occupied buildings, and a Red airfield.

Despite ominous reports of the Chinese and North Korean buildup, the U.N. ground commander in Korea said Sunday he felt "no serious concern."

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said the Communists may make a considerable penetration "by virtue of his (the enemy's) superior numbers and his complete disregard for the value of human life."

But, he added, "I am quite sure everyone in the Eighth Army feels sure we'll check it and then destroy it."

Ridgway warned that there was no end of the Korean war in sight unless it is called off in diplomatic negotiations. And he said he knew of no such negotiations.

"As far as the Communist leaders are concerned, this is an all-out life-and-death struggle."

Ridgway Declares

pay his blood debts" and reiterating determination to "defeat the American aggressors.")

Of the new rotation policy, he said, "we are doing our utmost to work this thing out. Frankly, I don't know the answer."

The general reiterated that he "couldn't emphasize enough" for the people at home that a six-months ration for frontline U. S. troops was not in accord with the Communist timetable.

Appeals to Correspondents

He directly appealed to correspondents to do their best to impress the people at home that because some troops could be rotated from Korea did not mean any end to the conflict.

General Ridgway said his Eighth Army had held the initiative since January—except for "the strong offensive reaction in February."

By holding the initiative, Ridgway said, "we have been chewing up his offensive potential."

He cited that the Chinese 26th Army Corps, put into the western front two weeks ago, had suffered considerable losses and had been particularly hurt by the 187th Airborne Regiment parachute operations in the Munsan sector.

Reds 'Well-Grouped'

Ridgway conceded, however, that the Communists were "well grouped for offensive action down the Chorwon-Seoul axis, the Kumhwa-Seoul axis and the Chunchon-Wonju route in the center."

"If this fellow wants to exercise his advantages by virtue of his superior numbers and his complete disregard for the value of human life, he may make a considerable penetration.

"But it doesn't give me any serious concern whatever.

"I am quite sure everyone in this Eighth Army feels sure we'll check it and then destroy it, if he (the enemy) gets any penetration."

Ridgway said the next major move in Korea was up to the Communists, but asserted the allies would continue to fight a war of maneuvers.

Foster Home Care

Foster home care is not adoption, but aims to return the child to its family when misfortune clears, according to the 1950 report of New York Catholic Charities.

Rayburn Repeats

centrating here and there and everywhere."

He said it was "just plain foolishness" for the American people not to be aware of the danger.

Rayburn was at the White House for President Truman's regular Monday morning conference with Democratic congressional leaders. Others attending the session were Vice President Barkley, Senate Democratic leader McFarland (Ariz.) and House Democratic leader McCormack (Mass.).

Military Briefing

They reported they were given a military briefing by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Rayburn was asked if they got any new picture this morning of Russian concentrations of troops. He said no, they did not, but got primarily a picture of movements in Korea.

Rayburn said the controversy over Gen. Douglas MacArthur came up "only incidentally" at the White House conference.

When asked, he said he did not remember who brought it up.

"Everywhere two people assemble they talk about MacArthur," he said.

He wouldn't comment when a reporter asked if he thought the latest MacArthur letter, to Republican floor leader Martin might have the effect of defeating the manpower-draft bill.

The House is due to get down to voting this week on the bill. Several moves strongly opposed by the administration are under way for changes along with some outright opposition to the measure.

Move Is Endorsed

The House Republican Policy Committee recently endorsed a move to add a troops-to-Europe limitation to the draft bill. Another Republican drive, headed by Rep. Short of Missouri, aims at knocking out the UMT proposal and passing a straight draft extension bill. The administration contends UMT is essential if the nation is to have continuing strength against the threat of Communist aggression.

In New York yesterday, Bernard M. Baruch came out strongly for UMT. He said the nation should "put an end to this tragic blowing hot and cold in national defense." Delaying action on UMT, he said in a letter to Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee, would increase the risk of war.

Meanwhile the House Armed Services Committee arranged today a special session to consider an amendment offered by Vinson author of the administration bill. The amendment, designed to head off opposition to the UMT section of the bill, would allow Congress to draft the military training program after the manpower needs of the present emergency military buildup have been met.

Also the committee will review selective service's plan to permit college students to obtain draft deferments by passing aptitude tests.

Some lawmakers have denounced this as undemocratic and unfair. Speaking in its defense, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, said yesterday the plan is both flexible and fair.

He added in a radio broadcast that he is confident local draft boards will go along with the program.

'Both Hands Tied'

New York, April 9 (AP)—Erle Cocke, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, charged today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur is having to fight in Korea "with both hands tied behind his back." Cocke told newsmen as he arrived here by plane from a world tour that he approved MacArthur's recent statement that Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa should be used in China. The MacArthur statement has had international repercussions, and stirred congressional debate over whether MacArthur was defying declared U. S. foreign policy.

Air Reserves to Meet

An important meeting of the 9267th Volunteer Air Reserve Squadron will be held Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Legion Building, West O'Reilly street. Major Edward V. DeGroff will speak on "New Developments in the U. S. Air Force." It was recently announced that Second Lieutenant Winfield Benoit of 84 Miller's Lane had been promoted to first lieutenant. All reserve airmen and officers are requested to attend Tuesday's meeting.

'Y' Anniversary Committee

The anniversary year of the Kingston Y.M.C.A. will be recognized during 1951 due to this year being the 100th year of the "Y" in America as well as the 85th year of the Y.M.C.A. in Kingston. The Anniversary Committee headed by A. L. Harder met prior to the Board of Directors meeting to outline special events for 1951. The group shown left to right: A. L. Harder, chairman of the committee; Elmer Rylance, member of the committee; Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Y.M.C.A., and Burt Tandy, general secretary. The group is shown on either side of the picture of Sir George Williams, founder of the first Y.M.C.A. in London, England.

Guardian of Boy Seeks to Recover Damages in Court

An action to recover damages for injuries suffered by Joseph Touhey, 9, of New Paltz was taken up for trial in Supreme Court this morning. The action is brought by his guardian, Edith Touhey Crose, his mother against Reinhold Bock of Rosendale and the Wallkill Valley Motor Service, Inc., operator of the school bus from which the lad had alighted.

Young Touhey, with several other children, had gotten out of the school bus on Route 32 near his home on February 27, 1950, when he was reported struck by the Bock car which was following the school bus.

Plaintiff brings the action against the bus company on the grounds the driver of the bus discharged the children from the bus and then, allegedly without looking, motioned the children across the road.

Bock contends he was unable to bring his car to a stop back of the bus when his brakes failed to work because of ice.

Abraham Streifer appears for plaintiff and Hugh Elwyn appears for the bus company and David W. Corwin for the defendant, Bock.

Mrs. Mary Ruths, with whom the boy resided, testified she saw the accident from her window. He suffered scalp injuries, bruises and contusions and other injuries which she said kept him from school two weeks.

Jurors not on the case were excused by Judge John M. Cashin until Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Announced as settled was No. 30, William Cohen against Henry I. Carmen, an action for property damage. Arthur E. Ames for plaintiff and Turner & Murphy for defendant.

Also settled was No. 54, Alexander Nunes against Martin Anderson, contract. John L. Larkin for plaintiff and Paul M. Ascuitto for defendant.

Susan Cannon Injured

Susan Cannon, 25, of 48 High street, Newburgh, was treated at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie for a lacerated lip and bruises received when the automobile in which she was riding struck the rock bank at the Highland end of the Mid-Hudson bridge about 8 p. m. Saturday, state police reported. The automobile was driven by Chris Petroff, 24, of Round Hill Farm, Monroe, who said he was forced to swing far to the left to avoid colliding with an unknown vehicle, troopers said.

H. E. Howard Hurt

Harry E. Howard, of 202 Smith avenue, suffered cuts on the head and left ear in a traffic mishap on Smith avenue near Ardsley street Saturday. The police report at 11:09 p. m., said Howard was crossing from Ardsley street when he was struck by a car operated by Leo Reynolds, of 29 Meadow street, which was headed north on Smith avenue. Howard was taken to Kingston Hospital in a W. N. Conner ambulance. His condition was reported as "good" today.

Officials Probe Series of Thefts In Summer Homes

A series of reported burglaries at summer homes in the county are being investigated by the sheriff's office.

County Investigator Leonard Belmore revealed today that two sinks and two toilet bowls were taken from the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mutolese in the town of Esopus near the village of Eddyville.

The exact time that the unoccupied home was entered is unknown, he said, but may have been anytime in the past four weeks.

It was also revealed today that discovery of a cache of articles reported stolen was made on March 25 behind a summer home in Mettacahonts. The articles included 15 bottled gas tanks, some of them filled or partly filled; 32 concrete blocks; a large hoist from a tow truck. Investigation by Deputy Sheriff DeWitt Barley and Belmore disclosed the articles had been taken from a wide area, including Port Jervis, Highland, Ellenville, Moutaindale and Accord. All the items have been returned to their owners. News of the discovery of the cache was withheld in the hope that the persons responsible would return to it, where they could be apprehended. However, no trace of the alleged burglars has been reported.

Hydrant, Light Damaged

A hydrant at Broadway and Van Deusen streets, and a light on the safety zone in the area of Grand, Prince, and Dederick streets, were reported damaged Sunday. The hydrant was hit by a trailer truck operated by Joseph Steggall, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and the safety zone by a car bearing a Poughkeepsie license number, the report said. The hydrant was bent but did not spring a leak.

Probe Rape Cases

State police of the Highland station are investigating a possible double case of rape. Two girls, both under the age of 16, reported to troopers last night that they were accosted by two men in the village of Highland. They were unable to furnish the names or an adequate description of the men, troopers said. The report has been referred to the state police bureau of criminal investigation.

SAWKILL NEWS

Sawkill, April 9 (AP)—The main topic of conversation this week in this locality has been of the high water, as it has been in other places around. Although quite a few houses had some water in the cellars, there did not appear to be any damage done to the homes. Harry Siemsen reported damage to some chicken range shelters which were in the fields bordering the Sawkill creek. The water overflowed the fields and quite a few of the shelters were swept across the field. Some beehives also were damaged. The private road leading up to their farm was under water, but has been repaired so as to permit use. John Ruhman's car was removed from the Sawkill creek earlier this week. He was forced to abandon it last week-end when he was unable to drove through the water which overflowed the county road opposite Siemsens in upper Sawkill. The car could not be taken out in time and was swept down the creek to a point opposite George Beecher's gas station. Mrs. Charles Beck came up for the week-end from New York last Friday night and due to the conditions prevailing her bus was four and a half hours late arriving in Kingston.

Due to the high waters, fishermen were enjoying some catches in the fields by Siemsens. Some sea gulls also were observed over the fields on George Boice's farm on the Sawkill road, apparently catching fish which had been washed out of the creek bed.

Elmer Kirschner was kept buy last Saturday afternoon with his tractor pulling cars to dry ground. Water overflowed the road from Boice's Lane to the bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Hugger entertained Mrs. K. Janowski and daughter, Cristel, son, Gregory of Hollis, L. I., and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Grefe of Manhattan, for several days last week.

Buddy Allen of Huntington, L. I., recently arrived in Sawkill after several years absence and will be at Camp Woodcliffe throughout the current season.

The Broadway Flower Shop bowling team won the Junior Major Bowling League championship for '50-'51. Leo Stauble of Sawkill is a member of the team along with Harry Hines, Ted Giles, Milton Cole and Ernest Bartroff. On Wednesday night a league banquet was held at the Embassy Room at which time the champion team received trophies and awards.

School Trustees Mrs. Michael Walker, Mrs. Francis Joy, and Raymond Walker, of School District 1 held a meeting Thursday night at Chairman Walker's home. Fidel Hugger and Joseph Leahy, representing the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company, also met with the trustee to discuss matters pertaining to the property the school district has voted to sell to the fire district.

Miss Marjorie and Mark Saphir spent their Easter vacation at Camp Woodcliffe.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens, Sr., of Jockey Hill, entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. Stevens, Jr., and son Charles, 3rd, over the week-end.

Mrs. Anna Gerstle returned to her home in Sawkill Saturday after having visited reatives in Lindon, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. W. Humcke and son, William, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Whitley and daughter, Jo-Ann, of Linden, accompanied Mrs. Gerstle. Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Hugger entertained them Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hartney and son, Raymond, Jr., of Yonkers, were week-end guests at the Misses Goldspaugh home. Miss Emma Heidcamp of Kingston also was a guest over the week-end. On Friday night Miss Heidcamp and the Misses Goldpaugh attended the regular monthly card party at St. Ann's Hall.

The Rev. James A. Dunnigan gave a magic plant to the Sawkill school children Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Butler and grandchildren of New Rochelle spent the week-end in Sawkill as the guests of Edward Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hull visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Silver in Hurley Sunday.

Mrs. Lizzie Hover celebrated her 80th birthday April 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Hormann and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Fisher and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kassel and family, Mrs. Daniel Linden and Miss Rita Linden were among those who spent the week-end at their homes in Sawkill. Miss Sophie Port and some friends from Corona, L. I., also were in Sawkill over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joy and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Joy entertained Mrs. Harvey Davis and daughters, Edna and Loretta, Mrs. Joseph Coddington and son, Wayne, Mrs. Arthur Davis and son, Sydney, over the week-end. They were among those who had to vacate their homes on the Brabrant road due to the flood conditions in that section.

Dr. Jerome Ferber of the Albany Hospital staff spent the week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gerdts of upper Sawkill.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leahy entertained Miss Margaret Mary Canty and William O'Brien of Brooklyn over the week-end. Mrs. Martin who has been a guest at the Leahys, expects to leave Sawkill Saturday to visit her husband, Lt. John Martin of the U. S. Navy, in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Logan of Brooklyn announce the birth of a son, Edward, born April 1. Mrs. Logan is the former Miss Terry Canty of Sawkill.

Mrs. James Forster is a patient at the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Murtha and daughter, Patricia of Schenectady, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsair, Sr.

Miss Emma Rau of Kingston was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Roeber Sunday.

Mrs. Raymond Walker is on jury duty in Kingston this month.

Edward Loud, of Brooklyn, who is well-known to Sawkill residents since he has spent many summers at the Canty place here, entered the army April 7.

The shoulders of the county road for a stretch near the Gerdts' home extending to Butternut Hill have been washed out in many places by the overflowing Sawkill Creek.

Mrs. Arthur Granquist accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. Nosowich of Kingston Sunday on a trip to Albany to visit Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nosowich.

Miss Margaret Shortell celebrated her birthday April 2.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Carcaramo of Hallahan's Hill entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Davies and family of Brooklyn over the week-end. Sunday guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martin and family of New York and several of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vanak, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weideman, of Yonkers, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Myers, Plainfield, N. J., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Myers. On Sunday, the Myers entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roy Myers of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers, Elizabeth, and Charles, and Mrs. Cole and Charles of West Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joy of Hallahan's Hill entertained their daughter, Mrs. W. A. Kurtzweg and family of Mt. Marion Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Racine and several friends from Middletown were guests of Mrs. Lizzie Hover Sunday in honor of her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Steinhilber of Sleightsburg were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boice and family Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hirsch of Brooklyn and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gentilini of Greenwich, R. I., spent the week-end at the Hirsch home in upper Sawkill.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Boice and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Joy and family of Hallahan's Hill Monday night.

The Sawkill Home Bureau held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Paul Burton. Mrs. P. Burton gave a foods lesson featuring several main dishes and several different types of desserts. Gifts for the social party to be held at the school house April 14 were brought by various members to the meeting. Mrs. H. Hulsair gave a short talk on Family Life. Mrs. Charlton showed samples of various plastics which are available for the making of plastic bags. The kit of plastic and fabric bags which was to be shown at this meeting was unavailable and will be had at the May meeting. Mrs. Burton gave a report of the various activities and demonstrations at Farm and Home Week in Ithaca where she spent several days last week. The next regular meeting of the Sawkill Home Bureau will be its annual folklore meeting which will be held at the home of Miss Marie and Harry Siemsen in upper Sawkill Tuesday, May 8, at 8 p. m. This annual meeting has always been of great interest to the local people, and the men of the community are invited to attend. The meeting, as in past years, will be presided over by Harry Siemsen, historian of the Town of Kingston, and Miss Marie Siemsen, folklore leader of the Sawkill Home Bureau unit.

The Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company will hold a meeting at the schoolhouse tonight at 8. All members and prospective members are requested to be present.

The Women's Auxiliary will hold its regular monthly meeting at the schoolhouse Wednesday, April 11 at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served by the April committee members, Mrs. Lewis Hulsair and Mrs. Arthur Granquist. All women in the community are cordially invited to attend.

Work has been resumed in the quarry known as "The Ledge" on Jockey Hill. This is the quarry which had been operated by S. D. Coykendall about 30 years ago in the days when the local school was located on Jockey Hill and there was a much larger population living in that section of our community.

Dr. DeWitt Is Named

The appointment of Dr. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz as chairman of the professional committee for the 1951 Cancer Crusade was announced today by Walter Williams, county drive chairman. Final plans for the drive will be made at a meeting of all county chairmen tonight at 8 o'clock at the court house in Kingston.

Chinese Reds

other fronts.

The Communists threw up a strong line of resistance Monday from the Hwachon-Chuncon road east of the Inje-Hangye road, a distance of nearly 25 air miles.

Monday's biggest battle raged south and southeast of Hwachon. The Reds stopped one allied force there. They also threw two 200-man counterattacks against other American troops trying to reach the dam. Both Red attacks were thrown back.

American artillery fire drove a Communist concentration from a steep cliff on a 2,500 foot hill. The Reds there had poured withering machinegun and rifle fire into attacking American infantrymen.

To the east, near the Inje road, American doughboys carved out slight advances in the face of heavy mortar fire.

South Koreans Skirmish

On the east coast South Korean forces skirmished with small North Korean units. They reported substantial gains.

The U. S. Fifth Airforce roared out in strength Monday with 240 sorties reported by noon. The warplanes destroyed or damaged 20 Communist vehicles in rocket or strafing attacks.

Light bombers also attacked railroad yards, Communist-occupied buildings, and a Red airfield.

United Nations ships continued to pound transport centers on the east and west coasts.

Despite ominous reports of the Chinese and North Korean build-up, the U.N. ground commander in Korea said Sunday he felt "no serious concern."

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said the Communists may make a considerable penetration "by virtue of his (the enemy's) superior numbers and his complete disregard for the value of human life."

But, he added, "I am quite sure everyone in the Eighth Army feels sure we'll check it and then destroy it."

Ridgway warned that there was no end of the Korean war in sight unless it is called off in diplomatic negotiations. And he said he knew of no such negotiations.

"As far as the Communist leaders are concerned, this is an all-out life-and-death struggle."

Ridgway Declares

pay his blood debts" and reiterating determination to "defeat the American aggressors.")

Of the new rotation policy, he said, "we are doing our utmost to work this thing out. Frankly, I don't know the answer."

The general reiterated that he "couldn't emphasize enough" for the people at home that a six-months ration for frontline U. S. troops was not in accord with the Communist timetable.

Appeals to Correspondents

He directly appealed to correspondents to do their best to impress the people at home that because some troops could be rotated from Korea did not mean any end to the conflict.

General Ridgway said his Eighth Army had held the initiative since January—except for "the strong offensive reaction in February."

By holding the initiative, Ridgway said, "we have been chewing up his offensive potential."

He cited that the Chinese 26th Army Corps, put into the western front two weeks ago, had suffered considerable losses and had been particularly hurt by the 187th Airborne Regiment parachute operations in the Munsan sector.

Reds 'Well-Grouped'

Ridgway conceded, however, that the Communists were "well grouped for offensive action down the Chorwon-Seoul axis, the Kumhwa-Seoul axis and the Chunchon-Wonju route in the center."

"If this fellow wants to exercise his advantages by virtue of his superior numbers and his complete disregard for the value of human life, he may make a considerable penetration.

"But it doesn't give me any serious concern whatever.

"I am quite sure everyone in this Eighth Army feels sure we'll check it and then destroy it, if he (the enemy) gets any penetration."

Ridgway said the next major move in Korea was up to the Communists, but asserted the allies would continue to fight a war of maneuvers.

Foster Home Care

Foster home care is not adoption, but aims to return the child to its family when misfortune clears, according to the 1950 report of New York Catholic Charities.

Rayburn Repeats

centrating here and there and everywhere."

He said it was "just plain foolishness" for the American people not to be aware of the danger.

Rayburn was at the White House for President Truman's regular Monday morning conference with Democratic congressional leaders. Others attending the session were Vice President Barkley, Senate Democratic leader McFarland (Ariz.) and House Democratic leader McCormack (Mass.).

Military Briefing

They reported they were given a military briefing by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Rayburn was asked if they got any new picture this morning of Russian concentrations of troops. He said no, they did not, but got primarily a picture of movements in Korea.

Rayburn said the controversy over Gen. Douglas MacArthur came up "only incidentally" at the White House conference.

When asked, he said he did not remember who brought it up.

"Everywhere two people assemble they talk about MacArthur," he said.

He wouldn't comment when a reporter asked if he thought the latest MacArthur letter, to Republican floor leader Martin might have the effect of defeating the manpower-draft bill.

The House is due to get down to voting this week on the bill. Several moves strongly opposed by the administration are under way for changes along with some outright opposition to the measure.

Move Is Endorsed

The House Republican Policy Committee recently endorsed a move to add a troops-to-Europe limitation to the draft bill. Another Republican drive, headed by Rep. Short of Missouri, aims at knocking out the UMT proposal and passing a straight draft extension bill. The administration contends UMT is essential if the nation is to have continuing strength against the threat of Communist aggression.

In New York yesterday, Bernard M. Baruch came out strongly for UMT. He said the nation should "put an end to this tragic blowing hot and cold in national defense." Delaying action on UMT, he said in a letter to Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee, would increase the risk of war.

Meanwhile the House Armed Services Committee arranged today a special session to consider an amendment offered by Vinson author of the administration bill. The amendment, designed to head off opposition to the UMT section of the bill, would allow Congress to draft the military training program after the manpower needs of the present emergency military buildup have been met.

Also the committee will review selective service's plan to permit college students to obtain draft deferments by passing aptitude tests.

Some lawmakers have denounced this as undemocratic and unfair. Speaking in its defense, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, said yesterday the plan is both flexible and fair.

He added in a radio broadcast that he is confident local draft boards will go along with the program.

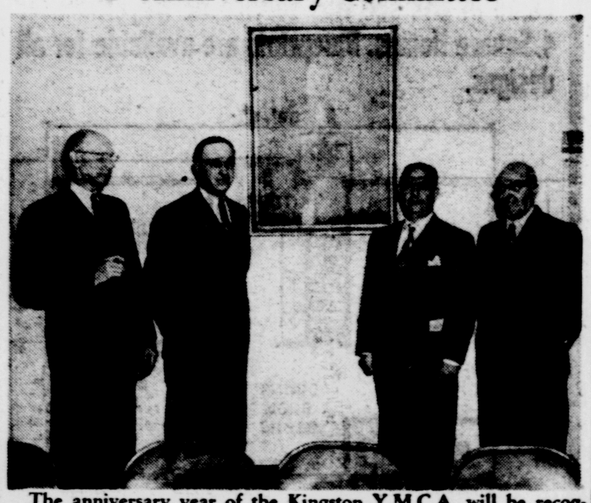

'Both Hands Tied'

New York, April 9 (AP)—Erle Cocke, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, charged today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur is having to fight in Korea "with both hands tied behind his back." Cocke told newsmen as he arrived here by plane from a world tour that he approved MacArthur's recent statement that Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa should be used in China. The MacArthur statement has had international repercussions, and stirred congressional debate over whether MacArthur was defying declared U. S. foreign policy.

Air Reserves to Meet

An important meeting of the 9267th Volunteer Air Reserve Squadron will be held Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Legion Building, West O'Reilly street. Major Edward V. DeGroff will speak on "New Developments in the U. S. Air Force." It was recently announced that Second Lieutenant Winfield Benoit of 84 Miller's Lane had been promoted to first lieutenant. All reserve airmen and officers are requested to attend Tuesday's meeting.

'Y' Anniversary Committee

The anniversary year of the Kingston Y.M.C.A. will be recognized during 1951 due to this year being the 100th year of the "Y" in America as well as the 85th year of the Y.M.C.A. in Kingston. The Anniversary Committee headed by A. L. Harder met prior to the Board of Directors meeting to outline special events for 1951. The group shown left to right: A. L. Harder, chairman of the committee; Elmer Rylance, member of the committee; Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Y.M.C.A., and Burt Tandy, general secretary. The group is shown on either side of the picture of Sir George Williams, founder of the first Y.M.C.A. in London, England.

Guardian of Boy Seeks to Recover Damages in Court

An action to recover damages for injuries suffered by Joseph Touhey, 9, of New Paltz was taken up for trial in Supreme Court this morning. The action is brought by his guardian, Edith Touhey Crose, his mother against Reinhold Bock of Rosendale and the Wallkill Valley Motor Service, Inc., operator of the school bus from which the lad had alighted.

Young Touhey, with several other children, had gotten out of the school bus on Route 32 near his home on February 27, 1950, when he was reported struck by the Bock car which was following the school bus.

Plaintiff brings the action against the bus company on the grounds the driver of the bus discharged the children from the bus and then, allegedly without looking, motioned the children across the road.

Bock contends he was unable to bring his car to a stop back of the bus when his brakes failed to work because of ice.

Abraham Streifer appears for plaintiff and Hugh Elwyn appears for the bus company and David W. Corwin for the defendant, Bock.

Mrs. Mary Ruths, with whom the boy resided, testified she saw the accident from her window. He suffered scalp injuries, bruises and contusions and other injuries which she said kept him from school two weeks.

Jurors not on the case were excused by Judge John M. Cashin until Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Announced as settled was No. 30, William Cohen against Henry I. Carmen, an action for property damage. Arthur E. Ames for plaintiff and Turner & Murphy for defendant.

Also settled was No. 54, Alexander Nunes against Martin Anderson, contract. John L. Larkin for plaintiff and Paul M. Ascuitto for defendant.

Susan Cannon Injured

Susan Cannon, 25, of 48 High street, Newburgh, was treated at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie for a lacerated lip and bruises received when the automobile in which she was riding struck the rock bank at the Highland end of the Mid-Hudson bridge about 8 p. m. Saturday, state police reported. The automobile was driven by Chris Petroff, 24, of Round Hill Farm, Monroe, who said he was forced to swing far to the left to avoid colliding with an unknown vehicle, troopers said.

H. E. Howard Hurt

Harry E. Howard, of 202 Smith avenue, suffered cuts on the head and left ear in a traffic mishap on Smith avenue near Ardsley street Saturday. The police report at 11:09 p. m., said Howard was crossing from Ardsley street when he was struck by a car operated by Leo Reynolds, of 29 Meadow street, which was headed north on Smith avenue. Howard was taken to Kingston Hospital in a W. N. Conner ambulance. His condition was reported as "good" today.

Officials Probe Series of Thefts In Summer Homes

A series of reported burglaries at summer homes in the county are being investigated by the sheriff's office.

County Investigator Leonard Belmore revealed today that two sinks and two toilet bowls were taken from the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mutolese in the town of Esopus near the village of Eddyville.

The exact time that the unoccupied home was entered is unknown, he said, but may have been anytime in the past four weeks.

It was also revealed today that discovery of a cache of articles reported stolen was made on March 25 behind a summer home in Mettacahonts. The articles included 15 bottled gas tanks, some of them filled or partly filled; 32 concrete blocks; a large hoist from a tow truck. Investigation by Deputy Sheriff DeWitt Barley and Belmore disclosed the articles had been taken from a wide area, including Port Jervis, Highland, Ellenville, Moutaindale and Accord. All the items have been returned to their owners. News of the discovery of the cache was withheld in the hope that the persons responsible would return to it, where they could be apprehended. However, no trace of the alleged burglars has been reported.

Hydrant, Light Damaged

A hydrant at Broadway and Van Deusen streets, and a light on the safety zone in the area of Grand, Prince, and Dederick streets, were reported damaged Sunday. The hydrant was hit by a trailer truck operated by Joseph Steggall, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and the safety zone by a car bearing a Poughkeepsie license number, the report said. The hydrant was bent but did not spring a leak.

Probe Rape Cases

State police of the Highland station are investigating a possible double case of rape. Two girls, both under the age of 16, reported to troopers last night that they were accosted by two men in the village of Highland. They were unable to furnish the names or an adequate description of the men, troopers said. The report has been referred to the state police bureau of criminal investigation.

SAWKILL NEWS

Sawkill, April 9 (AP)—The main topic of conversation this week in this locality has been of the high water, as it has been in other places around. Although quite a few houses had some water in the cellars, there did not appear to be any damage done to the homes. Harry Siemsen reported damage to some chicken range shelters which were in the fields bordering the Sawkill creek. The water overflowed the fields and quite a few of the shelters were swept across the field. Some beehives also were damaged. The private road leading up to their farm was under water, but has been repaired so as to permit use. John Ruhman's car was removed from the Sawkill creek earlier this week. He was forced to abandon it last week-end when he was unable to drove through the water which overflowed the county road opposite Siemsens in upper Sawkill. The car could not be taken out in time and was swept down the creek to a point opposite George Beecher's gas station. Mrs. Charles Beck came up for the week-end from New York last Friday night and due to the conditions prevailing her bus was four and a half hours late arriving in Kingston.

Due to the high waters, fishermen were enjoying some catches in the fields by Siemsens. Some sea gulls also were observed over the fields on George Boice's tarm on the Sawkill road, apparently catching fish which had been washed out of the creek bed.

Elmer Kirschner was kept buy last Saturday afternoon with his tractor pulling cars to dry ground. Water overflowed the road from Boice's Lane to the bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Hugger entertained Mrs. K. Janowski and daughter, Cristel, son, Gregory of Hollis, L. I., and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Grefe of Manhattan, for several days last week.

Buddy Allen of Huntington, L. I., recently arrived in Sawkill after several years absence and will be at Camp Woodcliffe throughout the current season.

The Broadway Flower Shop bowling team won the Junior Major Bowling League championship for '50-'51. Leo Stauble of Sawkill is a member of the team along with Harry Hines, Ted Giles, Milton Cole and Ernest Bartroff. On Wednesday night a league banquet was held at the Embassy Room at which time the champion team received trophies and awards.

School Trustees Mrs. Michael Walker, Mrs. Francis Joy, and Raymond Walker, of School District 1 held a meeting Thursday night at Chairman Walker's home. Fidel Hugger and Joseph Leahy, representing the Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company, also met with the trustee to discuss matters pertaining to the property the school district has voted to sell to the fire district.

Miss Marjorie and Mark Saphir spent their Easter vacation at Camp Woodcliffe.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens, Sr., of Jockey Hill, entertained Mr. and Mrs. C. Stevens, Jr., and son Charles, 3rd, over the week-end.

Mrs. Anna Gerstle returned to her home in Sawkill Saturday after having visited reatives in Lindon, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. W. Humcke and son, William, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Whitley and daughter, Jo-Ann, of Linden, accompanied Mrs. Gerstle. Mr. and Mrs. Fidel Hugger entertained them Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hartney and son, Raymond, Jr., of Yonkers, were week-end guests at the Misses Goldspaugh home. Miss Emma Heidcamp of Kingston also was a guest over the week-end. On Friday night Miss Heidcamp and the Misses Goldpaugh attended the regular monthly card party at St. Ann's Hall.

The Rev. James A. Dunnigan gave a magic plant to the Sawkill school children Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Butler and grandchildren of New Rochelle spent the week-end in Sawkill as the guests of Edward Butler.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hull visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Silver in Hurley Sunday.

Mrs. Lizzie Hover celebrated her 80th birthday April 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Anton Hormann and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Fisher and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kassel and family, Mrs. Daniel Linden and Miss Rita Linden were among those who spent the week-end at their homes in Sawkill. Miss Sophie Port and some friends from Corona, L. I., also were in Sawkill over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joy and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Joy entertained Mrs. Harvey Davis and daughters, Edna and Loretta, Mrs. Joseph Coddington and son, Wayne, Mrs. Arthur Davis and son, Sydney, over the week-end. They were among those who had to vacate their homes on the Brabrant road due to the flood conditions in that section.

Dr. Jerome Ferber of the Albany Hospital staff spent the week-end as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Gerdts of upper Sawkill.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leahy entertained Miss Margaret Mary Canty and William O'Brien of Brooklyn over the week-end. Mrs. Martin who has been a guest at the Leahys, expects to leave Sawkill Saturday to visit her husband, Lt. John Martin of the U. S. Navy, in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Logan of Brooklyn announce the birth of a son, Edward, born April 1. Mrs. Logan is the former Miss Terry Canty of Sawkill.

Mrs. James Forster is a patient at the Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Murtha and daughter, Patricia of Schenectady, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hulsair, Sr.

Miss Emma Rau of Kingston was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Roeber Sunday.

Mrs. Raymond Walker is on jury duty in Kingston this month.

Edward Loud, of Brooklyn, who is well-known to Sawkill residents since he has spent many summers at the Canty place here, entered the army April 7.

The shoulders of the county road for a stretch near the Gerdts' home extending to Butternut Hill have been washed out in many places by the overflowing Sawkill Creek.

Mrs. Arthur Granquist accompanied Mr. and Mrs. J. Nosowich of Kingston Sunday on a trip to Albany to visit Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nosowich.

Miss Margaret Shortell celebrated her birthday April 2.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Carcaramo of Hallahan's Hill entertained Mr. and Mrs. John Davies and family of Brooklyn over the week-end. Sunday guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martin and family of New York and several of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vanak, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weideman, of Yonkers, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Myers, Plainfield, N. J., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Myers. On Sunday, the Myers entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roy Myers of Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Myers, Elizabeth, and Charles, and Mrs. Cole and Charles of West Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joy of Hallahan's Hill entertained their daughter, Mrs. W. A. Kurtzweg and family of Mt. Marion Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Racine and several friends from Middletown were guests of Mrs. Lizzie Hover Sunday in honor of her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Steinhilber of Sleightsburg were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Boice and family Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hirsch of Brooklyn and their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gentilini of Greenwich, R. I., spent the week-end at the Hirsch home in upper Sawkill.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Boice and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Joy and family of Hallahan's Hill Monday night.

The Sawkill Home Bureau held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Paul Burton. Mrs. P. Burton gave a foods lesson featuring several main dishes and several different types of desserts. Gifts for the social party to be held at the school house April 14 were brought by various members to the meeting. Mrs. H. Hulsair gave a short talk on Family Life. Mrs. Charlton showed samples of various plastics which are available for the making of plastic bags. The kit of plastic and fabric bags which was to be shown at this meeting was unavailable and will be had at the May meeting. Mrs. Burton gave a report of the various activities and demonstrations at Farm and Home Week in Ithaca where she spent several days last week. The next regular meeting of the Sawkill Home Bureau will be its annual folklore meeting which will be held at the home of Miss Marie and Harry Siemsen in upper Sawkill Tuesday, May 8, at 8 p. m. This annual meeting has always been of great interest to the local people, and the men of the community are invited to attend. The meeting, as in past years, will be presided over by Harry Siemsen, historian of the Town of Kingston, and Miss Marie Siemsen, folklore leader of the Sawkill Home Bureau unit.

The Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company will hold a meeting at the schoolhouse tonight at 8. All members and prospective members are requested to be present.

The Women's Auxiliary will hold its regular monthly meeting at the schoolhouse Wednesday, April 11 at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served by the April committee members, Mrs. Lewis Hulsair and Mrs. Arthur Granquist. All women in the community are cordially invited to attend.

Work has been resumed in the quarry known as "The Ledge" on Jockey Hill. This is the quarry which had been operated by S. D. Coykendall about 30 years ago in the days when the local school was located on Jockey Hill and there was a much larger population living in that section of our community.

Dr. DeWitt Is Named

The appointment of Dr. Virgil DeWitt of New Paltz as chairman of the professional committee for the 1951 Cancer Crusade was announced today by Walter Williams, county drive chairman. Final plans for the drive will be made at a meeting of all county chairmen tonight at 8 o'clock at the court house in Kingston.

Chinese Reds

other fronts.

The Communists threw up a strong line of resistance Monday from the Hwachon-Chuncon road east of the Inje-Hangye road, a distance of nearly 25 air miles.

Monday's biggest battle raged south and southeast of Hwachon. The Reds stopped one allied force there. They also threw two 200-man counterattacks against other American troops trying to reach the dam. Both Red attacks were thrown back.

American artillery fire drove a Communist concentration from a steep cliff on a 2,500 foot hill. The Reds there had poured withering machinegun and rifle fire into attacking American infantrymen.

To the east, near the Inje road, American doughboys carved out slight advances in the face of heavy mortar fire.

South Koreans Skirmish

On the east coast South Korean forces skirmished with small North Korean units. They reported substantial gains.

The U. S. Fifth Airforce roared out in strength Monday with 240 sorties reported by noon. The warplanes destroyed or damaged 20 Communist vehicles in rocket or strafing attacks.

Light bombers also attacked railroad yards, Communist-occupied buildings, and a Red airfield.

United Nations ships continued to pound transport centers on the east and west coasts.

Despite ominous reports of the Chinese and North Korean buildup, the U.N. ground commander in Korea said Sunday he felt "no serious concern."

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said the Communists may make a considerable penetration "by virtue of his (the enemy's) superior numbers and his complete disregard for the value of human life."

But, he added, "I am quite sure everyone in the Eighth Army feels sure we'll check it and then destroy it."

Ridgway warned that there was no end of the Korean war in sight unless it is called off in diplomatic negotiations. And he said he knew of no such negotiations.

"As far as the Communist leaders are concerned, this is an all-out life-and-death struggle."

Ridgway Declares

pay his blood debts" and reiterating determination to "defeat the American aggressors.")

Of the new rotation policy, he said, "we are doing our utmost to work this thing out. Frankly, I don't know the answer."

The general reiterated that he "couldn't emphasize enough" for the people at home that a six-months ration for frontline U. S. troops was not in accord with the Communist timetable.

Appeals to Correspondents

He directly appealed to correspondents to do their best to impress the people at home that because some troops could be rotated from Korea did not mean any end to the conflict.

General Ridgway said his Eighth Army had held the initiative since January—except for "the strong offensive reaction in February."

By holding the initiative, Ridgway said, "we have been chewing up his offensive potential."

He cited that the Chinese 26th Army Corps, put into the western front two weeks ago, had suffered considerable losses and had been particularly hurt by the 187th Airborne Regiment parachute operations in the Munsan sector.

Reds 'Well-Grouped'

Ridgway conceded, however, that the Communists were "well grouped for offensive action down the Chorwon-Seoul axis, the Kumhwa-Seoul axis and the Chunchon-Wonju route in the center."

"If this fellow wants to exercise his advantages by virtue of his superior numbers and his complete disregard for the value of human life, he may make a considerable penetration.

"But it doesn't give me any serious concern whatever.

"I am quite sure everyone in this Eighth Army feels sure we'll check it and then destroy it, if he (the enemy) gets any penetration."

Ridgway said the next major move in Korea was up to the Communists, but asserted the allies would continue to fight a war of maneuvers.

Foster Home Care

Foster home care is not adoption, but aims to return the child to its family when misfortune clears, according to the 1950 report of New York Catholic Charities.

Rayburn Repeats

centrating here and there and everywhere."

He said it was "just plain foolishness" for the American people not to be aware of the danger.

Rayburn was at the White House for President Truman's regular Monday morning conference with Democratic congressional leaders. Others attending the session were Vice President Barkley, Senate Democratic leader McFarland (Ariz.) and House Democratic leader McCormack (Mass.).

Military Briefing

They reported they were given a military briefing by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff.

Rayburn was asked if they got any new picture this morning of Russian concentrations of troops. He said no, they did not, but got primarily a picture of movements in Korea.

Rayburn said the controversy over Gen. Douglas MacArthur came up "only incidentally" at the White House conference.

When asked, he said he did not remember who brought it up.

"Everywhere two people assemble they talk about MacArthur," he said.

He wouldn't comment when a reporter asked if he thought the latest MacArthur letter, to Republican floor leader Martin might have the effect of defeating the manpower-draft bill.

The House is due to get down to voting this week on the bill. Several moves strongly opposed by the administration are under way for changes along with some outright opposition to the measure.

Move Is Endorsed

The House Republican Policy Committee recently endorsed a move to add a troops-to-Europe limitation to the draft bill. Another Republican drive, headed by Rep. Short of Missouri, aims at knocking out the UMT proposal and passing a straight draft extension bill. The administration contends UMT is essential if the nation is to have continuing strength against the threat of Communist aggression.

In New York yesterday, Bernard M. Baruch came out strongly for UMT. He said the nation should "put an end to this tragic blowing hot and cold in national defense." Delaying action on UMT, he said in a letter to Chairman Vinson (D.-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee, would increase the risk of war.

Meanwhile the House Armed Services Committee arranged today a special session to consider an amendment offered by Vinson author of the administration bill. The amendment, designed to head off opposition to the UMT section of the bill, would allow Congress to draft the military training program after the manpower needs of the present emergency military buildup have been met.

Also the committee will review selective service's plan to permit college students to obtain draft deferments by passing aptitude tests.

Some lawmakers have denounced this as undemocratic and unfair. Speaking in its defense, Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, said yesterday the plan is both flexible and fair.

He added in a radio broadcast that he is confident local draft boards will go along with the program.

'Both Hands Tied'

New York, April 9 (AP)—Erle Cocke, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, charged today that Gen. Douglas MacArthur is having to fight in Korea "with both hands tied behind his back." Cocke told newsmen as he arrived here by plane from a world tour that he approved MacArthur's recent statement that Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa should be used in China. The MacArthur statement has had international repercussions, and stirred congressional debate over whether MacArthur was defying declared U. S. foreign policy.

Air Reserves to Meet

An important meeting of the 9267th Volunteer Air Reserve Squadron will be held Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Legion Building, West O'Reilly street. Major Edward V. DeGroff will speak on "New Developments in the U. S. Air Force." It was recently announced that Second Lieutenant Winfield Benoit of 84 Miller's Lane had been promoted to first lieutenant. All reserve airmen and officers are requested to attend Tuesday's meeting.

'Y' Anniversary Committee

The anniversary year of the Kingston Y.M.C.A. will be recognized during 1951 due to this year being the 100th year of the "Y" in America as well as the 85th year of the Y.M.C.A. in Kingston. The Anniversary Committee headed by A. L. Harder met prior to the Board of Directors meeting to outline special events for 1951. The group shown left to right: A. L. Harder, chairman of the committee; Elmer Rylance, member of the committee; Clarence S. Rowland, president of the Y.M.C.A., and Burt Tandy, general secretary. The group is shown on either side of the picture of Sir George Williams, founder of the first Y.M.C.A. in London, England.

Guardian of Boy Seeks to Recover Damages in Court

An action to recover damages for injuries suffered by Joseph Touhey, 9, of New Paltz was taken up for trial in Supreme Court this morning. The action is brought by his guardian, Edith Touhey Crose, his mother against Reinhold Bock of Rosendale and the Wallkill Valley Motor Service, Inc., operator of the school bus from which the lad had alighted.

Young Touhey, with several other children, had gotten out of the school bus on Route 32 near his home on February 27, 1950, when he was reported struck by the Bock car which was following the school bus.

Plaintiff brings the action against the bus company on the grounds the driver of the bus discharged the children from the bus and then, allegedly without looking, motioned the children across the road.

Bock contends he was unable to bring his car to a stop back of the bus when his brakes failed to work because of ice.

Abraham Streifer appears for plaintiff and Hugh Elwyn appears for the bus company and David W. Corwin for the defendant, Bock.

Mrs. Mary Ruths, with whom the boy resided, testified she saw the accident from her window. He suffered scalp injuries, bruises and contusions and other injuries which she said kept him from school two weeks.

Jurors not on the case were excused by Judge John M. Cashin until Tuesday at 10 a. m.

Announced as settled was No. 30, William Cohen against Henry I. Carmen, an action for property damage. Arthur E. Ames for plaintiff and Turner & Murphy for defendant.

Also settled was No. 54, Alexander Nunes against Martin Anderson, contract. John L. Larkin for plaintiff and Paul M. Ascuitto for defendant.

Susan Cannon Injured

Susan Cannon, 25, of 48 High street, Newburgh, was treated at Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie for a lacerated lip and bruises received when the automobile in which she was riding struck the rock bank at the Highland end of the Mid-Hudson bridge about 8 p. m. Saturday, state police reported. The automobile was driven by Chris Petroff, 24, of Round Hill Farm, Monroe, who said he was forced to swing far to the left to avoid colliding with an unknown vehicle, troopers said.

H. E. Howard Hurt

Harry E. Howard, of 202 Smith avenue, suffered cuts on the head and left ear in a traffic mishap on Smith avenue near Ardsley street Saturday. The police report at 11:09 p. m., said Howard was crossing from Ardsley street when he was struck by a car operated by Leo Reynolds, of 29 Meadow street, which was headed north on Smith avenue. Howard was taken to Kingston Hospital in a W. N. Conner ambulance. His condition was reported as "good" today.

Officials Probe Series of Thefts In Summer Homes

A series of reported burglaries at summer homes in the county are being investigated by the sheriff's office.

County Investigator Leonard Belmore revealed today that two sinks and two toilet bowls were taken from the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mutolese in the town of Esopus near the village of Eddyville.

The exact time that the unoccupied home was entered is unknown, he said, but may have been anytime in the past four weeks.

It was also revealed today that discovery of a cache of articles reported stolen was made on March 25 behind a summer home in Mettacahonts. The articles included 15 bottled gas tanks, some of them filled or partly filled; 32 concrete blocks; a large hoist from a tow truck. Investigation by Deputy Sheriff DeWitt Barley and Belmore disclosed the articles had been taken from a wide area, including Port Jervis, Highland, Ellenville, Moutaindale and Accord. All the items have been returned to their owners. News of the discovery of the cache was withheld in the hope that the persons responsible would return to it, where they could be apprehended. However, no trace of the alleged burglars has been reported.

Hydrant, Light Damaged

A hydrant at Broadway and Van Deusen streets, and a light on the safety zone in the area of Grand, Prince, and Dederick streets, were reported damaged Sunday. The hydrant was hit by a trailer truck operated by Joseph Steggall, Cedar Rapids, Ia., and the safety zone by a car bearing a Poughkeepsie license number, the report said. The hydrant was bent but did not spring a leak.

Probe Rape Cases

State police of the Highland station are investigating a possible double case of rape. Two girls, both under the age of 16, reported to troopers last night that they were accosted by two men in the village of Highland. They were unable to furnish the names or an adequate description of the men, troopers said. The report has been referred to the state police bureau of criminal investigation.

Hotel Clinic Called Successful by 150 Resort Operators

The New York State Hotel Association's first Resort Hotel Clinic, held at Kingston on Saturday, has been termed an outstanding success by the 150 resort operators who attended the one day session.

Resorts from every area of the state were represented at the clinic. Experts in several fields were brought here by the association to discuss the effects of the present national emergency to the hotel resort business.

John F. Kinerk, executive secretary of the association, predicted a good volume of business this season, but with shorter stays and a resulting need for more intensive promotion and advertising efforts by all resorts.

Must Know Costs

Emphasis was placed on the contention that resort operators must consider their business methods in the same light as an automobile manufacturer. They must be positive that they know "to a penny" the cost of their operations, several speakers stressed.

M. O. Ryan, chief of the American Hotel Association's Washington office, delivered the main address following a luncheon Saturday noon. He explained the problems which confront industry today in "a confusing national and international picture" in which government and industry are attempting to establish workable procedures for dealing with many perplexing situations.

He was emphatic in pointing out that today any industry can find the representation and guidance it needs on state and national levels only through a well organized and efficient trade association.

Joseph Horan, New York Department of Commerce, was also a speaker at the luncheon and told the resort operators of the role his organization is playing in bringing tourist travel to the state.

Accountants Speak

Two of the nation's outstanding accounting authorities in the field of hotel operation appeared on the clinic program and stressed the importance of realistic accounting and cost analysis. Allan George, of Harris Kerr Foster and Company, and Louis Toth of Horwath and Horwath, both of New York city, gave outstanding presentations on the subjects of rate trends and food costs.

Harry A. Mason, wage analyst for the association outlined a comparative wage analysis which he had prepared based on figures obtained from a cross-section of resort operators. William J. Hodges of Severance Lodge, Lovell, Maine, told hotelmen about a comparative operating costs analysis Maine resorts had conducted.

Speaking for the State Travel Council, James J. Gilday, president, and Edward M. Huben, vice president, explained the important task assigned to their organization and the tremendous amount of travel and business the council is influencing toward New York resorts and hotels.

Problems in their respective fields were outlined by Charles W. Merritt, of Lord, Day and Lord, legal counsel for the association, and John J. McCarthy, fire prevention consultant for the industry in New York. McCarthy was formerly connected with the New York City Fire Department.

Although the meeting began at 9:30 a. m. Saturday, interest remained so great throughout the day that a night round-table was held which continued until 11:30 p. m.

Averill Speaks

In bringing the clinic to a close, Association President Walter Averill of Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, issued the following statement:

"This is the first clinic of its kind to be held by our association and as a matter of fact it is the first of its kind to be held anywhere.

"Your attendance and your high interest in the program has insured its success. I want to take this opportunity to thank our outstanding panel of speakers for their genuine contributions here today.

"In closing, I am frank to tell you that without the fine cooperation of 'Chick' Gross, of the Governor Clinton, we could not have held such a successful event. The American Hotels Corporation, the Governor Clinton and the good citizens of Kingston, are all fortunate indeed to have this able hotelman at their disposal."

Prior to the actual start of the clinic, about 75 hotelmen arrived Friday afternoon for a banquet and reception that evening. Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk spoke briefly at the banquet. Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, was seated at the head table.

Entertainment was provided by students of the Helen Cashin School of Dancing. Dinner music was played by Mrs. H. Van Wyck Darrow.

The walnut and cherry are two trees exploited both for their produce and their wood.

Hoover Blames

hotels, but all they do is play basketball at night. It is a hypocrisy and a sham."

Hoover said college students are perpetrating entirely too many crimes of violent character.

"In the name of victory they will go out and consumate very atrocious crimes," he said. "Certain fraternity initiations are sadistic. These activities are the result of lack of control at the college level."

Again Hoover said the blame can't be put entirely on the young men involved.

"The blame must be shared by the universities which have commercialized athletics in order to get money to enlarge their college facilities," he said. "Athletics in a university have a very necessary and desirable place, but they should not be stressed to the point where it takes precedence over everything else."

The F.B.I. director blamed high crime rates among youth largely on "a breakdown in the influence of the home."

Taking New York city as an example, Hoover said there are "open gun and knife battles in the public parks of New York city today."

"Rape, murder and felonious assaults are committed," he said. "These crimes are repeated, to some extent, in many of the other large cities of the country today.

"The situation in New York is very bad in regard to crimes," he continued. "I cite New York as merely an example. The same is true in Los Angeles and other cities."

Hoover said he meant gangs of boys and girls, 17 and 18 years old.

"In certain cities they run like a pack of animals, descending upon unsuspecting citizens, viciously assaulting them and placing their lives in jeopardy," he said. "Sometimes there is no robbery involved — it is just a sadistic assault."

Cave Says Unknown Truck Damaged Car

James W. Cave, Jr., 39, of Joys Lane, reported to the sheriff's office at 3:10 a. m. Sunday that his automobile was sideswiped by an unknown truck on Route 28 near the intersection of 28A at Stony Hollow.

Cave said he was driving west when a truck with a stake body coming in the opposite direction damaged the left side of his automobile, breaking the left section of the windshield and the window in the left front door. The truck continued without stopping, he said. No personal injuries were reported.

The sheriff's office is also investigating another hit-run report. Clarence S. Thorne of Clintondale reported that on Wednesday night an unknown vehicle failed to negotiate a curve on Route 44-45 and smashed the front end of his garage. County Investigator Leonard Belmore has been assigned to both cases. Deputy Sheriff William Churchill made the preliminary investigation on the Cave accident report.

A man can spade an acre of land in about 15 days.

Hotel Clinic Called Successful by 150 Resort Operators

The New York State Hotel Association's first Resort Hotel Clinic, held at Kingston on Saturday, has been termed an outstanding success by the 150 resort operators who attended the one day session.

Resorts from every area of the state were represented at the clinic. Experts in several fields were brought here by the association to discuss the effects of the present national emergency to the hotel resort business.

John F. Kinerk, executive secretary of the association, predicted a good volume of business this season, but with shorter stays and a resulting need for more intensive promotion and advertising efforts by all resorts.

Again Hoover said the blame can't be put entirely on the young men involved.

"The blame must be shared by the universities which have commercialized athletics in order to get money to enlarge their college facilities," he said. "Athletics in a university have a very necessary and desirable place, but they should not be stressed to the point where it takes precedence over everything else."

The F.B.I. director blamed high crime rates among youth largely on "a breakdown in the influence of the home."

Taking New York city as an example, Hoover said there are "open gun and knife battles in the public parks of New York city today."

"Rape, murder and felonious assaults are committed," he said. "These crimes are repeated, to some extent, in many of the other large cities of the country today.

"The situation in New York is very bad in regard to crimes," he continued. "I cite New York as merely an example. The same is true in Los Angeles and other cities."

Hoover said he meant gangs of boys and girls, 17 and 18 years old.

"In certain cities they run like a pack of animals, descending upon unsuspecting citizens, viciously assaulting them and placing their lives in jeopardy," he said. "Sometimes there is no robbery involved — it is just a sadistic assault."

Cave Says Unknown Truck Damaged Car

James W. Cave, Jr., 39, of Joys Lane, reported to the sheriff's office at 3:10 a. m. Sunday that his automobile was sideswiped by an unknown truck on Route 28 near the intersection of 28A at Stony Hollow.

Cave said he was driving west when a truck with a stake body coming in the opposite direction damaged the left side of his automobile, breaking the left section of the windshield and the window in the left front door. The truck continued without stopping, he said. No personal injuries were reported.

The sheriff's office is also investigating another hit-run report. Clarence S. Thorne of Clintondale reported that on Wednesday night an unknown vehicle failed to negotiate a curve on Route 44-45 and smashed the front end of his garage. County Investigator Leonard Belmore has been assigned to both cases. Deputy Sheriff William Churchill made the preliminary investigation on the Cave accident report.

A man can spade an acre of land in about 15 days.

Pittsburgh PLATE GLASS DOOR MIRROR!

Really Full-length!

● Every member of the family—dad as well as mother and the children—will find that a Pittsburgh Plate Glass door mirror makes it easy to be well-groomed. But to be really satisfactory the mirror should be full-length—at least 5½ feet tall. An ordinary mirror reflects only a portion of the figure at a distance of three feet.

These mirrors are useful, convenient, decorative—for bedroom, bath or entrance hall. Made from genuine polished Plate Glass, a Pittsburgh mirror gives you not only true reflection but adds to the beauty of any door.

Surprisingly easy to install!

● Pittsburgh Plate Glass Door Mirrors are easy to install. Simply measure the distance from edge to edge of the door itself as shown in the diagram at the left. This over-all width determines which of the five door mirror sizes, listed above, will cover the recessed door panel. Instruction sheet for installation is included with each mirror. A screw driver and a few minutes' time are all you need.
